BALK NEW TAXES FOR RELIEF

ROOSEVELT MAY ASK NEW TAXES TO PAY PRIMING

Experts Ordered to Study Sources.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., June 28.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today revealed that he is studying ways of boosting taxes to pay for his 5½ billion pump priming program.

The President disclosed that he has ordered experts to consider means of paying for the huge spending and lending program which is to get under way at the beginning of the next fiscal year on July 1.

Mr. Roosevelt made his disclosure at a press conference, at which he outlined his spending for recovery philosophy. He pointed to Sweden as the home of the public works plan of affording jobs to the idle.

Sweden Pays Own Way.

Sweden, he said, was fortunate enough to lay money aside in years of prosperity for rainy days of depression. Through the reserve fund Sweden was able to pay her way where the United States is operating on borrowed dollars.

Nothing definite in the way of tax increases was given by the President. His manner indicated that he may have something to offer the new session of congress in the way of a tax hiking program to pay for his administration's spending.

All federal spending agencies have received instructions to launch the big spending push July 1, Mr. Roosevelt said. Funds will pour out through the Works Progress administration, the Public Works administration, the Civilian Conservation corps and the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Reiterates Work Relief Theory.

Mr. Roosevelt reiterated his preference for a work for wages method of caring for the needy unemployed as against an outright dole.

He said that as yet no one has devised the perfect method for meeting periods of depressions. The world as a whole has taken to armament building as a means of taking up the slack in employment, but armament building has no permanent value in that it does not make capital goods, he said.

He defended his naval expansion program, telling reporters that it is actually not as large as it seems in relation to the arms spending of other countries. Some nations pay as high as 50 per cent of their national income for armaments, he said, whereas the expansion program which he recommended to congress will take only 15 or 16 per cent of the national income, an increase of only 3 or 4 per cent over the outlay for armaments in recent years.

Speculates on Cause.

Many causes have been advanced for the depression, Mr. Roosevelt continued. Some blame it on technocracy, the making of twice as many goods through the machine, he said, while others blame natural economics, the aftermath of the world war, and other causes. Possibly all have something to do with widespread unemployment, he added.

What is of more concern than the causes are the remedies, Mr. Roosevelt continued, and no one has yet found the full answer. However, public works is as good an answer as has yet been developed, he insisted.

In the United States from October to April unemployment increased so rapidly that funds to take care of the able bodied out of work were entirely inadequate, and for that reason the present pump priming program was evolved, he declared.

Hails Wage and Hour Law.

The President hailed the new wage and hour act as a valuable aid in the drive against the depression. He acclaimed it as the greatest piece of legislation of his administration next to the social security act.

Before he leaves on his western political swing for favored congressional candidates, Mr. Roosevelt said he hopes to name the administrator who will have charge of the law which places a ceiling over hours and a floor under wages. He has sixty days in which to act before the law comes into force.

During the day Mr. Roosevelt signed 22 more bills and vetoed one. The measure killed by a pocket veto authorized construction of a bridge at Cassville, Wis., and Guttenberg, Ia. Signed bills included one which authorizes Wisconsin and Minnesota to construct a toll bridge at Winona, Minn.

TAXES HALVED ON TWO BILLIONS OF PERSONALTY

Intangibles to Pay 6% of Income.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Taxes on $2,200,000,000 in stocks, bonds, bank deposits, and other intangible property owned in Cook county will be cut in half this year under new assessment rules announced yesterday by Assessor John Clark.

Assessor John Clark.

Tax bills for 1938 on securities and other intangibles will be about 6 per cent of their income yield. The 1937 bills, now in collection, take slightly more than 12 per cent of income.

The new rules were prepared by an advisory committee which had been studying the problem of intangible assessments for more than a month. It was indicated by the committee's report that its acceptance by Assessor Clark clears the way for his continued use of federal income tax returns in locating intangible property for assessment.

Governor Gets U. S. Returns.

Gov. Horner has to obtain the federal returns, which are made available to the assessor through the state tax commission. Assessor Clark asked him to get the 1936 returns some months ago. Recently the governor informed him that he would not ask federal officials for them unless it was so recommended by the advisory committee. In its report the committee stated:

"The county assessor should have access to the federal income tax returns as far as such returns may be required for assessment purposes."

The valuation cuts will apply to only about one-quarter of the total personal property roll appraised by the assessor. Contrary to general opinion, machinery and stock of merchandise, with other tangible property, bulk much larger on the personalty roll than do intangibles.

Expects Negligible Tax Loss.

The intangible items to which the 50 per cent reduction will apply totaled $163,830,215, representing about $2,200,000,000 actual value. On the 1937 basis the assessment reductions would involve a loss of about $7,350,000 in tax revenue, most of which, due to pegged levies, would be shifted by an increased tax rate to other types of personal property and to real estate.

Assessor Clark said in announcing the new rules, however, that he expects the lower appraisal rates will result in increased coöperation by taxpayers in filing schedules, and will prevent any personal property fleeing the county to escape taxation, with the result that the net loss in taxes will be negligible.

Under the new rules the full value for tax purposes of stocks, bonds, mortgages, notes, and other securities will be either 10 per cent of the market value, or twice the annual income, whichever is lower. Securities yielding no income will be appraised at 4 per cent of market value. These and all other full values will be reduced to 37 per cent by application of the Cook county equalization factor.

How Rule Will Apply.

Under this rule the owner of $10,000 4 per cent bonds would schedule them at twice the income, $800 full value, or $296 assessed value. His tax, at the 1937 rate of $8.73 in Chicago, would be $25.85, or 6.45 per cent of income.

Net credits [merchants' accounts receivable] are to be scheduled at 10 per cent of face value. Last year they were scheduled at 20 per cent.

Cash and bank deposits are to be scheduled at 10 per cent, or at twice the annual interest yield, whichever is lowest. Interest, however, is to be regarded as not less than 2 per cent in any instance, making minimum assessments on the basis of interest 4 per cent of the deposits.

The owner of a $6,000 savings account yielding 1½ per cent interest would pay the least tax by scheduling at the 4 per cent rate, a full value of $240, and an assessed value of $88.80, on which his tax at the 1937 rate would be $7.78, or 8.65 per cent of in-

DAVID DID IT ONCE

Woe to Oboe Players; They Push Up the A

When the Piano Tuners' association of Illinois assembled in convention at the Hotel Sherman yesterday its members thought of oboe players with kindly tolerance when they thought of them at all. But at the end of the day's session it would have gone hard with any oboist who might have fallen into their hands.

The oboist, as concertgoers will have noticed, is the one who sounds an A for the assembled orchestra to tune to. The oboe is a black, stick-like instrument that comes in joints like a clarinet. Its pitch can be sharpened or flattened by shortening or lengthening the oboe by sliding the joints in or out. And here, in the words of Dr. William Braid White of Chicago, consulting engineer in acoustics, is why the piano tuners suddenly turned oboe haters.

They Push Up the A.

"I don't like to make unfounded accusations," said Dr. White, "but I think I can prove that the oboists have a detestable habit of pushing up the A. It gives their playing glitter and brilliance to make the pitch a tiny bit sharp.

"The orchestra conductor himself is, all too often, likely to yield to the desire for glitter by pushing the entire orchestra higher. We should go on record as opposed to this. It's dangerous. It should be watched.

"It is unfair to the steel wires in our pianos. In 1925 piano makers agreed on 440 vibrations per second for the note A. Since that time some orchestras—often motivated by an oboist—have pushed A up to 442 and 445 vibrations per second.

"At 440 vibrations the wires exert a stress of eighteen tons on the structure of the piano. If they keep going up the strings will not take the pressure and singers will not be able to reach such notes. And the sad part of it is that many pianists are demanding that their instruments be pitched to a higher key so they will not be out of tune."

It's Sad and Grim Crowd.

It was a grim faced crowd when Dr. White finished. Some of the tuners recalled sadly that the A of 300 years ago was three half tones lower than at present. As a matter of fact, it was somewhere near our present F sharp.

"Down through the centuries there has been this vicious tendency on the part of instrumentalists," Dr. White added. "Each time it started it had to be curbed to save our pianos."

The tuners nodded. And there was a cold light in their eyes that boded no good for these newer and most vicious pushers up of A—the oboe players.

A BULLDOG LEARNS THE LAW ALSO HAS SOME TEETH IN IT

"There's a law against this sort of thing, you know." John McLaughlin told the bull terrier that bit him at 25th street and Marshall boulevard yesterday.

And instead of biting the bull terrier back, or kicking it, McLaughlin seized it and carried it struggling to the state's attorney's office, where he asked Sergt. Edward Foley in to see that the dog got whatever punishment the law provided.

McLaughlin then went to the health department for anti-rabies treatment. From there he went home to 5710 South Sangamon street. The state's attorney's office turned the dog over to the Lawndale police, who killed it.

BENNY IS ALL BULL, AND THE YARD IS WIDE

When a bull named Benny and six cows broke out of Peter Berdux's lot at 1025 South Milwaukee avenue, Libertyville, yesterday, one of the first to hear about it was the village chief of police, Frank Druba. He hurried to the scene in his automobile; following in a small truck was William Laycock of the Libertyville water department.

By the time they had arrived Benny and his harem had trampled half a dozen lawns and several flower beds. The bull was just finishing a bunch of delphiniums.

Leaping from his car, the chief ran at Benny, waving his arms and shouting "shoo" and "nice bossy." That wasn't so good. The chief looked like a toreador to Benny. He hoisted his tail and lowered his head and charged.

Nimbly the chief took refuge in his car. The bull and his harem wandered a mile south before Chief Druba enlisted a couple of farmhands who lassoed Benny and drove him and the cows back home.

Blaze Starts Near Site of Mrs. O'Leary's Barn

Fire started late yesterday in a three story brick building at Desplaines and Taylor streets, barely a block from where the great fire of 1871 began in the O'Leary barn on De Koven street. No one was in the building, which is used as a storage warehouse for rags and paper. Firemen quickly brought the flames under control.

The park district's sixteen beaches and the county's four swimming pools will be opened Friday, officials said yesterday. The city beaches were opened to the public under lifeguard protection a week ago.

Bill to Head Off Sex Crimes Up to Gov. Horner

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney's bill providing for commitment of sex violators to state prisons for the insane completed its passage through both houses of the general assembly today. Gov. Henry Horner is expected to sign the bill in time for it to become a law July 1.

Under the bill persons arrested on any criminal charge or on a quasi-criminal charge of disorderly conduct may be tried before a jury if the state's attorney believes them to be sexual psychopaths.

Fate Up to Psychiatrists.

The defendant will be examined by two qualified psychiatrists. If the jury decides, upon this expert testimony, that the defendant is a potential sex criminal, he shall be confined in the psychiatric division of the Menard State penitentiary or in the Illinois Security hospital at Chester.

Such prisoners are to be tried on the charge for which they were arrested only after they are found to have recovered from their mental disease. This provision brought opposition from the house minority leader, Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago.

Loophole Is Charged.

"Senate amendments do not alter the fact that the bill offers a chance for sex criminals to escape more severe punishment by being sent to an institution," Schnackenberg said. "Within a few years we will see some sensational cases in which sex murderers escape the electric chair under this bill."

The majority floor leader, Benjamin Adamowski of Chicago, replied that state's attorneys naturally will try sex slayers for murder, and not under the new measure, which passed 83 to 25 as amended by the senate.

The senate passed a companion bill to give the Chicago Municipal court jurisdiction over cases under the Courtney bill. The house is expected to concur.

New Orleans, La., June 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Joachim Rogers, 35 years old, of Lockport, La., became a mother for the tenth time today and a grandmother for the first time all within an hour and a half. Mrs. Rogers was pacing the corridors of a maternity ward waiting the arrival of a 7 pound girl to her daughter, Mrs. Gustav Lasseigne, 18 years old, when it became necesary to hurry the elder woman into the delivery room to give birth to a 9 pound girl.

500 Farmers Oust Union in Creamery Row

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Richland Center, Wis., June 28.—[Special.]—Five hundred farmers moved on the Richland Coöperative creamery today, ousted seven union employés of a teamsters' union, and forced from the remaining employés signed statements that they would not join a labor organization.

The farmers, most of whom supply milk to the creamery, then established a picket line before the plant, determined to keep out all union members and organizers.

The demonstration was the climax of five months' resistance by the coöperative's directors, members, and patrons against the organization of the plant by the American Federation of Labor teamsters' union. At the insistence of the national labor relations board, the creamery had just agreed to accept the union as a bargaining agent and not to oppose recognition further. N. S. Clark, Milwaukee regional director of the labor board, had agreed to withdraw charges of unfair labor practices against the company.

Drop Compromise Efforts.

Clark, in Milwaukee, said today that all offers toward a compromise with the creamery have been withdrawn. The farmers who took part in today's demonstration have outlawed themselves, he said, and declared he would ask the Washington office of the labor board to prosecute them.

"The United States government is not going to be buffaloed by a bunch of farmers with pitchforks," Clark declared. "Section 12 of the national labor law provides a fine of not more than $5,000 or a year in jail, or both, for interference with the board activities."

When it was suggested to Clark that the day's activities were not those of officers or directors of the coöperative, but of nonmember farmers, he replied: "They're not kidding us down there. We know what we know and we know who's doing it."

Most of the directors were spectators, but took no active part. Twenty sheriff's deputies and police officials were present as the farmers assembled about the plant.

Speaks from Milk Truck.

Edward Murphy, Lime Ridge, climbed on a milk truck and addressed the group.

"Do you want the creamery unionized?" he shouted.

"No," came back the answer.

"Do you want union labor out?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Will you picket the plant and keep them out?"

"Yes."

A committee of patrons called the seven union members out and asked them to sign an agreement saying: "I hereby resign my job at the Richland Coöperative Creamery at the request of the patrons."

The five who signed and the two who did not then were paid off and the picket line formed.

Circulation of a second statement then began among the employés who continued at work. It said: "I hereby agree not to join any organiza-

SENATE JUNKS BILLS TO ROUND OUT SALES LEVY

Action Perils Rest of 'Harmony' Program.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—The bottom dropped out of the Democratic harmony agreement late tonight when the senate, after a day of parliamentary tangles, adjourned without acting upon the use and producers' taxes.

John Stelle.

For all practical purposes, the use and producers' levies are dead. These taxes were insisted upon by Gov. Henry Horner to provide revenue to cover a $2,800,000 relief appropriation from the state treasury. The governor was joined today by Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago in attempting to secure their approval.

This shelving of the proposed new levies raises the question of what the governor will do with the relief appropriation bill, which the senate is almost certain to pass, for it leaves him without the revenue which he declares the treasury needs to meet the outgo.

Housing Bills Hinge on Time.

Some chance remains that tomorrow the bills to exempt federal housing projects from taxes will be amended and considered for passage. But the success of this move is clouded with doubt, for in that event the house would have to remain in session through Friday in order to pass them. Thursday midnight has been set as the hour for both special sessions to adjourn.

The remainder of the harmony program, which originated in the house, seems in a position to go through. It includes the relief appropriation, power for Chicago to divert $2,500,000 of its gasoline tax allotment for relief, and the driver's license bill.

On the latter important measure a roll call is expected tomorrow. Its outcome is believed to be dependent upon whether the governor will oppose its passage as retaliation for the senate dumping of his tax program. Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes gets the bulk of the $400,000 drivers' license appropriation as the bill now stands.

Scrambled Senate Session.

Today's senate session was as mad as any in recent years, as the upper body wrestled with itself time and again trying to undo what it had done earlier in the day. It was attempting to reconvene the first special session and consider the use and producers' taxes, after having adjourned that session with those bills pigeon-holed in the revenue committee.

The senate mixup began when the two new tax levies, which are supplementary to the three cent sales tax, were called in the senate after passage last night by the house. Lieut. Gov. John Stelle promptly referred them to the revenue committee, pointing to what he called the flush condition of the state treasury and declaring them unnecessary burdens on the taxpayers. The chairman of that committee is James O. Monroe [D., Collinsville], also unfriendly to the bills.

Horner and Kelly Confer.

Shortly thereafter Mayor Kelly went into conference with Gov. Horner on the program, and, while the two were talking, Monroe moved to adjourn the first special session until tomorrow morning. Inasmuch as the levies would have to be advanced today in the first special session in order to be passed by Thursday midnight, this meant that the bills were dead.

Previously the Horner floor leader, Senator Robert M. Harper [D., East Moline] tried to take the bills from the committee but had failed.

When word of the parliamentary maneuver reached the governor's office, pleas were sent to the senate to find some way of undoing what it had done. The pleas were accompanied by rather hazy reports that a compromise was being discussed under which both bills would be amended and passed.

So the senate puzzled unsuccessfully over the tangle it had created. For almost an hour debate swirled about the head of Lieut. Gov. Stelle, who showed a disposition to permit a reconsideration, although still hostile to the levies.

Searcy Raises Protest.

Most of the Republicans under their chief, Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, contended there was no possible way under the rules for the senate to go back into the first session, since it already had adjourned. Supporting them was Senator Monroe.

Since no way could be found, Mr. Stelle adjourned the second special session, in which the senate then was convened, until evening. At that meeting another attempt at consideration was made, which the lieuetnant governor prefaced by reading an opinion from Attorney E. J. [Tommy the Cork] Coyle.

Apparently finding nothing in Roberts' rules of order, Mr. Coyle went to Bouvier's law dictionary and concluded, from his researches, that when a legislative body convenes it may sit at will of its majority until the day it finally concludes.

So the roll was called on reconsideration of the adjournment motion, which called for 26 votes. Only 24 were cast in its favor. Once again the senate recessed until a later hour, and a third attempt was to be made.

This attempt also failed, and by the same vote, so the senate gave up and quit for the day.

Quick Decision in House.

No such lengthy consideration accompanied the house's consideration of the same matter. At the close of its regular session the house was adjourned until tomorrow morning. About five minutes later, after many members had walked out, Representative Thomas A. Bolger [D., McHenry] moved to reconsider adjournment so that the house might take up senate bills tonight.

Minority Leader Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago] objected, contending that no vote could be taken on any matter until tomorrow, but Speaker Louie E. Lewis casually said, "Be back at 8 p. m. tonight," and added that members who had left would be so notified. Then he left the rostrum.

The house adjourned a perfunctory night session until tomorrow morning as soon as it was found that the senate had not sent over the housing bills.

REPUBLICAN VOTE HALTS TINKERING ON CONSTITUTION

Bill Assailed as Betrayal of People's Rights.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner's plan to change the state constitution was smashed today by Republican opposition in the house of representatives. A resolution to submit the proposal to the public in November fell 16 short of the required 102 votes.

Defeat of the resolution was due partly to features of companion bills which Republican leaders asserted would introduce Hitler tactics into the referendum. Instead of being on a separate ballot, as in the past, the proposition would have been on the main ballot of the party adopting it, so that a straight ticket vote would be counted in favor of a constitutional convention.

One Democrat Votes "No."

These bills, described as an attempt to "sneak in through the back door what voters have thrown out the front door," will be dropped, according to their sponsors, F. W. Lewis [D., Robinson] and Joseph H. Davis [D., Murphysboro].

The bills are on second reading. One Democrat, Arthur J. Quinn of Chicago, stood with the Republicans, the roll call ending 86 to 41 for the resolution.

The virtually solid front exhibited by the Democrats was due mainly to the fact that the governor's plan was part of the harmony program worked out by a Democratic house caucus last week.

Doomed in Senate, Too.

Observers believed the resolution would have been beaten in the senate had it gone before the upper body.

The present Illinois constitution was compared with an ox cart by Joseph Sam Perry [D., Wheaton]. This brought angry retorts from Republicans.

The present constitution has been in effect sixty-eight years. Popular vote in 1934 on a proposal to change the basic law showed only 23.5 per cent in favor.

FURNACE CHOKES ON REV. YARROW'S HOT MAGAZINES

The Rev. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, went to the Central police building yesterday to assist in the burning of 50,000 magazines which had been impounded as indecent.

As he looked at the vast pile of paper his indignation rose. "The gullible public," he said, "donates $45,000,000 a year for such tripe." Then, with enthusiasm, he began shoveling the books into the furnace with enthusiasm.

So many were crowded in that the fire was smothered. A janitor who was called to help got the blaze going again and advised against overfiring. After that the Rev. Mr. Yarrow worked so slowly that he only got 25,000 magazines burned and will have to finish the job today.

ASTOR IN-LAW IS DOWN TO $15; SEEKS RELIEF

Newport, R. I., June 28.—(AP)—Francis C. French, father of Mrs. John Jacob Astor III., applied for relief in Middleton Saturday, it was learned today.

French, whose financial and marital difficulties and desire to expose the foibles of society have kept his wealthy kin in a dither for years, steadfastly has refused to accept financial assistance from the latter. He once said he would never take any assistance from his children, even though he considered Jack Astor a fine lad.

In the rented flat which he and his wife occupy on Paradise road in Middleton, French said today that he had applied for relief for the simple reason that he was down to his last $15. In an earlier struggle with hard times, French drove a taxicab around the streets of New York after a stock market slump wiped out his fortune in 1921.

Temblor Jars Mexico

An earthquake shook southern Mexico as far north as Mexico City, the capital, yesterday. The area of the disturbance is indicated in black on the map.

MEXICO CITY, June 28.—(AP)—Mexico City was rocked by a heavy earthquake today at approximately 1:25 p. m. [2:25 p. m. Chicago daylight time]. Officials of the Mexico City seismographic observatory said the epicenter probably was 125 miles south of the capital in Guerrero state. Houses tumbled down and other damage was caused in Iguala, a town of Guerrero.

Scientists said the disturbance might have been connected with torrential rains which have fallen recently in Oaxaca and Guerrero, contiguous states on the Pacific coast. It was considered possible that water pouring into crevices and washing away large sections had caused an earth slip, possibly along a geologic faultline.

[A geologic fault is a dislocation caused by a slipping of rock masses.]

Communications department officials reported telephone and telegraph lines intact.

The advisory committee also recommended new rules for assessment of the capital stock of mercantile, manufacturing, publishing, printing, mining, and stock breeding companies, which are made by the local assesssor. The rules brought procedure into line with assessments on other intangibles, but the assessments produced will not vary greatly from those for 1937, Assessor Clark said.

Members of the advisory committee are Homer J. Buckley, director of the Illinois Manufacturers' association; George O. Fairweather, assistant treasurer of the University of Chicago; J. L. THREATEN FARE BOOST AS REPLY TO CITY DEMAND

Surface Lines Tell Judge They Can't Pay.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Attorneys for the Chicago Surface Lines indicated at a court hearing yesterday that they would oppose a move by the city to force the street car system to pay compensation under a new temporary franchise proposed by the city council.

The traction attorneys asserted that the system does not have sufficient earnings to pay compensation, and made it plain that if the city succeeds in enforcing payments, a demand would be made for an increase in the present 7 cent fare.

The hearing, held before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, was for the purpose of permitting the city to submit its plans for a temporary franchise when the existing day to day extensions of the old 1907 ordinances of the street car companies expire on July 15.

City Asks 3 Per Cent of Revenue.

William H. Sexton, special traction counsel for the city, told Judge Wilkerson that it appears to be the intention of the city council to grant no further extensions of the old ordinances which expired in 1927. Instead, he said, it is proposed that a ninety day franchise, requiring the surface lines to pay not less than 3 per cent of gross revenues [approximately $1,500,000 a year] as compensation for the use of city streets.

Under the 1907 ordinances the surface lines were required to pay the city 55 per cent of their net earnings in excess of 5 per cent of their book value. Although the street car system paid $47,500,000 into the city traction fund under this provision, no payments have been made since 1931 because of reduced earnings.

The city council's local transportation committee, Sexton informed the court, adopted resolutions asserting that no increase in fare should be necessary to permit the payment of compensation.

Deny Fair Return Is Earned.

This statement drew immediate fire from surface lines attorneys, who contended that the companies are not earning a fair return on the properties and that the payment of city compensation on the present fare would be confiscatory.

A prolonged squabble between Sexton and company attorneys over the compensation matter was interrupted briefly while the city attorney presented Senator James Hamilton Lewis [D., Ill.] to the court with the announcement that the senator had been retained by the city as associate traction counsel.

Senator Lewis was not as confident as Mayor Kelly that a Public Works administration grant for three downtown subways is a sure thing. He said that other cities, including New York, Cleveland, San Francisco, and Washington, also are endeavoring to get subway grants and that Chicago may not be able to get all it is seeking. He intimated also that federal departments may insist on transit unification in Chicago as a condition of a grant.

LIVES OF 3,780 SAVED BY SAFER DRIVING IN U. S.

Three thousand seven hundred and eighty lives have been saved in the United States during the last seven months by safer motoring, the National Safety council announced yesterday.

May was the seventh consecutive month in which the nation's motor toll fell below that of the corresponding month of the year before. Eight hundred and forty lives were saved in May.

Illinois tied with Indiana for tenth place among the states in reducing the death list in the first five months of 1938, with 26 per cent. There were 264 fewer deaths than in the corresponding period of 1937. Chicago stood second in the list of cities with 70 fewer motor deaths. Evanston was the nation's largest city without a trafic death.

Randall Nelson, 6, of 8916 South Ada street, died yesterday in Niles, Mich., from injuries received June 3 in an automobile accident near there in which his father, William, was killed.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 401 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 307 were killed in Chicago, where 8,888 were injured in the same period.

NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY COACH UPSETS; 8 HURT

Eight persons were injured late yesterday afternoon when a coach of a Niles Center suburban train was derailed and overturned as it left the North Western railroad's downtown station during the rush hour. A faulty switch was blamed for the accident, which occurred near Lake street, about two blocks north of the train shed.

It was near this spot that a similar accident occurred April 26, 1937, when a switch derailed a coach of the North Western's Niles Center train. The car in that accident was swung sidewise and crashed into the girder of a viaduct, tilting over to an angle of 45 degrees. Ten persons were injured.

Fourth Car Derailed.

Yesterday's accident came as the five car all-steel train was picking up speed after clearing the network of tracks leading out of the station. The locomotive and first three coaches passed over the switch in safety. The fourth car was derailed.

Three women and a man were sent to Passavant hospital after being examined at the dispensary in the North Western station. Four others received treatment at the dispensary and were sent to their homes.

Injured Are Listed.

The eight injured are:

Brock, Miss Elfreda, 46 years old, of 4165 Byron street, a bookkeeper; in Passavant hospital with injuries to head and shoulder.

Kunze, Jesse, 57 years old, 2833 North California avenue; injuries to eyes, neck, and shoulders.

AWAIT SON JIM'S EXPLANATION OF SUDDEN RICHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—Official Washington is wondering whether there will be any answer to an article in the current Saturday Evening Post describing James Roosevelt's rise—after his father was nominated for the presidency—as an insurance salesman. The article, written by Alva Johnston, gave estimates of young Roosevelt's income ranging between $250,000 and 2 million dollars a year.

Among the many large accounts credited to James, now the President's secretary at a salary of $10,000 a year, and one of his chief itinerant political representatives, is that of the National Distillers Products corporation. Johnston said this company wrote between 70 and 80 million dollars' worth of fire insurance with the Roosevelt firm. James also was the broker in a 2 million dollar life policy for George Washington Hill, president of the American Tobacco company.

Unethical, Father Once Said.

It was explained in the article that President Roosevelt, when governor of New York, expressed himself vigorously on the subject of the combination of politics and insurance.

"It is not illegal," Mr. Roosevelt was quoted as having said, "for a relative of a political leader to be in the insurance business. It is not illegal for a contractor to get his bonds through this relative. Yet the whole business is indefensibly unethical."

Last year when President Roosevelt denounced tax evaders and caused the income tax statements of many persons in the high income brackets to be made public, agitation was started for a look into Son Jimmy's income tax return, Johnston explained. The agitation became so insistent that the President's advisers decided it would be advisable to head off an investigation by showing the statement in confidence to a congressional committee.

Old Doctrin Abandoned.

But this did not satisfy public curiosity, according to Johnston, who contends that covering up his son's income was a direct violation of a previously enunciated Roosevelt declaration.

Johnston recalled that it was President Roosevelt, when he was governor of New York, who removed Sheriff Tom Farley of New York because Farley refused to explain the source of his enormous income.

"As a matter of general sound public policy," Mr. Roosevelt said at the time, "I am very certain that there is a requirement that where a public official is under inquiry or investigation, especially an elected official, and it appears that his scale of living or the total of his bank deposits far exceeds the public salary which he is known to receive, he, the elected public official, owes a positive duty to the community to give a reasonable or credible explanation of the sources of the deposits, or the source which enables him to maintain a scale of living beyond the amount of his salary."

Many Clients Vulnerable.

The Johnston article explains that many of the large corporations insured by the President's son were peculiarly vulnerable to governmental interference. James is described, for instance, as by far the largest whisky insurance man in the country, his start being obtained just prior to repeal. A hint about methods of getting the business in this line was given.

"Importers had to get permits from Washington to bring liquor into this country," wrote Johnston. "Word had spread among them that if they wanted to get permits they would be well advised to give their cargo insurance to Jimmy."

Mr. Johnston's article makes clear that this situation was later investigated by Joseph H. Choate, a Republican appointed for the task by President Roosevelt, and he came to the conclusion that James Roosevelt had not interfered with permit granting in any way. There has been no explanation about who spread the reports.

Ambassador Kennedy Insured.

Joseph P. Kennedy, now ambassador to Great Britain, was mentioned in the Post article as a big factor in the whisky field. Johnston wrote that Kennedy and James went together to London in 1933, where Kennedy signed up as American distributor for two famous brands of Scotch whisky and James obtained the cargo insurance. Kennedy incidentally brought in two huge shipments of whisky under medicinal permits and had it ready for the American thirst when prohibition was repealed.

Another big client of young Roosevelt, the article stated, was the Columbia Broadcasting system, which took out insurance on all its employés. Another was the Port of New York authority, a governmental institution representing the state of New York and New Jersey, whose new 7 million dollar terminal was said to have been insured with the Roosevelt firm.

Roper's Son Cut In.

Transcontinental and Western Airways, Inc., was another client mentioned. It depends on the mails for important revenues. Johnston said James got this and much of his other business away from old line firms. The TWA account was split with Fred Roper, son of Daniel C. Roper, who as secretary of commerce is in charge of regulating aeronautics.

Harry Sinclair, the oil man, was named as a heavy buyer of Roosevelt insurance. So were Armour & Co. [on its import business], Esquire and Coronet magazines, the West Indies Sugar corporation, and Hayden Stone & Co., an influential financial house.

Inquiry Costs A. T. & T. Millions.

Johnston said that radio, aviation, whisky, oil, sugar, and utilities are constantly in danger of government action, or, on the contrary, may receive favors.

He declared that the American Telephone and Telegraph company, which refused its insurance to Jimmy even though Hamilton Fish, a director and a Republican congressman from New York urged his case, was investigated at a cost to the company of 2 million dollars and then was told it should reduce long distance rates 25 per cent.

The show, held in the open courtyard of Jacques' restaurant, 900 North Michigan avenue, was noisy but democratic, with all variations accepted from Spottback, a strange pooch introduced as a ski mongrel to Miss Trilly of Ware, champion cocker of England.

Perhaps the most ill assorted pair of all were Johnny Bull and Fu Manchu, a white bull and a Pekingese owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hooper, who stalked in side by side, wearing harmonizing collars, regardless of strained relations in the orient.

CHARGE BY 5 & 10 HEIRESS MAY BE AIRED IN LONDON

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 28.—Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, tall, fair haired husband of the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, is seeking to speed up a hearing before a British court on charges leveled against him by his wife.

It was disclosed tonight in London that Norman Birkett, Haugwitz-Reventlow's counsel, has been instructed to make application to Magistrate Fry tomorrow or Thursday in Bow street court to fix a date for a hearing. The countess has alleged that her husband made threats against her.

Ready to Fly from Paris.

Despite the existence of a warant for his arrest when he reaches English soil the Danish count was said to be prepared to fly to London from Paris for the hearing.

An imposing array of legal talent has been retained by the countess and her husband. Beside Birkett, the count will be represented by Vernon Gattie. It is expected that Sir Patrick Hastings will handle the countess' case.

Reports from Copenhagen indicated the count is planning to visit the Danish capital shortly. The rift in the Haugwitz-Reventlow home was revealed last week when the countess took protective measures to insure the custody of her son, Lance.

Danish Ministry Specifies Court.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 28.—(AP)—The Danish ministry of justice has informed Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow's lawyer that the Copenhagen City court will handle her suit for separation from Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow when and if it is filed.

The ministry made the statement, it was disclosed today, to answer what was described as a purely theoretical question asked by the heiress' lawyer to find out whether such a case could be handled by a Danish court and, if so, which one.

STUDENT KILLED IN 150 FOOT FALL OUT OF A GLIDER

David Hosken, 17 years old, a student in the Zion Preparatory college, was killed at dusk last night when he was thrown from a glider as it stalled 150 feet over a field one-half mile west of Zion near 33d street and Ezekiel avenue. Thirty other young men, many of them glider enthusiasts, saw the crash.

David Hosken.

Hosken had made nearly thirty flights in the motorless craft since a glider club was organized recently in Zion. Last night William Deacon, 3011 Elam avenue, Zion, started the craft by towing it across the field at the end of a rope in his automobile.

Witnesses said that Hosken was climbing too steeply when he released the tow rope at 150 feet. His craft lost flying speed, nosed down and turned over. As he struggled to right it, they said, the connection holding his safety belt to the glider seat broke, and Hosken fell to the ground. The glider crashed nearby. Hosken was the son of Albert Hosken, 2802 Ezekiel avenue, Zion, former president of the Illinois Well Diggers association.

It has been a great inspiration to musicians of America and has provided an outlet for much previously undiscovered talent and an opportunity for serious minded students to be heard by competent judges."

It was presented by Miss Anita de Mars of the Chicago Iota Alpha chapter and a member of the national committee. Others speaking on the festival were Mrs. Bertha Marron King, national president, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Linda Sool Denby, convention chairman, of Chicago.

The convention banquet will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock and tomorrow night the delegates will attend Henry Weber's Concert Review in the new W-G-N studio at 9:30 o'clock. One of the principal speakers tonight will be Prof. Winthrop S. Sterling, 78 year old organist-composer, of Cincinnati, O., one of the two founders of the organization.

WOMAN FANCIER OF DOGS FREED ON DRUG CHARGE

Miss Eileen Morrison, a breeder of blooded dogs, was released by federal authorities yesterday on $1,000 bond after being in custody four days on charges of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic act. Miss Morrison whose parents say she became addicted to narcotics as the result of an illness, is charged with having forged a prescription for drugs.

Her bond was posted by Robert Hall McCormick, retired attorney, who became acquainted with Miss Morrison when she was caring for his dogs in her kennels at Elgin. Mr. McCormick, an invalid, was taken in a wheel chair to the office of United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, where the bail was accepted. The young woman left with her father, Philip Morrison, who is station agent at Coleman for the Illinois Central railroad.

HUSBAND KILLER FREED BY JURY IN 40 MINUTES

Prosecution on Bigamy Charge Considered.

In exactly forty minutes, Mrs. Adeline Chesney Koehler, 38 years old, was acquitted yesterday by a Criminal court jury on a charge of murdering her third husband, Frank Koehler. The verdict was returned before Judge Robert Jerome Dunne.

In a stirring plea to the jury, Assistant State's Attorney Howard Christensen termed Mrs. Koehler a hardened, callous woman who killed when she was scorned. He demanded that she be sent to the penitentiary.

"Koehler did not want her," declared Prosecutor Christensen, "because she was a bigamist. That is what angered her, and that's why she killed him."

Slain in Front of Tavern.

Koehler, 43 years old, an ex-convict, was shot to death the night of May 2 in front of Mrs. Koehler's tavern at 1708 North Ashland avenue. There were no witnesses to the actual shooting, but others described Mrs. Koehler's actions upon her return to the saloon. They said she appeared nervous.

Her attorney, George M. Crane, offered a plea of self-defense, contending that Mrs. Koehler resorted to the gun while resisting her husband's blows. Mrs. Koehler and two children by a previous marriage also told of other beatings he had given her.

Tears Turn to Gladness.

While Assistant State's Attorneys Christensen and Richard Devine made their closing arguments, Mrs. Koehler dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief. Then when the verdict was read, she leaped to her feet, and exclaimed:

"I'm so happy. Thank you, gentlemen of the jury." Several friends and relatives rejoiced with her.

Prosecutor Christensen said Mrs. Koehler was divorced from her first husband. Her second, Joseph Stahursky, from whom she was never divorced, he said, is in the Elgin state hospital. Today Mr. Christensen said he would confer with First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley on the question of prosecuting Mrs. Koehler for bigamy.

FORCE 3 C. I. O. ORGANIZERS OUT OF NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., June 28.—(AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization, conducting a strike against ten trucking firms here, complained today to the federal court and the National Labor Relations board against police interference after officers escorted three organizers out of town.

John Grosch, acting superintendent of police, said detectives early today took the three organizers to the city limits, let them drive into the next parish, and warned them never to return to New Orleans. He added his men would continue their hunt for six other organizers and drive them from the city.

Judge Rufus E. Foster of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals ordered Mayor Robert S. Maestri, Grosch, and other officials to show cause Friday why they should not be restrained from interfering with the C. I. O.

In the week old strike here three men have been shot, and in each police arrested men they said were members of the American Federation of Labor. The A. F. of L. contends no strike exists.

Launch Illinois' Second Weed Eradication Battle

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—The second annual state-wide campaign against ragweed and other undesirable weeds was launched today by the state weed control advisory committee, meeting here to plan the 1938 eradication program.

Giant ragweed during pollination.

Encouraged by the effective drive made against weeds last year, the committee again will seek the volunteer coöperation of farmers, owners of vacant lots in cities and towns, and officials of railroads and highways throughout the state.

A warning was issued by the committee that weeds will be unusually abundant this year because of heavy rains in the spring and early summer. A big crop of ragweed pollen, the chief cause of hay fever, is expected in about another month. Weed eradicators were advised to start their work soon.

Seek to Coördinate Forces.

The committee, created by Gov. Henry Horner under authority of house joint resolution No. 25, discussed practical ways of coördinating forces in the state in an effective onslaught against weeds to protect hay fever sufferers, to add to the income of farmers, and to make driving on highways and streets safer.

J. H. Lloyd, director of the state department of agriculture, appointed a subcommittee to draft details of a publicity and promotion plan to dramatize the importance of controlling weeds. The committee hopes to obtain the support of every farm and city property owner in the state.

In discussing tentative plans for weed destruction days, which were held from Aug. 8 to 22 last year, several members of the committee suggested that Gov. Horner be asked to set the dates earlier this year. It was pointed out that if ragweed mowing and pulling could be started in about a month there would be less pollen in the air to torment hay fever victims.

State Among Worst Offenders.

"Thousands of tons of ragweed pollen, the principal cause of hay fever, are released annually into the air in Illinois," O. C. Durham, a national authority on pollen and author of "Your Hay Fever," told the committee today.

"This state is one of the worst offenders in this regard because of the prevalence of the weed. Atmospheric pollen contamination begins in Illinois about Aug. 10 and reaches a climax about Sept. 1. Between 3 and 4 per cent of the population suffers from hay fever."

L. A. Moore, superintendent of the plant industry division of the state department of agriculture, reported to the committee that nearly half the counties in Illinois have definite weed control campaigns this year.

Members of Committee.

Members of the committee who attended today's meeting, in addition to Director Lloyd and Superintendent Moore, are Prof. J. J. Pieper, college of agriculture, University of Illinois; C. A. Bell, division of vocational education; Dr. Earl Sieveking of the Illinois Crop Improvement association; K. T. Smith, Illinois Agricultural association; Dr. L. R. Tehon, state natural history survey; E. A. Eckert, Illinois state grange, and B. W. Debord, assistant director of the state department of agriculture.

ATTACKS G. O. P. FIGURES ON U. S. SPENDING TOTAL

Democrat House Leader Pares Off 2 Billion.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—Recognizing the issues of unprecedented spending as something that will have to be answered in the forthcoming congressional campaigns, Representative Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.] today denounced as an irresponsible exaggeration the Republican contention that a total of $13,371,001,049 was appropriated by the last session of the 75th congress.

According to Cannon's calculations, placed in a special appendix issue of the congressional record after twelve days of pruning and paring, the last session of congress appropriated only the modest sum of $11,361,599,384.

Still Exceeds 20 Billions.

Accepting Cannon's figures as authentic and adding the official computations of the senate appropriations committee for the 1937 appropriations —$9,389,488,893— the 75th congress actually appropriated a total of $20,751,088,277. This is a new peace time high, exceeding the appropriations of the 20 billion dollar 74th congress, which included $2,237,000,000 for the soldiers' bonus.

Representative Cannon ranks next to Chairman Edward T. Taylor [D., Colo.] on the house appropriations committee and is recognized as the committee's administration spokesman. This statement in the congressional record supplement was a reply to a previous insertion by Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the committee, who arrived at a total of $13,371,001.049 by including reappropriations of unexpended balances.

Questions People's Belief.

"These misleading statements place the next year's deficit at 8 billion dollars and paint such a discouraging and gloomy fiscal outlook for the government and our people that, if any substantial number of persons believed them, recovery would either be blighted or defeated altogether before it could get well started," said Cannon.

"Fortunately the great majority of the American people still retain their powers of discernment. They recognize that this is an election year. They recognize that the reactionary forces of the Republican party have no issues upon which to base a political campaign. They sense this hopeless endeavor of these forces to build up an issue by exaggerating the total of appropriations which have been made and confusing the public mind as to the status of federal finances.

Cites Roosevelt Programs.

"The American people will not be deluded or misled by the prophets of despair who typify the do-nothing and let-nature-take-its-course policy of the Republican party.

"These exaggerated statements of appropriations need unmasking, particularly in view of the fact that a number of liberal Republicans voted for the relief and recovery appropriations enacted at the past session to carry out the program advocated by President Roosevelt to relieve unemployment, to stimulate purchasing power, to revive business activity, to raise farm income, and to improve the working and living conditions of our people."

Cannon proceeded to "unmask" the Republican "exaggerations" with the following table showing actual appropriations of new money from the treasury made by the last session of congress:

Department of agriculture and Farm Credit administration	$ 745,790,279.00
District of Columbia	47,255,155.00
Independent offices	1,423,098,240.00
Interior department	129,678,460.84
Legislative establishments	21,663,783.50
Military establishment	459,401,254.00
Navy	546,866,494.00
State, justice, commerce, and labor departments	130,589,795.00
Treasury and postoffice departments	1,403,683,526.00
War department, civil functions	196,962,867.00
First deficiency act	28,089,009.77
Second deficiency act	275,403,263.42
Emergency relief deficiency	250,000,000.00
Work relief and public works acts [pump priming]	2,915,605,000.00
Sundry public resolutions [no amount included for private relief acts]	68,390,000.00
Permanent and indefinite appropriations [trust funds, service of public debt, etc.]	2,719,122,257.00
Total	$11,361,599,384.53

Deducts Repayable Funds.

Cannon said there had been no computation of the funds appropriated by miscellaneous private relief acts but that ordinarily they did not exceed $1,000,000. From the grand total of $11,361,599,384.53 of actual appropriations, Cannon deducted $1,798,437,074.85, leaving a net of $9,563,162,309.68 which he said could be properly charged against the treasury general fund.

The deductions represented appropriations to federal trust funds, supposedly repayable from trust fund receipts, and that part of the postal appropriations [$775,000,000] estimated to be repayable from postal revenues. The total of $11,361,599,384.53, however, actually was appropriated.

RAPS U. S. INVASION OF STATE TAX FIELDS; OFFICIALS ADJOURN

Invasion of the taxing fields of individual states by the federal government has created a grave financial situation that is growing steadily worse, the National Association of Tax Administrators was told yesterday at its annual conference by Henry F. Long, Massachusetts commissioner of corporations and taxation.

"Since it appears that the government will concentrate its taxation in the higher brackets, collecting a larger share of the larger incomes and estates, it will be up to the states and their subdivisions to depend on sales and income taxes reaching deeper into the lower brackets," he said.

William Hackett, tax commissioner of Connecticut, was elected president, succeeding J. H. Thayer Martin, tax commissioner of New Jersey. Dixwell L. Pierce, secretary of the California board of equalization, was elected vice president, and Clarence A. Jackson, director of the Indiana gross income tax division, was chosen secretary.

IGOE WILL AID IN U. S. INQUIRY ON MILK PRICES

Michael L. Igoe, United States attorney, announced yesterday that he will take an active part in the government's investigation of an alleged milk monopoly in the Chicago area. He disclosed at the same time that presentation of the government's evidence to the federal grand jury will begin July 8.

Igoe will share with Leo F. Tierney the direction of presenting the evidence. Tierney, special assistant United States attorney general, has been at work on the case for months. Twenty subpenas for records and books already have been issued. The government is particularly interested in finding out why the farmer gets only 3.74 cents for a quart of milk that retails in Chicago for 12 cents.

tion bordering on or pertaining to labor unions."

Manager Denies Any Part.

B. L. Bowen, manager of the plant, said he had no part in the activities of the patrons' committee.

He said the creamery operated without difficulty from being undermanned. Some men were recalled from their day off and one new man was hired. Bowen said there were plenty of local men who would be glad to go to work.

The neighboring plant of the Carnation company operates with union men and it was feared some difficulty might come tomorrow morning if they tried to interfere with the farmer pickets.

"There might be a clash any time," Bowen said.

Clark, in commenting, said:

"The unfortunate thing is the farmers have been allowed to think they are exempt from the laws governing other people. I have patiently explained to them that when they leave their farm gates and go into business they cease being farmers and become just the same as any other capitalist business men.

Calls It "Capitalistic" Venture.

"The coöperative hires a paid manager and distributes any profit it makes as dividend. It is a capitalistic enterprise."

The attempt to organize the plant began five months ago. In April 300 patrons agreed to oppose unionization and asked Gov. La Follette to declare that the business, as a coöperative dairy enterprise, was exempt from the state labor law control. The governor avoided the issue and the national labor board took jurisdiction.

"The farmers are getting disgusted and are going to force this to a settlement one way or another," Bowen said.

Russians Fly 4,300 Miles Without a Stop in 24 Hours

MOSCOW, June 28.—(AP)—Two soviet flyers landed at Vladivostok today after a 4,300 mile nonstop flight from Moscow to demonstrate the long range possibilities of the Red army's aircraft. The plane was piloted over Siberia to the far eastern outpost in 24 hours by Maj. Vladimir Kokkinaki, veteran test pilot. He was aided by Navigator A. M. Bryandinsky.

JUDGES DEMAND HORAN REASSIGN 'OUSTED' BAILIFS

Judges of the Municipal court voted at a special meeting yesterday to direct Bailif Albert J. Horan to make immediate reassignments of fifty-five deputy bailifs restored to their jobs by the judges just before the April primary. Since then Horan has refused to recognize the fifty-five he had ousted as his deputies although they have been assigned to the various courts by order of Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby.

"I have no work for them," said Horan when told of the action of the judges. "I dropped those men as an economy move. The law gives the judges the right to reinstate any one I fire but I don't have to deputize them."

SENATE INQUIRY GIVES WPA BOSS SLAP ON WRIST

Election Committee Takes Mild Action on Vote Bid.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—The senate committee created to investigate senatorial campaign fund expenditures and use of government funds to influence voters administered a mild rebuke today to Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator. The rebuke was for his speech yesterday in which he adjured the organized relief enrollees to keep the Roosevelt administration in power and elect 100 per cent Roosevelt Democrats to office.

The committee pronounced Williams' speech "unfortunate" because of his position in the relief organization and uttered a warning against attempts by the spenders of the government's relief and pump priming billions to influence the votes of beneficiaries.

Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.] called a meeting of the committee, of which he is the chairman, to consider action on Williams' speech to 800 members of the Workers' alliance, relief enrollees' organization.

Submits Reports of Speech.

The other members present were Senators Pat Harrison [D., Miss.] and Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.]. Senator Sheppard submitted press reports of the speech and an explanatory letter which he had requested of Williams.

At the close of the meeting the committee issued a statement saying it had received a letter from Williams in which he disclaimed any political intent in his speech.

"The committee accepts this statement," the statement said, "but, in view of the instructions given the committee by the senate, the committee feels that, because of his position in the Works Progress administration, the speech of Mr. Williams was unfortunate, and it hopes that all dispensers of federal funds will take note of the obligation which has been imposed on this committee to report to the senate all such incidents as may be deemed to come within the scope of the investigation."

Unable to Give Transcript.

In his letter of explanation to Senator Sheppard, Williams declared he was unable to supply a complete transcript of his talk because it was extemporaneous.

"What I said and what I am reported as saying are entirely two different things," his letter continued. "There was nothing political in what I said, nor were any political implications intended. It does so happen, however, that there are a few people so steeped in partisan politics that they read insidious political motives into every statement of a public official."

Williams avoided reference to that part of his speech in which he counselled those on relief to support the candidates who support the President 100 per cent and linked his appeal with the Friday night fireside chat in which President Roosevelt announced he would intervene in Democratic primaries to aid his unquestioning supporters and defeat those he called "yes, but" Democrats. According to a transcript of the speech supplied by the Workers' alliance, Williams said:

"The other day, the chap who cuts my hair said, 'If they would just let the President alone he would get this thing straightened out.' And there would have been many things straightened out if he had received the support that he should have received. It is going to take time and it is going to require an awful lot of stick-to-itiveness to get the thing done. But I believe that we can work out this problem.

"We've got to stick together. We've got to keep our friends in power. I thought that speech Friday night was wonderful. I don't need to tell you. You know you. friends very well. Just judge the folks who come and ask for your support by the crowd they run with."

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], called on President Roosevelt to remove Williams from office.

Five French Army Flyers Burned to Death in Crash

REIMS, France, June 28.—(AP)—Five French army flyers were burned to death today when their military plane crashed and caught fire about 200 yards from the airfield here. The plane fell from about 600 feet a few seconds after taking off.

Seek Indiana Senate Nomination

(Story in adjoining column.)

NYE TAKES LEAD IN EARLY COUNT OF DAKOTA VOTE

Opposed by Governor for Renomination.

Fargo, N. D., June 28.—(AP)—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye went into an early lead over Gov. William Langer for the Republican nomination for senator tonight in the state primary election as the first scattered returns were tabulated.

With 595 precincts of 2,260 reporting the vote was: Nye, 36,667; Langer, 23,645.

In the Republican race for governor Nye's supporter, Lieut. Gov. T. H. H. Thoresen, took a 4,000 lead over John N. Hagan, state agricultural commissioner and Langer-League candidate. With 487 precincts in, Thoresen led 23,067 to 18,945 for Hagan.

Foes Once Close Friends.

Today's voting will determine the voters' verdict in a fight between Nye, a nationally known peace advocate, and Langer, his one time friend, whose career has been spotted by spectacular executive actions.

Elected together on the Nonpartisan league ticket six years ago, they fought each other this year almost exclusively on state issues.

Cloudy skies overhung North Dakota, and early reports indicated a lighter vote than two years ago, when 222,245 votes were cast for governor in the primary.

Three Democrats in Race.

A slate of Union party candidates were unopposed and few called for that ballot. Democrats, featuring a three cornered fight for senatorial nomination between J. J. Nygaard of Jamestown, E. A. Johanssen of Raub, and Halvor Halvorson of Minot, independent, expected an increased vote over previous primaries. Nygaard had a 3 to 1 lead in early scattered returns.

Of added interest were the elections of precinct committeemen which will determine control of the party machinery in Democratic and Republican ranks, the selection of legislative candidates, and balloting on thirteen constitutional amendments, referred or initiated measures.

CANOEIST SINKS, BUT GUARD RESCUES HIM BY ACCURATE DIVING

A canoe capsized in the rough waters off Glenlake avenue last evening and two young men who were thrown from it began a desperate battle to reach the beach.

One, John Toth of 6107 Winthrop avenue, succeeded. The other, William Rodgers, 20 years old, of 18 Condit street, Hammond, sank about a hundred yards off shore. A beach guard, Robert Farbach, was swimming toward him and reached the spot a few seconds after Rodgers went under.

Gauging the distance correctly, he dived and brought the unconscious young man to the surface and swam in with him. With the aid of the guard captain, L. F. Hamilton, Rodgers was revived and taken to the Edgewater hospital by the Summerdale police. There it was said he was suffering from exhaustion but would recover.

FIVE INDIANANS ASK NOMINATION FOR U. S. SENATE

Republican Convention to Meet Today.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., June 28.—[Special.]—Five aspirants for the nomination for United States senator tonight were buttonholing and backslapping 1,760 delegates and claiming victory in tomorrow's Republican state convention.

Above the guesses as to who would win the nomination rose loud prophecies that the Democrats, in their convention two weeks hence, will renominate Senator Frederick Van Nuys, cast into outer darkness by Gov. Clifford Townsend from the White House steps last year for opposing the Roosevelt court packing bill.

Otherwise, the G. O. P. leaders held, it might be a walkaway for the Republican party in Indiana in November. Delegates talked as much about Democrats as about the Republicans.

Have Second Choice Strength.

District caucuses tonight indicated Oliver Starr of Gary, former prosecutor of Lake county, and Clarence H. Wills, Kokomo lawyer, may pull to the front for senator after the first ballot, if that is not decisive. They are said to have considerable second choice strength.

James E. Watson, former senator, a veteran of forty years and more in politics and congress, is expected to show strength on the first roll call. A large complimentary vote, it is said, will go to Watson, who spent the day in conferences, one every three or four minutes. He says he will win, but his age—he is 73 years old—and his enemies within the party are accounted barriers to a comeback.

Look for Exciting Race.

Raymond E. Willis, the Angola publisher, looks for a sizable vote on the first ballot, while Walter F. Bossert of Liberty and his supporters declare it is in the bag for the former Ku Klux Klan leader.

Consensus of most leaders is that the first ballot will not give any one a majority. After that the breaks and switches will make it an exciting race, with Starr and Wills pulling to the front. Every candidate tonight can and does prove to his satisfaction that he is a sure fire winner.

The convention is to meet in the Coliseum at the state fair ground at 10 a. m. Bruce Barton, New York congressman, will do the keynoting. Permanent chairman will be William L. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, and kingpin of the American Federation of Labor's building trade craft union. Hutcheson is an arch foe of John L. Lewis of the C. I. O.

In the dark horse paddock are several ready to go if a deadlock ensues. Among them are Charles A. Halleck of Rensselaer, the sole Republican member of congress from Indiana who is to be temporary chairman; William E. Jenner of Paoli, Clarence Martin of Indianapolis, Ernest Morris, South Bend, and Glen Hills of Kokomo.

G. O. P. HAILS GUNN'S ELECTION AS SIGNAL OF VICTORY IN FALL

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Predictions that Republicans will carry the state in the November elections were made today on the basis of the majority of nearly 15,000 votes the party rolled up yesterday in electing Walter T. Gunn, Danville attorney, to the State Supreme court.

Gunn was selected by voters of the 3d judicial district in preference to Circuit Judge Walter L. McLaughlin of Sullivan, a Democrat, who had the support of Gov. Henry Horner. Gunn will serve the four years remaining of the term of the late Chief Justice Lott R. Herrick of Farmer City, a Democrat, who died last year.

Complete returns from the sixteen central Illinois counties in the district gave Gunn 80,889 votes and McLaughlin 66,775. The Horner backed candidate carried only five counties.

OLD TANK BLOWS UP AS MEN SAW IT APART; 2 BURNED

Two men were burned severely yesterday afternoon when a terrific explosion occurred as they were sawing into a discarded 75 gallon gasoline tank at the Overhill Moving company lot, 7634 Berwyn avenue.

The victims, Earl Bannister, of 5503 North Mobile avenue, and Roy Williams, 7638 Berwyn avenue, were taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital.

Williams, a plasterer, intended to cut the metal tank in two and use the halves for mixing plaster. It is believed that sparks from the saw ignited gasoline vapor.

4 NATIONS SPLIT SPANISH TROOP EVACUATION COST

Removes One Obstacle to Peace Effort.

LONDON, June 28.—(AP)—Great Britain, France, Italy, and Germany tonight agreed to split the cost of the proposed withdrawal of foreign troops from both sides in Spain after soviet Russia declined to shoulder a full share of the expense. The total cost, it has been estimated, will be about 10 million dollars.

The agreement removed one more obstacle to the evacuation plan, but a new stumbling block arose to a British plan for sending a neutral commission to Spain to investigate aerial bombardments of civilian populations.

Sweden unexpectedly followed the lead of the United States in refusing to join the commission. Previously it had indicated its acceptance.

Seek to Get Dutch to Join.

Britain, with the aid of France, is seeking to persuade the Netherlands to join Britain and Norway on the commission, which is to attempt to determine whether air raids have been directed against military objectives. The purpose of the committee is to focus world opinion upon raids on civilian populations.

There were several such raids today by the Spanish rebels. Ten persons were killed and twenty injured in an air raid on Alicante. Barcelona, Valencia, Perello, where the American consul's residence is located, and several other coastal towns were raided.

The soviet refusal to pay its allotted share of the expense of foreign troop evacuation shattered a short lived harmony in the nonintervention committee. The committee members last week had agreed on the British plan for withdrawal.

Russia Wants Spain to Pay.

S. B. Kagan, Russia's representative, told the nonintervention subcommittee his government was prepared to pay one-sixth of the cost of counting the foreign fighters and maintaining nonintervention commissions and the general evacuation organization.

He said, however, that Russia contended the expense of maintaining the volunteers in evacuation camps until their repatriation should be borne by the Spanish government and the rebels in proportion to the number to be evacuated.

The soviet union also refused to aid in sea transport which, it was estimated, would cost $3,750,000. Kagan argued the countries concerned should pay the cost of repatriating their own nationals.

Chamberlain Presses Franco.

With Britain's seagoing pride stung by attacks on fifty-nine British merchant ships—with a loss of thirty-six lives—since the Spanish war started, Prime Minister Chamberlain today pressed Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander, to tell him why British ships were targets.

But Franco's reply, which Sir Robert M. Hodgson, Britain's semi-diplomatic voice at Burgos, was ordered to bring back, may not touch on the larger issue involving use of German and Italian planes and airmen in aerial warfare.

That issue runs squarely against Champerlain's stubborn efforts to "appease" Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

The duchess of Atholl, one of three Conservatives who recently deserted the ranks of Chamberlain supporters, added to the prime minister's worries today by furnishing details of what she said was the threat of German made guns pointed at Gibraltar from rebel Spain.

JILTED PRINCESS SUES COUNT FOR $27,000 DAMAGES

PARIS, June 28.—(AP)—Nadia Cherbatoff, Russian princess, today filed suit in a Paris civil court demanding $27,000 damages and an allowance of $270 a month from Count Louis de Brantes, accusing him of breaking off a three year love affair.

Princess Nadia Cherbatoff.

The blonde princess, who now is a dress model, listened while attorneys gave their version of the affair they said ended shortly after the princess bore a daughter, Nadedja. They told how the princess left her husband, Count Stenbock-Fermor, and their two children to follow De Brantes to French Indo-China.

The princess admitted the court's contention that either party had a right to end the liaison, but insisted the count's wealth and her poverty and the abruptness with which the affair terminated entitled her to more than the $40.50 a month she said De Brantes had been paying her.

[The Count de Brantes' marriage to Lady Moira Forbes, niece of the late Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, was annulled in 1936, less than two years after they were married at the wealthy bride's estate in Ireland.]

Spanish Rebels Seize Danish Ship and Cargo on High Seas

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, June 28.—(AP)—Eighteen crew members of the Danish freighter Jan, missing since May 26, reached here today with the disclosure that the vessel had been seized by Spanish rebels on the high seas and confiscated with its cargo of coal. The ship's captain said the Jan was forced to put in to Ceuta, rebel held Moroccan port, where the crewmen were held prisoners until June 24. Then they were ordered to give up the ship and leave the Spanish zone in North Africa.

SPANISH FORCES DEADLOCKED IN BATTLE FOR HILL

Fight for Control of Main Highway to Valencia.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], June 28.—(AP)—A fitful struggle under a blazing Spanish sun shifted back and forth today across the barren Sarrion war sector and when night fell thousands of sweating men were still deadlocked in a contest for one of the main highways to Valencia.

The Sarrion sector, about fifty miles northwest of Valencia on the highroad from Teruel, is based on a strategic peak, La Muela de Sarrion—literally, Sarrion's tooth—and is highly fortified but now stripped of foliage and dotted with shellholes.

Aside from Sarrion's tooth the only outstanding landmark is the steeple of the church in the town of Sarrion, which somehow has been spared in the rain of shells.

Both Sides Claim Gains.

Government reports said Gen. José Miaja's militiamen had retaken Sarrion's tooth, but rebel bulletins from Teruel said Gen. Francisco Franco's troops remained its "masters."

While Valencia's defenders and would-be besiegers continued their deadly stalemate there, Gen. Franco's troops were inching closer to the seaport metropolis along the coast to the north, with one advanced force about five miles from the town of Nules, on the coastal highway to Valencia's north.

Rebels Win by Surprise.

Nules is about twenty-six miles northeast of Valencia. To gain this threatening position the rebels executed a surprise attack between Onda and Bechi while the government's attention was distracted by a feint toward the village of Tales, just southwest of Onda.

The government held out at Tales against a sudden drive, but was forced to yield the well fortified Pastora hills dominating both Artana and Bechi. Artana is about twenty-eight miles from Valencia.

A government counteroffensive in southern Spain was reported to have recaptured Pilon de los Arcos, in the Valsequillo sector of the Cordoba front, about ten miles northeast of Fuenteovejuna.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, Cuba, June 28.—Edward Gordon of New York, an employé in the steward's department of the steamship Oriente of the New York and Cuba Mail line, was detained this afternoon on charges of being a labor agitator and of attempting to spread illegal propaganda against Cuban industries. The police asserted Gordon carried papers showing he was a Committee for Industrial Organization delegate and that other documents seized from him revealed he was plotting with labor groups in Cuba to bring about a boycott of certain industries.

JAPS SEIZE FORT ON YANGTZE NEAR RIVER BARRIER

Chinese Struggle to Halt Hankow Drive.

SHANGHAI, June 29 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Chinese troops fought desperately today in an effort to recapture one of the several forts defending the Matowchen boom, the important barrier blocking the Japanese drive up the Yangtze river toward Hankow.

The Matowchen boom, formed of sunken, rock laden junks, is 175 miles downriver from the temporary capital.

Chinese admitted in Hankow that a heavy Japanese assault had resulted in the capture of one of the forts at Matowchen, but maintained that the boom still held. They said a counter-offensive was launched against the fort immediately.

The Yangtze river continued to rise, which would facilitate movement of Japanese gunboats past the boom, but land batteries and floating mines still constituted serious obstacles.

Rescue Japanese Column.

Foreign military observers, as a result, considered that Matowchen's fate depended upon the success of Japanese land forces attempting to advance up the north and south banks of the river.

The Japanese, however, were having difficulty on both banks of the river. The Japanese admitted that one of their columns had been surrounded on the south bank and was saved only when Japanese planes and reinforcements arrived.

The Chinese reported the Japanese also were bogged down on the north bank with a large number of troops surrounded on the shores of Lake Po.

Japanese reinforcements attempting to land at Wushantze were said by the Chinese to have been repulsed, while another attempted landing, near Tungliu, was said to have been thwarted. The Chinese said they sank seven Japanese motorboats and killed 100 men.

Flyer Dives Into Ship.

Chinese air force officers said a "dare-to-die" Chinese flyer sank a Japanese gunboat in the Yangtze river near Anking on Monday by deliberately plunging his burning, bomb laden plane on to the vessel's deck.

A Japanese navy communique said three Chinese bombers were shot down in dogfights over Anking, 215 miles down river from Hankow, when Chinese attempted to bomb Japanese warships concentrated there.

MILITARY COURT AND COMMONS PROBE 'SPY' ROW

Legislators Clash with Cabinet Over Defense.

LONDON, June 28.—(AP)—A clash of first magnitude between the British cabinet and the house of commons is swirling around Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Chamberlain today agreed to fight out the issue, a complicated quarrel over anti-aircraft defenses for the British Isles, with a committee inquiry into an implied threat to invoke the rigid official secrets act against a member of parliament.

Almost at the same time the war office, headed by Leslie Hore-Belisha, announced a military court would probe a leak of secret defense data into the hands of the member of parliament, Duncan Sandys, a Conservative and son-in-law of Winston Churchill. Gen. Sir W. Edmund Ironside, chief of the far eastern command, will assemble the court.

This affair directly involved Hore-Belisha and the anti-aircraft guns with which the war minister proposes to defend 45,000,000 Britons against bombing planes in event of war.

Called Gag on Criticism.

Chamberlain's foes seized upon Sandy's charge that Attorney General Sir Donald Somervell threatened to use the secrets law to gag him as an instance of what they termed repression of criticism which might ultimately break the government.

Some members of the parliamentary opposition saw a clear parallel between the Sandys case and the "Campbell case" which resulted in overthrow of the first MacDonald government in 1924. As in the present case, it involved a motion for inquiry by a select committee. The "Campbell case" concerned an unsuccessful attempt to prosecute an editor for publication of an article exhorting soldiers not to fire on workers in wartime.

Chamberlain announced in commons that a select house committee of ten members would inquire into Sandys' allegation that he had been threatened under the secret act—fundamentally a safeguard against spies—for refusal to disclose a source of information on anti-aircraft defenses.

Pressed by Clement R. Attlee, leader of the opposition, Hore-Belisha told the house he was "extremely anxious" to make a statement on the matter.

Plans to Increase Defense.

Hore-Belisha outlined a plan to increase anti-aircraft personnel of the territorial army to 100,000 men, as compared with the present 43,000, and to reorganize commands so as to unify and strengthen defenses.

Privately the war minister denied charges that the three inch anti-aircraft guns with which the territorial army is largely equipped are "duds." He said, however, that a better and newer 3.7 inch gun was being delivered regularly and produced at a rate equal to world war schedules.

Sandys told parliament yesterday that a question concerning an alleged shortage of anti-aircraft guns which he had intended to ask Hore-Beliska resulted in a demand from the attorney general that he, Sandys, disclose the source of information on which he based the question. Sandys added that Somervell told him he was liable to two years' imprisonment if he refused to name his source.

Denies Making Threat.

Somervell denied he threatened Sandys with the act but acknowledged he summoned the legislator on a request by Hore-Belisha and asked Sandys to tell him if he had obtained the anti-aircraft information through a breach of the secrets act by "someone."

One published but unconfirmed report hinted that the "some one" had been discovered and might be court martialed.

210 FOREIGNERS LEAVE HANKOW; NAZIS GO JULY 5

HANKOW, June 28.—(AP)—An international train draped with American, British, French, and German flags left Hankow this morning carrying 210 foreigners of seven nationalities, but twenty-seven German advisers to the Chinese army were not aboard.

The Germans, it was said, would leave on special coaches to be provided by Chinese authorities on July 5.

They broke in a door of a scooter renting agency at 219 South Western avenue, obtained the machines, and carried on until police in squad cars arrested them after a long chase.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE SPOT AND THE PENDULUM

By CALEB

FORTY YEARS ago Alexander Winton sold an automobile. That transaction is called by tradition the first retail sale of a motor vehicle.

Five years later Henry Ford launched his business and the industry has grown until today there are enough automobiles in the United States to furnish transportation for every man, woman and child in the country.

The automobile is among the most important physical factors in our lives. Most of us either use it or make through it a portion of our livelihood.

Remarkably enough, all this has happened in the span of a single lifetime. In thirty years the automobile has changed the contour and lifted the face of cities and of the open country. It is, perhaps, the star performer in the amazing economic spectacle unfolded before our eyes in the past three decades.

But only the first act has transpired. To most of us thirty years loom as a long, long time, but the pendulum of history swings slowly through an arc that is great and long. Its measured beat smoothes out the peaks and valleys of each frenzied chapter in mankind's long career.

Great advances in the world's affairs often outstrip man's immediate ability to cope with them. Inevitably, his knowledge and skill overtake them. Ultimately that which threatened chaos is reduced to orderly procession with tremendous good for all concerned.

Few worthwhile causes are both begun and completed in the life span of a single generation. Thus to some of us falls the lot of pioneering; to others that of consolidation and reinforcement, while still others remain to reap the fullest benefits of progress and, in their turn, launch new projects.

Through such efforts, humble though they may be, each makes his fullest and best contribution to the future. This, in the last analysis, is one sure opportunity for immortality open to each of us.

500 DROP HATE ON ROAD BACK TO GETTYSBURG

Vets of North and South in Chicago Together.

BY MARCIA WINN.

There was no hate, no rancor, among the 500 gallant old soldiers, some dressed in blue, some in gray, who passed through Chicago yesterday on their way to Gettysburg, Pa.

Seventy-five years ago, from July 1 to July 3, 1863, they fought at Gettysburg in opposing armies. This time they will meet as brothers under one flag in the first, and probably final, reunion of the Union and Confederate armies.

When the reunion first was suggested there were a few scoffers. The two forces could never meet peaceably, it was said. Yet the veterans themselves, on their way at the invitation of the United States government, scoffed even louder at the suggestion that they might be displeased with peacemaking.

No Hate; He Loves 'Em All.

"Resentment? Never," spoke up S. S. Simmons of Los Angeles, 95, and straight as a tree, the Confederate emblem shining out gayly upon his gray uniform. "I love everybody.

"The reunion is fine. It is an effort to make a oneness of us all. It is a hardship on these old people," casting a pitying glance at his fellow-travelers, "to go there, but—" with a proud tilt to his white goatee, "it is to make a oneness, understand?"

"It's fine, yes, it's fine," spoke up "General" Simmons' best friend, Robert C. Blair of Los Angeles, who is 94 and wears the trooper hat of the G. A. R.. "All I want to know is —why haven't we done it before?"

Nothin' Agin the Rebs.

James McGrew, 88 years old, of Waco, Neb., who fingered his Gettysburg medal with pride, wasn't so sure about it at first. Finally, he decided it wasn't half a bad idea.

"I ain't got nothin' agin 'em, the rebs," he concluded. "We settled that long ago."

Louis M. Rich of Naperville, Ill., now 93, who served in the 132d and 156th Illinois ["just little fights, though"], grimaced, his eyes twinkling.

"O," he drawled. "I guess it will be all right. I just don't want them to show too many rebel flags. I'd like them to be sort of decent and orderly, and not to pick any fights . . . because we're too many for them."

Won't Even Consider It.

But Augustus O'Neill of Vancouver, B. C., who served in the 43d Wisconsin, shook his head, his hair waving like a white cockatoo. . . . "O, pshaw," he said. "We won't even talk it over."

And so it went. Somewhere along the line a group of feeble voices sang out in "O, we'll rally 'round the flag.' Down another aile it was "Dixie." But probably the most fitting words came from Orval Mullis of Decatur, an honorary G. A. R. member, whose resemblance to Abraham Lincoln is so striking that he wears Lincolnian clothes—string tie, top hat, and all. For, Mr. Mullis, as the last train pulled out, was leaning out toward a porter, and his words, as they floated back, were, ". . . free country. . . free people."

SWEDISH PRINCE IN N. Y. HOSPITAL FOR TREATMENT

New York, June 28.—(AP)—Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden arrived tonight at Medical center for treatment of an illness that kept him from joining President Roosevelt yesterday in Wilmington, Del., where a monument was dedicated to the first Swedish colonists of America.

He drove here from Philadelphia, where earlier in the day he dedicated a Swedish-American museum in a radio address from his suite aboard a liner.

Dr. J. Bentley Squier, staf specialist in kidney ailments, and Dr. Harold Ernberg, the prince's physician, examined him tonight. The graying heir of King Gustaf V., now 55 years old, was accompanied by his chauffeur, his valet, and state department representatives.

The prince showed no outward symptoms of the illness which kept him aboard the liner Kungsholm as he addressed by radio crowds assembled to celebrate the event.

Having 2 Pairs of Pants a Bother to Prince, Too

Philadelphia, Pa., June 28.—(AP)—Hundreds of guests waited today because Prince Bertil of Sweden lost his trousers. The prince, here for the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the settlement of Delaware and Pennsylvania by his countrymen, intended to change from naval uniform to civilian clothes for a luncheon. He couldn't find the pants. He appeared, fifteen minutes late, still in uniform.

GIRL, LAST TO SEE SLAYER OF LINCOLN, DIES IN THE SOUTH

Richmond, Va., June 28.—[Special.]—The death here late yesterday of Mrs. Louella Beazley Smith Stirling is believed to mark the passing of the last person who saw John Wilkes Booth alive after the assassination of President Lincoln.

A few hours before his capture in the barn of her cousin, Booth rode into the yard of her father, John Pemberton Beazley, at Port Royal and asked for a drink of water. Mrs. Stirling and her governess were at the well and served the drink. Shortly afterwards the federal cavalry rode up and then the family learned the stranger was Booth.

The next morning Mrs. Stirling saw the body of Booth as it was taken to the ferry for Washington.

Neil McKellar Made New Assistant Port Collector

Neil E. McKellar of 3519 Emerald avenue, a veteran of twenty-four years in the customs service, was notified yesterday of his appointment as assistant collector of the port of Chicago. The appointment was made by Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, on recommendation of Joseph A. Ziemba, Chicago collector. Mr. McKellar succeeds Frank M. Jewell, who has been transferred to Boston.

FOUR POLICEMEN SUSPENDED IN ARREST DEATH

Policemen F. M. Herman, John Bowen, Bernard White, and Edward Brown of the Maxwell street station were suspended yesterday pending a hearing before the civil service commission on their treatment of John Robinson, a Negro, who died after being arrested by them last April 2. A coroner's jury at the time decided the death was accidental and due to injuries sustained while he was resisting arrest.

Testimony showed that Robinson was intoxicated and had assaulted a woman who complained to Policeman Bowen. Robinson was said to have fought with Bowen and then to have taken refuge in a home at 1232 Washburne avenue. In taking him from there the police are alleged to have handled him roughly.

The suspension of the policemen was said to be a move to rehear the evidence. It was asked by certain organizations which accused the policemen of wilful maltreatment of a citizen.

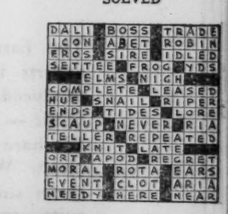
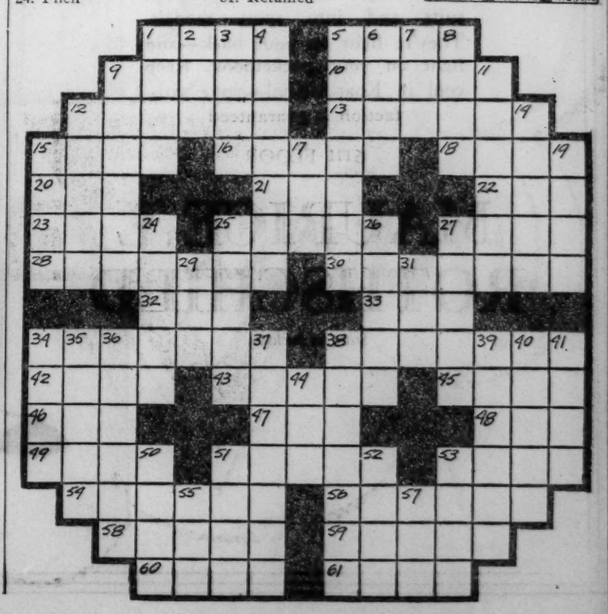
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





oh, if your Engine only could

OF COURSE, you can't leave your engine standing on its head every time you park, but you can have it OIL-PLATED. And OIL-PLATING not only goes clear up inside your engine, but stays there—for hours—weeks—months—even while the engine is right-side up at a standstill! Now why is that better?

Well, this exclusive OIL-PLATING—formed in your engine solely by patented Conoco Germ Processed oil—is always up there ready to lubricate before other oils could even begin to circulate. Therefore every start you make finds cylinders, rings, bearings and other parts self-lubricated in advance. The action of the patented Germ Process has kept them continuously charged with oil, or OIL-PLATED. They cannot "start dry," and thus you're rid of engine enemy No. 1. Good platings don't evaporate either, or lose their grip during Summer spurts. You can tell that about OIL-PLATING by noting how Conoco Germ Processed oil maintains the oil-level. Head in at Your Mileage Merchant's. Continental Oil Company

VOTE RIGHT, OR ELSE.

Aubrey Williams, the deputy administrator of the WPA under Harry Hopkins, being an openmouthed young Roosevelt ian liberal, didn't hesitate to tell representatives of the Workers' alliance that they'd better vote the WPA workers for the New Deal candidates this fall if they wanted to keep their jobs and get better pay. The Workers' alliance is in a fashion the WPA's Committee for Industrial Organization. It is the direct action group which perceives in the Works Progress administration a permanent organization in American government and economic order and proposes to use it as a political instrument for preferment and profit.

The WPA with a pay roll of 2 billion 760 thousand represents by estimate at least 5 million votes. The people on the pay rolls can be dropped from them at the discretion of local administrators or of Mr. Hopkins' general headquarters. The local administrators frequently are politicians who say that the foremen shall be dependable, if not deserving, Democrats who are to get out the vote.

In the Iowa primaries, when the New Deal tried to check Senator Gillette off its blacklist by defeating him for renomination because he voted against the court packing bill, Mr. Hopkins said the WPA workers were entirely free from political obligations and were to vote as independent citizens. Then he wrote a letter saying he hoped Iowa would nominate his friend, Congressman Otha Wearin, instead of Senator Gillette. Even a slight regard for political ethics would have restrained the country's chief public almoner from trying to influence an election involving the independence of the United States senate. Apparently young Mr. Williams, deputy under Hopkins, is too full of zeal and direct action to be patient with his chief's effort to say one thing and do another. He says that the WPA workers should vote as they're paid.

In West Virginia Senator Holt, who has been off the reservation, has complained for several years that his political rival, Senator Neely, had all the WPA money and other federal funds in the state to use against him. The peaks in federal spending are always in connection with preparation for elections. This was true in 1934 and 1936 and it is true in 1938. This year the money is now released just as the congressional campaign warms up.

It is Mr. Farley's habit in campaigning to carry with him the books which show what each state or congressional constituency has had from Washington in the way of local improvements and relief, both from the Public Works administration and from the WPA, and to emphasize not only what should be the gratitude for what had been given but also the expectation of what was to come if the vote was satisfactory. The slush funds for the three important elections upon which the New Deal has risked its political dominance in the country has been beyond anything of record in American politics. The sky has been the limit and the money has been used to defeat men who showed any independence in thought and action.

The election in November will be a critical one. The opposition to the Roosevelt revolution in the Democratic party has been strengthened in the sessions of the 75th congress and it is formidable to the radical doctrinaires in control in Washington. If the purge of the party should fail in the congressional elections and if the Republicans should gain a number of congressional seats, the idea of a third term would evaporate and with the sitting of the new congress in January the New Deal would be on its way out.

The experimentation with human needs and national welfare would be brought to a close and the country would be on its way back to its normal prosperity. People needing relief would be in no danger of being deprived of it but the number needing it would be rapidly diminished.

Mr. Williams in his slush fund speech was talking to an organization which does not desire the return to normal conduct of government or to principles of democratic economic order. Radicals regard the present arrangement merely as a springboard for a further jump into a program which substitutes the government for private enterprise. The slush fund in the name of public relief and public improvements will be used, if possible, to make these changes in the American social order permanent.

THE FOURTH AS A HOLIDAY.

There was a good deal of fun in the old Fourth of July as celebrated years ago and there also were a number of pitiful injuries, frequently inflicted on very young persons who hadn't been careful with high explosives. It seemed fitting that the republic should celebrate the day with a great deal of noise and there were regrets when the annual toll of injuries turned sentiment against the old practices.

Laws for what were called the sane Fourth were passed. It was regarded as foolish to encourage or permit youngsters to take the chance of losing their eyesight or their lives handling the explosives they loved to shoot off. In many communities the old custom has virtually passed away and sentiment is against its being renewed, although an absolute control is difficult, the sale of explosives being possible outside the limits of city ordinances.

Since the day when a Fourth of July celebration was a great deal like a Chinese New Year the means of amusement have multiplied almost beyond imagination. There are scores of ways now in which the holiday can be enjoyed and that make it much easier to do without the prohibited amusements. There are more sports, free access to the country, many places of public recreation, and the home itself, with the radio, can be almost self-contained. The automobile permits a family to go into the country, get to the water, or into the woods.

In the old days if the firecrackers, fireworks and munition for small cannons had been taken away all the people could have done would have been to attend a patriotic meeting in the public square, which wouldn't have been bad and wouldn't be today, to get up a parade or a picnic, or sit on the front porch and fan themselves. It's easy now to make the Fourth a pleasant holiday without an imitation of the battle of Gettysburg, and there are fewer persons to regret on the 5th what happened on the 4th. The old robust Fourth had its good points but they were somewhat costly.

FOR RESPONSIBLE DRIVERS.

The Illinois legislature is giving consideration to a bill intended to establish the financial responsibility of automobile drivers for damages which they may cause. The plan is not as stringent as that contained in the Massachusetts statute which requires every motorist in that state to carry liability insurance, but is a step in the same direction.

Those who drafted the Illinois bill assumed that a drivers' license law would be enacted. Under the financial responsibility bill no one in Illinois would be required at first to carry liability insurance or give other evidence of his ability to meet claims for damages; but if a driver's license is revoked for a serious offense the license may not be renewed until he has given evidence of his financial responsibility.

Similarly, if a driver, in a civil suit, has been found guilty of carelessness or has failed to pay the damages assessed against him in such a suit, his license will be taken away until he has paid the claim and provided evidence that he will pay any claim that may arise from a subsequent accident.

Possibly these provisions will result in some decrease in the number of automobiles on the streets and highways of Illinois and therefore in some loss of business to automobile dealers, garages, and filling stations, but the losses should be relatively small and the gain may be considerable. The law is drafted with a view to discouraging recklessness and irresponsibility. It is intended, also, to prevent the serious injustice which all too frequently follows an automobile accident under present conditions. Today the victim of a careless driver is doubly injured if the driver has no property and no insurance. In such circumstances the victim not only suffers the injury and loses income while in the hospital but must pay hospital and doctor bills from his own pocket.

The bill under consideration will not prevent all such injustices but it will require the motorist who has given evidence of being a reckless driver to establish his financial responsibility before he is allowed to drive again. That seems fair and reasonable. As a moderate and reasonable proposal, this bill deserves to be given a trial. If experience with it proves disappointing, it can always be repealed or modified.

A REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

Walter T. Gunn of Danville, the Republican candidate, has been elected to the seat on the Supreme court of Illinois left vacant by the death of Chief Justice Lott R. Herrick. Mr. Gunn carried eleven of the sixteen counties in central Illinois which constitute the judicial district. His majority of 15,000 over his Democratic opponent may be contrasted with the Democratic majority of 30,000 which elected Justice Herrick, a Democrat, in 1933.

This is a remarkable reversal which may well foreshadow further Republican successes in the autumn. The Republican leaders of Illinois and of the nation will be well advised to study the appeal to the voters which brought victory to Mr. Gunn despite the efforts of a tremendous political machine to defeat him.

Mr. Gunn campaigned against a bossed judiciary. The parallel between the attempt of the President to pack the Supreme court of the United States and the attempt of the Springfield machine to pack the Supreme court of Illinois was emphasized. The voters accepted the issue. The outcome of the election provides one more proof of the determination of the people of this country to preserve the independence of their judges as individuals and of the judicial branch of government from executive encroachment.

The latest of the fireside addresses from the White House indicated that the President has not abandoned his desire for a packed court and subservient judges. The address was broadcast on Friday evening. On Monday Mr. Gunn was elected. The vote may be taken as the people's reply.

Editorial of the Day

THE AIR LINE NORTH.

[The Grand Rapids Press.]

With the successful culmination of efforts to link Grand Rapids and Chicago by air line the next step for which local interests should work is the extension of the service northward. Postmaster Frank C. Jarvis is quite right in his contention that the natural route to the north is that from Chicago and Grand Rapids and he has properly urged local business and civic interests to bestir themselves to obtain its realization.

It has been reported that Detroit is attempting to establish a route to Sault Ste. Marie which would include stops at Traverse City or Petoskey. But if an impartial survey were taken we believe there would be no question but that the greater demand for service is from Chicago and Grand Rapids. The flow of resort trafic to the north is heavier on this side of the state, and from a business standpoint northwestern Michigan is traditionally in the Grand Rapids trading area.

We do not believe Grand Rapids interests will sit idly by while Detroit projects an air line that properly should stem from this terminal. The natural extension of the Chicago-Grand Rapids line to the north must be pushed to the fore with such emphasis that it cannot be ignored by officials in Washington.

In attaining this objective we should not be content to rely only on our own efforts. We should interest Chicago officials in the project. And certainly the wishes of the northern communities should not be ignored. If the north shows a decided preference for a link with Grand Rapids and Chicago—as we may confidently expect it will—that can be a powerful influence on the designation of the proposed route.

Grand Rapids' place on the air line map depends to a large extent on the activity of its own citizens in promoting its position. If we would be the junction point of both the east-west and the north-south routes we must be willing to fight for that distinction.

I do not know where "Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm" writes from in the Ozarks, but I was born and reared there and occasionally I go back. At 16 cents the dozen, how many eggs would be needed for a supply of flour, sugar, oatmeal, coffee, and tobacco? As for cows on the range I've tried that. Wait, wait, wait for the cows to come home to be milked. Mild winters? Maybe so. How many oak trees are necessary for fuel? Ever see the huge piles of wood consumed? . . . And O, the sore legs and feet I have had from chigger and tick bites—aftermath of picking berries. After her guinea is raised, how does she catch it? But I'll admit a drive through the Ozarks is beautiful.

Swing Men's Barbecue.

A big green-eyed man who runs a North State street barbecue is curiously linked with the history of jaz—and swing—in Chicago. He is Paul Mares, cornet player, to whose tiny barbecue at 935 North State nearly every swing musician in town goes after work for shop talk and barbecued spareribs, served with a sauce the formula for which Mares pried from an old cook in New Orleans, his native city.

* * *

Jaz—or swing—originated in New Orleans, it is generally agreed, and Paul Mares grew up with it. He learned to play the cornet, and abandoning the family fur business, planned a musical career. The first jaz band heard up north was the "Original Dixie Land Jass Band," a five piece outfit (white) that came up to Chicago from New Orleans about 1917, and went on to phenomenal success in New York and London. Later many bands, both colored and white, came to Chicago, most of them by Mississippi river boat, and Chicago became the center of the new trend in music. Paul Mares and George Brunies, trombonist now playing in New York, arrived and were joined by Leon Rappolo, who came up the river with a vaudeville team. (Rappolo, one of the great clarinetists, went mad in 1925.) Here they met Jack Pettis—the first real tenor saxophonist, experts say—and Elmer Schoebel, pianist and composer. They formed the Friars Society orchestra, later the New Orleans Rhythm Kings. It had great success, particularly with its own tunes of which Mares was co-composer. Bugle Call Rag, Milenberg Joys, Panama, Tin Roof Blues, and Farewell Blues were some of them, and they have been recorded by all the big orchestras such as Whiteman, Goodman, and Dorsey. The New Orleans Rhythm Kings recorded for the Gannett company of Richmond, Ind., and Decca recently has reissued their discs for sale in England. All the young musicians in town, including Bix Beiderbecke, Edwin M. ("Squirrel") Ashcraft III., and Bud Freeman (now with Goodman) used to hang around the band as much as possible.

* * *

The New Orleans Rhythm Kings broke up in about 1923, and the musicians scattered, some going to Jean Goldkette's, some to lead their own bands. It was the day of the heavily orchestrated bands. Paul Mares, essentially a blues player, was at his best at improvisation, and not attuned to a highly organized band. His last successful band was at Harry's New York bar several years ago, and included Jess Stacey, now Goodman's pianist; George Wettling, now Norvo's drummer; Boyce Brown, and others then unknown. Last year he started his barbecue, to which his fellow musicians flock after hours.

ATROPINE IN SHAKING PALSY.

THE disease named for James Parkinson, shaking palsy or paralysis agitans, presents an unhappy picture—an expressionless face and muscles which at times refuse to behave. Although the arms and the hands usually are affected first with what has been described as "pill rolling" movements, nevertheless the legs, head, lower jaw, or even the eyelids may become involved.

There is reason to believe that physicians are encountering more cases than were observed a generation ago. The explanation appears to be that encephalitis—that strange ailment which is often referred to as sleeping sickness—has occurred in this country in epidemic form and recovered patients may develop Parkinson's disease as an aftermath. It is well known that some disorders of the nervous system may so damage certain structures as to lead to the onset of this malady.

Much study, in an effort to provide relief, has been directed toward shaking palsy. At the beginning the general health must be brought to the highest point of efficiency. This is common sense, because we know how much nerve tissue relies upon good circulation and good nutrition. Excitement and periods of stress need to be shunned, and massage and exercise are prescribed to keep the muscles in good tone.

Within the last few years research workers have published reports on the merit of various drugs, such as atropine and stramonium. One or the other, or both in combination, have been recommended and, in many instances, not only have provided comfort but have brought about a marked amelioration of symptoms.

A recent article by S. P. Jewett and others advocates large doses of atropine. All told, 47 cases were studied, in 38 of which the trouble came on following encephalitis. The solution employed was ½ per cent atropine sulfate prepared fresh every other day. The beginning prescription was one drop three times daily, which was then increased by one drop every second day. All the patients were under control, so that not a dose was omitted unless annoying reactions were experienced.

Jewett observed that dryness of the mouth was noted by every one, but in his opinion this was no indication for stopping the medicine. It was found that by chewing gum or sucking lemon drops the flow of saliva could be stimulated. A few complained of an occasional attack of dizziness and lightheadedness, while others mentioned fatigue accompanied by a "dopey" feeling. All these signs disappeared within two or three days, provided the quantity of atropine was held stationary for the time being. Of course, as we would expect with sizable amounts of the drug, there was considerable flushing of the face, especially early in the day.

Each sufferer presented an individual problem, and no set program could be established for all. The whole matter resolved itself into ascertaining the maximum dosage which the individual could take. This level was continued for several days and then reduced slowly to the point at which symptoms were held in check. The whole plan requires the most careful and critical management if results are to be secured, and hospital care is desirable during the period in which the drug is being regulated.

But what is the value of this seemingly tedious régime? The authors cited consider that the most dramatic assistance occurred in speech. These victims had great difficulty with articulation; in fact, words were so mumbled, syllables run together, that conversation was practically impossible. This manifestation vanished entirely with many, although a few exhibited some impairment occasionally. Muscle rigidity was controled to a degree of comfort and many more so far restored as to engage in useful work.

HIS LITTLE SECRET.

L. T. writes: One of my children bites every one he sees. What can I do to make him stop?

REPLY.

This may be a method used by the child to attract attention. Correct him firmly, but without exhibiting anger. Try to find out why he wishes to bite.

BETTER BE EXAMINED.

S. M. writes: Is frequent urination a serious condition?

REPLY.

It may or may not be. A thorough check up by a physician probably will disclose the nature of the trouble. We have a leaflet on this condition, which you can get by sending a stamped, addressed envelope.

IT'S COMMON COMPLAINT.

N. D. writes: When I am driving at night the lights from oncoming cars blind me. Can this condition be overcome?

REPLY.

All night drivers have the same trouble. Colored celluloid or glass visors may help.

X-RAY USE ADVISED.

S. R. writes: I have just learned that my baby, 5 months old, has an enlarged thymus gland. Is this dangerous?

REPLY.

It may not be, but, again, X-ray treatments are advised. Only one or two exposures are required.

NONFUNCTIONING TISSUE.

R. D. writes: Please explain scar tissue around the heart.

REPLY.

Scar tissue is the fibrous material that replaces the normal cells destroyed by disease. It has no power to function, being merely a "filler."

HELP IN PICTURE TAKING.

C. C. writes: What is the purpose of taking certain fluids before being X-rayed?

REPLY.

GALL BLADDER LEAFLET.

L. A. writes: Do you distribute leaflets on gall bladder infection?

REPLY.

Yes, send a stamped, addressed envelope for this material.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY KEMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO.—The Japanese people are turning more and more to birth control to solve their population problem. Although the government strongly discourages such practices it now permits newspapers and magazines to pulish articles on the subject and to accept advertisments on contraceptives.

Women's magazines today are filled with such advertisments, many of them extremely crude, and it is commonly known that birth control is widely practiced among the middle and upper classes.

The population of Japan, which was slightly more than 99,000,000 at the end of 1937, has been increasing at the rate of about a million each year. There recently has been a decrease in the rate of increase largely, it is believed, because of the practice of birth control.

Japanese experts on the population problem are convinced that the rate of increase in births will continue to decline although the population will naturally continue increasing for about twenty-five years. They point out that although the number of women of child bearing age has been increasing each year, these women are giving birth to fewer children. Also the age at which girls marry, which was between 15 and 19 years a generation ago, has risen to be tween 19 and 24 at present. The number of marriages also is declining From 9.76 per 1,000 in 1920 it dropped to 8.01 in 1935. Last year, because of the China hostilities, this ratio is estimated to have dropped to 7.

Birth control is not a new thing in Japan. It was practiced universally in feudal times. The Japanese started taking a national census as far back as 1726. The population in that year was 26,548,998. In the next 120 years it had increased by less than 400,000 and was 26,907,625 in 1846. These figures are particularly reliable as the Japanese feudal dictators had an extremely efficient system of keeping track of their people.

People in all classes practically were forced to resort to preventive measures in the 18th century because of the extremely exhausted condition of the samurai and farmers. In those days women were even taught to consider it a shame to bear many children.

If a girl was born she was often given the name of "Otome" or Miss Stop, or "Osue," which means Miss Last One. If the child happened to be a boy it was frequently named "Tomekichi," meaning Master Let This Be the Last One, or "Sutematsu," meaning Master, Aw Shucks! People were laughed at if they had more than three children.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

INVESTMENT FUND.

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A widow with children, whose husband died in 1934, was left enough insurance to provide for her and the children. However, the insurance representative persuaded her to leave the money with the company in the form of annuity and paid up policy. As she believed in him implicitly she sought no other advice, although this company proved to be in a poor condition even then. Now it is in court for the purpose of showing cause why it should not be in receivership and the showing is pretty bad. Is there any recourse for the widow against the insurance company to regain her money as long as she was misguided by this representative, who by the way is a stockholder and director of said insurance company? Her annuity payments have stopped and she is in need of money.

J. B. B.

The mere fact that his advice has proved mistaken would not be a basis for legal recovery against him, but the circumstances are suspicious enough so that it might be worth the woman's while to go over her facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROPERTY DIVISION.

Chicago, June 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A man and wife made a mutual will to the effect that the surviving party shall take possession of property belonging to both of them to manage same as he or she sees fit. And when the second party dies then that which is left shall be divided between the children according to law. Does this mean that the surviving party has no right to make a new will? D. N.

Offhand we would say that "what is left" would mean what the deceased owned at the time of his death, and this would mean that his will would be ineffective, but we cannot give advice of much value without having the exact wording of the first will before us.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MORTGAGE NOTE.

Chicago, June 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I hold a mortgage note payable on demand. Said note is dated May 24, 1937, with interest at 5 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually. This note is secured by a mortgage on an airplane which is recorded with the town clerk and also the department of commerce in Washington. No interest or payment has been made on the principal to date. What procedure is necessary to foreclose and how long should it take?

C. L. R.

We see no reason why the foreclosure should not be handled like any other chattel mortgage foreclosure. Ordinarily the chattel mortgage itself contains wording as to the method of sale, etc.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MECHANIC'S LIEN.

Chicago, June 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own a mortgage of $5,000 on some real estate not in default. The owner of this property lately built a garage and made other improvements amounting to $400, which money he borrowed from a finance company. I want to find out if this loan has preference over the first mortgage or has it only the right of second mortgage? What will happen in case of foreclosure of first mortgage? A. H.

A mechanic's lien for subsequent improvements might have priority over the mortgage with respect to enhancement in value due to the improvement, but otherwise not.

CHICAGO'S NO TREAT TO HIM.

Chicago, June 26. — Herewith some casual observations of your city by a very casual observer from Miami, Fla. If you please:

The inadequate number of policemen on beat. Plenty of the whistle-tooting variety, however.

The ramshackle vehicles that cruise the streets in the guise of taxicabs. And the surliest drivers, too.

A terrible transportation system! Even with the high fares charged, Chicago's trolley, bus, and "L" systems are far behind New York in efficiency.

Boasting such a wonderful park area, how about a few benches for the public? All those in use now seem to be for the exclusive convenience of vagrants and professional panhandlers.

Last of my complaints, but not least, is the sales tax. Quite necessary, I agree, but why on food?

SAM GRAPMAN.

P. S.: If I'm in good spirits tomorrow I'll let you in on your good points . . . honestly!

SHE DID MAKE A PROTEST.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 23.—The Los Angeles Times reprints an editorial from THE TRIBUNE of June 19. Among other statements I note the following, purported to have come from your paper:

"None of the persons who might conceivably have been injured is known to have made any protest to the court or to the newspaper, although they had every reason for doing so if aggrieved."

For your information I will say that under date of April 20 I wrote a three page, single spaced, typewritten letter to the Los Angeles Times in which I vigorously objected to the statements which their editorial department had made in respect to me, and for your further information I will say that the Los Angeles Times replied to this letter editorially some days later. The first editorial appeared before sentence was pronounced upon me [as a bribe seeker] by the trial judge. I do not have the date of the second editorial before me and I am therefore not sure whether it appeared before sentence was pronounced or not.

HELEN M. WERNER.

WHO WILL PAY FOR THE TRIP?

Cincinnati, O., June 25.—In his radio speech last night Mr. Roosevelt differentiated very sharply between himself as President and himself as "head of the Democratic party."

Since he heaped sarcasm on the corporate executive who may have used the stockholders' postage to advise them of his opinions as to the bearing of certain laws on the course of the business of their company—indicating this to be a dishonest use of "other people's money"—it will be interesting to observe whether the expenses of Mr. Roosevelt's proposed early barnstorming cross-country political campaign trip are paid by the federal taxpayer, or, may we hope, by the Democratic party?

JAMES D. STEWART.

CHALK-MARKS HER GARAGE.

Chicago, June 24.—This morning a bearded man appeared at my back door canvassing. Not proposing to be interrupted in my household duties, I called to him, "Nothing!"

As he left the yard, not closing the gate, he turned and started writing on garage so that when I come around louder, "Why are you mutilating my property?"

He answered, "I'm marking the garage, so that when I come around again I won't bother you."

I am in the South Shore district, where canvassers operate with colored chalk as a guide to their future movements.

ANNA M. CORCORAN.

A LIFE SAVING MEASURE.

Chicago, June 25.—I am sending the following letter to all members of the legislature in Springfield:

"Being a voter and taxpayer, I have watched with interest the drivers' license bill which has been up for passage quite a few times.

"We, the people of the state of Illinois, are not interested in to whom the patronage goes, but we are interested in saving the lives of thousands of people.

"Please act promptly and pass this life saving measure." T. C. CRENSHAW.

CROWS AGAIN.

Chicago, June 25.—Your correspondent, Frances H. Moore, should have remained on the farm a little longer and made a more careful study of the habits of crows.

I recall all too clearly replanting a field of corn three times one spring as a result of the crows' attention to it. I have seen crows, many times, hop methodically down a row of corn, the plants of which were two or three inches high, and pull up the stalks to get at the remainder of the seed kernels. Those crows certainly knew the difference between a stalk of corn and a blade of grass. They wasted no time on grass.

The crow is a meat eater, too. While he may pick up a few cutworms and grubs, such fare is merely casual with him. He much prefers young chickens, young rabbits, baby songbirds, and young squirrels. Any farmer who depends on crows to keep down such pests as cutworms and grasshoppers will certainly be out of luck. A few coveys of quail are worth more for this purpose than all the crows in the state; but the crow is the worst enemy the quail has to contend with. When good Farmer Moore thought crows were industriously hunting bugs on his farm it's ten to one they were looking for quail nests. The same goes for meadow larks, robins, song sparrows, and all the other birds that bless a farmer's acres—the villain crow is the enemy of them all. He steals their eggs and devours their young. The only good thing I know about the crow is his readiness to "gang up" on hawks and owls. But even so, I never knew of any case where crows succeeded in driving these pests out of a territory.

Get rid of crows; then the other birds that really do live on destructive insects will multiply much faster.

ASKS SEVERAL "WHY NOTS?"

Chicago, June 24.—Why does your correspondent, N. H., pick on the milk wagon drivers? If a cut of their wages would bring down the price of milk to you, why not cut the street car men and get a 5 cent fare; the bakers and get a 5 cent loaf of bread; the building trades and get cheaper rent? Cut wages of the mail carriers and all federal employés to help balance the budget; the city police and firemen to supply relief funds? After all, they work only eight hours a day. Cut the wages of clothing manufacturers, coal dealers, anything and everything depending on human labor? Let's cut them all if low prices depend on low wages. The days of slavery are supposed to be over, but there still remain a few people who favor those days.

MRS. CHARLES PATE.

IDENTIFICATION.

Chicago, June 25.—The latest train disaster of this week brings a suggestion to my mind. We all know of identification cards; most of us carry them. This is all right for daytime, but when a person retires the card is with the clothes. In case of a wreck or other mishap identification is often impossible.

Why not use a light metal tag, either with the person's name and address, or a number registered at the time of purchasing the ticket—the tag to be on an elastic ring or "spring" bracelet? This would be slipped on the wrist or ankle at the time of retiring. In daytime this identification tag could be carried in the pocket or purse.

With such a tag identification would be easier at a time of disaster.

2 ARE DIVORCED TO MAKE THEIR MARRIAGE LEGAL

False Death Reports Lead Couple Into Bigamy.

Ten years ago John Paul Leafgreen and his wife, Blanche, separated after little more than a month of married life. Later each remarried and reared children in the belief the other was dead.

Each unaware of the other's existence, their lives moved smoothly. Leafgreen remarried and moved to Lockridge, Ia., where a son was born. Mrs. Leafgreen married Raymond Schulz of 819 North Avers avenue. They had three children.

Then last February Mrs. Leafgreen Schulz filed suit for divorce from Schulz on the ground of cruelty. She told her attorney, Hugh R. Porter, of her previous marriage. As a routine matter he investigated and could find no record of the death of Leafgreen.

Finds Husband In Iowa.

He persisted in his investigation and finally found that Leafgreen lived in Iowa. Both Leafgreen and Mrs. Schulz were stunned at the result. This was the strange story told Judge William V. Brothers yesterday by Mrs. Schulz:

"After my husband and I separated in 1928 I filed suit for divorce. Several months later I received a letter from John's mother, who said he was dead. So I dropped my divorce suit and on May 26, 1930, married Schulz."

Attorney Porter explained that Leafgreen, too, had been informed that his wife had died. He had received a notice of her divorce suit, but when there was no further word of the action he presumed the report of her death to be true.

"It is unfortunate that both of you have been living bigamously," Judge Brothers said. "Fortunately a benevolent law passed recently in Illinois protects children and gives them a name in such a marriage."

Then the judge turned to Schulz and his wife.

Gives Divorce to Husband.

"You both say you love each other," he continued. "How fine it would be if there was a reconciliation and you remarried, especially for your children.

"I am going to give you, Mr. Schulz, a divorce, as there is nothing else for me to do, but I am going to give custody of the children to their mother. That will be an incentive for you to remarry."

Judge Brothers instructed Mrs. Schulz to obtain an immediate divorce from Leafgreen. "Then I want you and Mr. Schulz to come back to my courtroom so I personally can remarry you."

Seek Indictments Against Jail Breaking Safe Cracker

State's Attorney Charles E. Mason of Lake county announced a special session of the grand jury today to obtain burglary indictments against Theodore Carty, who made good his boast that the Waukegan city jail was a cracker box by escaping from it. Carty held on burglary charges fled the jail two weeks ago, but was captured in Montgomery City, Mo. He is to be indicted as an habitual criminal, Mason said. Missouri officials hope to convict him of burglaries there.

MRS. JEAN O'CONNOR.

The gentleman who was having his finger nails manicured Monday in a beauty parlor at 4819 Diversey avenue will have to wait until July 11 to find out why this simple "sissy" action annoyed Mrs. Jean O'Connor and Mrs. Anna Schwald so much that they tossed a stone right through the window in protest. Mrs. O'Connor, 2062 North Lockwood avenue, and Mrs. Schwald, 2531 North Parkside avenue, were in Felony court yesterday to try to explain, but the case was continued to that date.

CHALLENGE 235 VOTES IN RECOUNT SOUGHT BY RYAN

The board of election commissioners today will complete its recount of the Democratic primary votes cast in 51 precincts of the 13th senatorial district for State Representative John G. Ryan, who was a candidate for renomination, and Adam S. Mioduski, his opponent. In the original count the latter was winner by 140 votes, but Ryan is contesting the result before Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski.

A total of 35 precincts had been counted last evening, according to John S. Rusch, chief clerk for the election board. In these, 80 ballots were challenged by Ryan's representatives and will be submitted to Judge Klarkowski. The voters were able to cast 3 votes, 1½ votes, or 1 vote for the candidates, depending upon how they split their tickets, and the challenged ballots represent approximately 235 votes, it was explained.

5,000 Infants Under 5 Take Out Old Age Pension Cards

Washington D. C., June 28.—(AP)—The social security board estimated today that 5,000 children—from babes-in-arms to youngsters 5 years old—have acquired old age insurance cards. Many of them are infant film actors, but the majority are advertising models.

ST. VIATOR, FACING FORECLOSURE, WILL NOT REOPEN

Faced with foreclosure of a $320,000 mortgage, 70 year old St. Viator college at Bourbonnais, Ill., will not open this fall.

Announcement was made by Attorney Lowell A. Lawson, head of an emergency alumni committee. Plans for the ultimate continuance of the school are being considered, he added, but nothing definite has been decided.

Walter H. Eckert, attorney representing the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, holder of the mortgage on buildings and grounds, said principal and interest payments had been in default since May 1, 1931.

The school, founded in 1868 by Father Marsile and two other French-Canadian priests, had an enrollment of 325 students last year and graduated 18 this month. Although a majority of the curriculum was devoted to arts and sciences, the college also trained students for the priesthood. Bishop Bernard J. Sheil of the Catholic diocese of Chicago and seven other bishops are former students.

STRIKERS STOP RAIL CAR, THROW SELVES ON TRACK

Led by Oakley Mills, C. I. O. leader, sympathizers and strikers at the North Chicago plant of the Chicago Hardware Foundry company prevented delivery of an empty freight car at the plant yesterday by throwing themselves on the spur tracks of the Chicago and North Western railway.

Strikers charged the company was attempting to move its tools and equipment. This was denied by plant officials who said the freight car was needed to deliver an order. The plant has been closed since June 6.

Five Get Prison Sentences for Passing Bogus Money

Five men charged with passing 95 counterfeit $10 bills in Chicago during the last few months were sentenced to prison yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in federal court. Thirty month sentences were imposed Antonio Moccerino, 523 South Halsted street; Harry Foreman, 1632 Belmont avenue, and his brother, Joseph, 2124 Lincoln avenue. Sentences of a year and a day each were ordered for Frank Adams, 2442 Van Buren street, and Philip Cannizzaro, 2024 Ogden avenue.

CULTIST QUIZZED ON 2 WIVES AND A LOADED PISTOL

George A. Allen, 48 years old, a physical culturist, was being questioned yesterday by police about his two wives, one of whom caused his arrest Monday night. She is Mrs. Linnea Shaden Allen of Mundelein. She became suspicious because of her husband's long absences from home and upon investigation learned about Mrs. Helen Allen of 636 Arlington place, who says she was married to him in 1924. Mrs. Linnea Allen was married in 1935 at Crown Point. Allen also had a loaded revolver.

COVERED WAGON PAGEANT TROUPE ARRIVES IN CITY

$1 a Day Student Actors Give Show Tonight.

Thirty-six college students who are touring the country under government sponsorship with a pageant representing the settlement of the Northwest territory, arrived in Chicago yesterday and pitched camp on Stagg field at the University of Chicago.

Their show will be presented in the 124th Field Artillery armory in Washington park this evening and again tomorrow afternoon.

On the Road Seven Months.

The young troupers have been on the road seven months. Among the properties they carry are a yoke of oxen, three horses, a dog, and a Conestoga wagon, as well as authentic costumes of the Lewis and Clark days. They travel by truck from town to town, but always unload and march on foot to give the townfolk a real idea of what life was like 150 years ago.

Although they are paid only $1 a day and their food and lodging, the actors take their rôles seriously. Most of them have turned out long beards such as the pioneers sprouted as they marched across the prairies.

States Provide Free Transport.

Each state through which they have passed has furnished transportation for the troupe. They expect to have more difficulty next week, when they cross into Wisconsin. That state can furnish only trucks belonging to counties, and the equipment must be loaded and unloaded at each county line.

NURSES DEFEND HOSPITAL FROM BOARD CHARGES

Nurses and attendants of the West Side hospital, 1844 Harrison street, defended the condition of the hospital yesterday in a hearing of the injunction suit to compel city health authorities to permit its reopening.

The hospital was closed June 16 for violation of health regulations. On instructions of Judge John Prystalski, health board attorneys presented a new list of thirty-two alleged faults at the hospital. Attorney William H. Noble charged the list is unfair and is further evidence of the health board's "determination to exterminate the hospital."

City health authorities said the list contained what they termed several new major health hazards based on a three day inspection of the hospital last week. These included lack of proper ventilation in nine corridors, discharge of waste onto the basement floor, and improper hand washing facilities.

SEIZE 25 U. S. SEAMEN AFTER STRIKE ON SHIP

Philadelphia, Pa., June 28.—(AP)—United States marshals tonight took twenty-five striking seamen off the steamship Sagebrush and they were held for federal grand jury action on charges of "conspiracy to mutiny."

Over the protests of counsel for the National Maritime union [C. I. O.], United States attorneys insisted the charge was correct because the men disobeyed their officers by refusing to work.

Attorneys Philip Dorfman and William Standard for the union contended the men could not be held for conspiracy to mutiny because the ship was not on the high seas and the men did not "in effect take possession of the ship, as the officers were on board."

Training Ship

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—With a roar of gunfire the Brazilian training ship, Almirante Saldanha, with 379 officers and men aboard, was welcomed to Washington today. As the fourmasted barkentine sailed past Hains Point she opened fire with a national salute of twenty-one guns and a salute of thirteen guns for the commandant of the navy yard. A shore battery at the navy yard answered the salutes, gun for gun. After the ship was made fast her chief, Commander Washington Perry de Almeida, paid courtesy calls on Rear Admiral George T. Pettengill, commandant of the navy yard, and other officials.

BLACK REPEATS HIS REFUSAL OF HOSPITAL POST

Dr. Benjamin W. Black of Oakland, Cal., sent a telegram to President Clayton Smith of the county board yesterday repeating his refusal to accept the post of warden of the Cook County hospital.

His refusal was based on the action yesterday of the Alameda county, California, board of supervisors yesterday in refusing him a year's leave of absence from his post as medical director of the county to come to Chicago. William J. Hamilton, chairman of the supervisors, also wired Smith, expressing regret that the board could not grant the Cook county board's request that such a leave be granted.

Smith expressed his regret at the failure to employ Dr. Black, who was highly recommended by the board's advisory council on hospital affairs. The committee will be asked immediately to recommend another candidate, he said.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 28.—Wing Commander Frederick William Stent, who led the air raids for Lawrence of Arabia and was mentioned in "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," the latter's book describing his activities among the Arabs during the world war, was killed today when his plane crashed in Harefield, Middlesex. He had arranged to fly a new type of civilian plane in the Kings cup race Saturday for Phillips and Powis, Ltd., for which he was test pilot.

CLOUDS DRAPE PEAK; SLOW UP HUNT FOR YOUTH

Albuquerque, N. M., June 28.—(AP)—Lowering clouds which draped the heights of Sandia peak in an impenetrable gray mantle today slowed materially a lagging search for Medill McCormick, 21 years old, missing six days on a mountain climbing expedition.

An air of pessimism, almost of hopelessness, pervaded the field camp at the foot of the mile high peak where the body of young Richard Whitmer, McCormick's climbing companion, was found on the rocks five days ago.

Indomitable in her purpose to find her son's body, Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms kept searching crews on the job. National Guardsmen and state police were absent today.

Surveyors equipped with transits plotted off sections on the side of the peak, each section being assigned to a crew of searchers. As it was checked and rechecked, it was marked off in green crayon on a forest service topography map at the base camp. As searching crews went over the mountain red flags were left behind to indicate sections which had been checked.

UPHOLD $12,500 HEART BALM FOR UNWED MOTHER

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday upheld the ruling of the Appellate court in awarding a judgment of $12,500 to Miss Helen Witton, social secretary, in her breach of promise suit against Edwin J. Nelson, 1668 West 92d place, a Beverly Hills real estate dealer. Miss Witton, through her attorney, Harry Ditchburne, charged that Nelson, father of her child, had promised to marry her but wed another girl. A jury a year ago awarded Miss Witton a judgment of $17,500 but it was reduced by the Appellate court. Miss Witton who lives at 1745 West 94th street, was social secretary to Mrs. Gustave F. Swift and Mrs. John Pillsbury of Minneapolis, Minn.

SURVIVING BANDIT IS IDENTIFIED AS HIGHWAY KILLER

Two Witnesses Say He Fired Fatal Shots.

Two witnesses yesterday identified Orelle Easton, North Dakota outlaw, as the actual slayer of Ray Dixon, Indiana highway patrolman. They told how Easton fired one shot at Dixon Sunday night from the seat of a stolen automobile in which he was sitting. Then, after the policeman had dodged behind his own automobile and slumped to the ground, Easton followed him and fired two more shots into his body, they said.

Easton and his brother kidnaped two deputy sheriffs and fled from the scene of the shooting. More than a hundred Illinois and Indiana state and local officers, directed by two-way radio, set up a highway blockade and cornered the fugitives Monday morning on a farm near Deselm, in Kankakee county. There Orelle Easton was wounded and captured and his brother, Clarence, was killed. Dixon died in a La Porte hospital a few hours later.

Identifications Made in Jail.

The identifications were made in the Kankakee county jail by Walter Sanders of Michigan City and R. J. Hennings of South Bend, who witnessed the shooting. Their stories were regarded as damaging Orelle Easton's assertion that his brother, afterward slain, did all the shooting in the encounter with Dixon.

Sanders, a short time before the shooting, had been involved in a minor trafic accident outside La Porte. Dixon had taken him in custody and was driving him into the city when they stopped beside the Easton brothers' stalled car, and Dixon got out to offer aid. Hennings, photographer for a South Bend newspaper, also was riding with Dixon.

Judge Calls Grand Jury.

Easton refused yesterday to waive extradition to Indiana. He asked for an attorney and Len Small, grandson of the late governor of Illinois, took his case. It was on Small's advice that he refused to go voluntarily to Indiana.

Judge Russell W. Smith of the La Porte county Superior court yesterday ordered a grand jury to meet at Michigan City today. Storen said that an indictment charging Easton with murder will be sought immediately, and that Gov. Clifford M. Townsend of Indiana will then be asked to issue an extradition request to Gov. Horner of Illinois.

2 HUNTED AFTER BRUTAL ASSAULT ON GROCER CHIEF

A former official of the waiters' union and a man once connected with a laundry association and indicted as a racketeer were sought for questioning yesterday by state's attorney's police following a brutal assault on Paul Poulos, 41 years old, 4874 North Mason avenue. Poulos, a commission merchant and head of an organization of 184 Greek grocers and butchers, was shot in the right knee and beaten with a baseball bat.

The assault occurred as Poulos was leaving his home earlier in the day. His assailants asked his name, then one of them fired a shotgun at him when he refused to tell where he was going. They robbed him of $50.

Capt. Herbert Burns of the Jefferson Park station said he had police squads circling around Poulos' home every morning and evening at about the time of his departure and return for the last few months. Poulos left a little earlier than usual yesterday, he said, without any notice to the police.

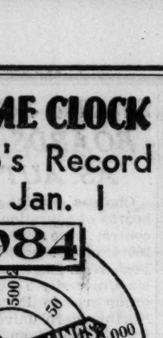
FIREBUG TRAPPED AS HE SETS FIFTH BLAZE IN ONE DAY

As he was setting a match to his fifth garage fire in six hours on the south side Steve Litviak, 25 years old, of 5033 South Wood street, was arrested last night by Fire Chief Harry Scheckel of the 25th battalion.



Steve Litviak.

In an effort to trap the pyromaniac Chicago Lawn police squads and firemen circulated through the neighborhood telling children to be on the alert. At 9:30 o'clock Bernard Waters, 5751 South Wolcott avenue, and Robert Balance, 1817 West 58th street, both 14 years old, told Chief Scheckel that a suspicious man was in the rear of 1803 West 58th street.

Turning out the lights of their car, Chief Scheckel and his chauffeur, Valentine Delles, approached the garage, watched Litviak place a carton of papers, and, as he struck a match, seized him. The four other fires he set yesterday were at 5621 South Hermitage avenue, 5629 South Ashland avenue, 5630 South Justine street, and 5736 South Honore street.

Litviak confessed setting nearly fifteen other fires since Jan. 1, saying he got the urge whenever he overate. Last week in the same neighborhood a policeman trapped another firebug.

MANUFACTURER'S SON ARRAIGNED IN MYSTERY KILLING

Northampton, Mass., June 28.—[Special.]—J. Paul Bathelt, 25 years old, son of a Holyoke manufacturer, was arraigned in District court here today on a charge of murdering Charles Morris, 50 years old, missing race track follower, last seen in Agawam a year ago. His trial was set for Oct. 17.

J. Paul Bathelt.

A cement encased body recovered last week from the Connecticut river at South Hadley, Mass., has been identified tentatively as that of Morris. Police believe the body had been kept in a shore cottage for a time and later tossed into the river.

In New York, where Bathelt lived, his wife said she and her husband looked at several cottages around South Hadley last year when they were on their honeymoon. Mrs. Bathelt last March accused her husband of stealing four pieces of jewelry valued at $1,350.

THREE BROTHERS SEIZED IN $30,000 SALES TAX FRAUD

Owners of Food Store Chain Face Charges.

Investigators for the state's attorney's office, who are conducting a vigorous campaign against sales tax cheaters, yesterday arrested three brothers, owners of a chain of food stores, and charged them with fraudulently evading payment of $30,000 to the state.

The men are John and Christ Marlas of 7843 South Wolcott street and Gust Marlas, 8249 Drexel avenue. They own the Victory Grocery company at 6323 South Ashland avenue, a wholesale unit; the Thoro Fair Food mart at the same address; the South Town mart at 7814 South Halsted street, and the Marlas Foods, Inc., at 719 East 79th street.

Fraudulent Reports Charged.

Assistant State's Attorney Thomas J. Bugan and Investigator Gus Bartels said that they had evidence to show the firm had given fraudulent reports on its sales from July, 1933, until the present. They added that the brothers had admitted being short thousands of dollars.

"Accounts were juggled between the wholesale unit and the three retail outlets," said Bugan. "Many items sold at retail were carried as having been sold wholesale. In the South Town mart there was also a dummy cash register. The Marlas brothers have admitted that they used this in figuring the rent they had to pay on a percentage of business done, as well as the sales tax."

He added that all liquor sales by the Marlas stores were considered wholesale and paid no tax and that John Marlas as an individual turned over $1,000 a week to the Victory firm, although this sum was always derived from sales in the retail stores.

Petrak Books Audited.

An audit of the books of the meat market chain of Edward F. Petrak and James J. Petrak, who were arrested Friday, showed that they owe the state $43,839 in taxes and $2,416 in penalties, or a total of $46,255.

The investigators said the Petraks had admitted a conspiracy with Joseph Murray, a former employé of the state department of finance, to doctor their books and pay the state only about one-tenth of the tax actually owed. Herbert Bachman, a pickle salesman and bookkeeper, was also involved in the plot.

Bugan said that 185 other firms, whose shortages of tax run from $10,000 to $50,000, are being investigated and that more arrests are expected soon.

EVANSVILLE MAY DECIDE UPON TAX TO RUN COLLEGE

Gifts Too Scattered to Meet Growing Needs.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Evansville, Ind., June 28.—[Special.]—Evansville college, which has become an important factor in this community since 1917, when it moved here and was renamed from old Moores Hill college in eastern Indiana, now faces the question of whether to remain an independent church-related college under the Indiana Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, or become an entirely secular, tax-supported municipal institution.

Committees of trustees, selected in part by the Indiana conference and in part by the Evansville Chamber of Commerce, are at work on the problem, which largely is a question of meeting the financial needs of the development already begun.

More than $2,000,000 has been given the college since it was established here, and it is supported largely by the Evansville Community Fund, but the income is not sufficient. A recent survey of gift prospects indicated that the future could not be built in this direction.

70 Acres in Campus.

The college has a fine 70 acre campus near the edge of the city. Its only building of importance, however, is the administration building, which houses class rooms, laboratories, library, and other major activities. There is a fine home for President F. Marion Smith, but no dormitories. The 398 students in the regular college are mostly Evansville residents.

The enrollment has increased in recent years, and the curriculums have been changed to meet modern conditions. That there is a need for the institution is shown by the movement to have the city take it over on a tax instead of a gift basis.

Offers Christian Approach.

The present educational objectives of the college, which necessarily would be altered greatly under legislative and municipal control, are set forth as follows:

"The supreme complications today and the supreme adjustments that need to be made are not mechanical; they are human, social, economic, and spiritual. Civilization needs the mechanically and intellectually trained. It also needs the spiritually equipped.

"The supreme need of our time is for leadership to guide into wise use the leisure which technological development has made and to direct the new, illimitable material forces into constructive human betterment.

"In all its work a primary aim of the college is to interpret the Christian ideals of social justice and to make vital the Christian spirit of service in the lives of students.

"Therefore, Evansville college offers no apology for making a definitly Christian approach to the personal and social problems of the present. It attempts to undertake the whole task of education with the point of view that the theistic and spiritual interpretation of life is the most scientific approaeh to knowledge and that the philosophy of Jesus contains the essential basis for the integrity and reality of modern learning."

Follows Chicago Plan.

Last year, in a reorganization of the educational plan and curriculum, the college was divided in lower and upper divisions, each two years in length, with the awarding of "Associate in Arts" after the successful completion of the first two years of work. This follows in a general way the Chicago plan, which places degree students in major fields of concentration for junior and senior work.

"The college recognizes," said President Smith, "the need for increasing correlation of the work of the student at all levels with the life of the community, and it recognizes through certain requirements, especially in the lower division, a constant need for preparation for life activities and enjoyment in such major areas as the vocational, the domestic, the civil, the religious, the physical and recreational, and the broadly cultural."

There are three divisions and twelve departments in the college. Business administration is a rapidly growing course, conducted in coöperation with the business interests of the city. Preprofessional courses are offered in medicine, law, teaching, engineering, business and secretarial training, and in music. The programs of study are well integrated.

28 ARE FREED ON CHARGES OF RUM SALES TO MINORS

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said last night he would inquire today into the dismissal in South State Street court yesterday charges of selling liquor to minors against twenty-eight tavern owners and bartenders.

The defendants were dismissed by Judge Eugene Holland when police failed to bring the minors to whom the sales were made into court as witnesses. The judge ruled with defense attorneys that the testimony of policemen without the corrobation of the complaining witnesses was not sufficient for conviction.

Corporation Counsel Hodes said he was particularly interested in learning why police did not bring the youths into court and why the city attorney assigned to the court did not ask for sufficient delay for police to do so. In court Judge Holland announced that with sufficient evidence to warant conviction he would impose the maximum penalty of a $100 fine for each charge.

Four men accused of taking more than 50 slot machines from taverns and looting the machines of cash were being questioned last night at the state's attorney's office. Lieut. Thomas Kelly, Lieut. James Kerr, said two of the prisoners had confessed.

The police said the men have been preying on taverns in Cook, Lake, McHenry, DuPage, and Will counties. They entered with guns, the police said, gave the impression they were officers, and walked out with the machines.

The prisoners are Thomas Campagna, 2700 North Hoyne avenue; John Costello, of 1012 Sunnyside avenue; George Lennox, of 2348 Adams street, and George Eustice, 1825 Hastings street. Lieut. Kelly said all have police or prison records. All four say they are WPA employés.

STATE SCHOOL BOARDS LASHED AS AUTOCRATIC

Charges that the history of state boards of education is one of political control were made yesterday before 200 Illinois school administrators by Prof. N. I. Englehardt of the Columbia University Teachers college. The group met in Patten gymnasium at Northwestern university at the opening session of an annual three day summer conference sponsored by the school of education.

"Under gubernatorial control and appointment state school boards have found themselves becoming autocratic and burocratic. We haven't yet found a state board which can direct centralized school financing and decentralized education," Prof. Englehardt asserted.

"Even under a state board the educational system cannot be reduced to a blue print which is applicable in all communities. The nature of education demands local origin and initiative," he said.

Chicago Offers a Gay Time for Long Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

"WHERE are you going for the Fourth?" is a question many are asking this week, for with the holiday coming on a Monday it is quite the fashion to go away for the long week-end. Not that any one needs to get away if it is enjoyment he seeks, but a change always is pleasant and sometimes it is rest rather than entertainment that one wants on a holiday week-end.

The race meeting at Arlington Park will attract many on Saturday and Monday and there are dozens of other interesting things available to the stay-at-homes, including gala events at all the country clubs. Ravinia park will be open tomorrow and there will be concerts there Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon as well as tomorrow night. To have a picnic supper on Ravinia's lovely expanse of lawn and then to hear the music from there is a delightful experience, and a very inexpensive one! The Ravinia concerts are like radio ones in that they can be enjoyed by many at little cost, for it is not necessary to have a reserved seat for them. There are numerous free benches just outside the theater, and if they all are occupied the lawn itself makes a perfect place from which to hear the music, if the weather is fair.

Mackinac Island Season Opens.

"Mackinac Island" is the answer quite a few would make to the question mentioned in the first paragraph, for the season there is on—the Grand hotel opened last Friday—and numerous Chicagoans are planning to spend the long week-end there.

Most of those who have summer homes on the island do not open them until late in June because the island is so far north that it is usually quite chilly until then.

Edward A. Cudahy is having a "stag" party at his home on Mackinac Island over the Fourth, his guests being Edward A. Cudahy Jr. and his two sons. The senior Mr. Cudahy will spend the summer at Mackinac, as usual, and three of his four daughters will visit him during the season.

Mrs. Austin H. Niblack plans to go north in August and Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm and Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding will pay their father visits before then. Mrs. John N. Stearns Jr. does not expect to come west this summer from her home in New York.

The Hubert Burnhams are opening their house on Mackinac Island for the long Fourth of July week-end, too. Their daughter, Mrs. James W. Stone, and several guests will be with them, but their other daughter, Miss Mardi Burnham, is visiting in Boston and will not return home for another two weeks.

The son of the family, Sailor, is spending the early summer at a Boy Scout camp, but he will join his family at Mackinac in several weeks.

John Lewis Cochrans Leave to Open Home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis Cochran and their daughters, Eleanor and Nancy, left yesterday to spend the summer at their home on Mackinac Island.

The Tracy Turners have opened their house there for the season, but the William Warren Dixons will not occupy their summer residence this year. They have rented it to Leslie Atlass.

The Howard Peabodys will go to their place on the island after they return from a western trip the middle of July.

The Selim McArthurs' charming house on Mackinac is not open so far this summer, for Mrs. McArthur and Joan and Betty have gone abroad. They will return to Chicago about the middle of August and it is possible then that Dr. and Mrs. McArthur and the girls will spend several weeks on the island.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis T. Jaques, who are Mackinac Islanders each summer, will have all three of their daughters with them this season. Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. S. Mero [Lois Jaques] recently arrived from England. They plan to live in the United States.

Mrs. Claude B. Chipperfield [Abbie Jane Jaques] of Aden, Asia, who accompanied the Meros on their west-

Corner Stone to Keep Story of Cradle's Work

The corner stone of the new $150,000 home of the Cradle, from which more than 3,000 babies have been adopted by couples in all parts of the country, will be laid at 2049 Ridge avenue, Evanston, at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Members of the Cradle society, which was founded in 1923, believe that the new building will be the best equipped in the world for infant care. Of fireproof construction, it will have facilities for 36 youngsters [the number may later be increased to 60]. Each baby will be placed in an individual glass cubicle, air conditioned and protected by all the resources of modern science from air borne germs.

The Cradle, with the aid of Dr. Gladys Dick, pioneered eleven years ago in the introduction of methods that prevent the spread of infections by the hands of nurses. Dr. Dick had discovered that enteritis, one of the most deadly of infant diseases, was transmitted by non-sterile food and by flaws in nursing technique. It is said that since then not a single baby has died of disease contracted in the Cradle.

Among those who will be present at tomorrow's ceremony will be Mrs. Florence Dahl Walrath, founder and managing director of the institution, and the members of the board of directors: Gen. Robert E. Wood, Dr. Horace J. Bridges, Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Horace W. Armstrong, and Lucius A. Crowell.

The invocation and benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Harold L. Bowen, rector of St. Mark's church, Evanston. Frank S. Cunningham, president of the Cradle society, and Mayor Henry D. Penfield of Evanston will make brief addresses.

Inside the corner stone will be placed copies of the original charter of the society, a dedication prayer made by Bishop George Craig Stewart in 1923, a history of the society, Mrs. Walrath's "Philosophy of the Cradle," and other mementos.

Ladies of Isabella.

The district deputy group of the Ladies of Isabella will give their second annual card party at 8 o'clock this evening at 14 East Monroe street.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Hadyn B. Swain of Kewanee, Ill., announce the engagement of their daughter, Katheryn Seise, to Kenneth Leland Burroughs, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Burroughs of Oak Park. Miss Swain was graduated from Cornell college at Mount Vernon, Ia., and Mr. Burroughs was graduated from the University of Illinois. The wedding will take place on July 16.

Viola Dana, Former Film Actress, Has Operation

This Is Season to Revel in New Smart Jackets

BY RHEA SEEGER.

More has been done this season for the crowd which revels in the trick of mixing separate tops and skirts than for any other group. The town is full of jackets, boleros, and coatees [or whatever you call them]. Burlap is going strong; it's decorative, casual enough to satisfy every one, and keeps in shape without a wrinkle.

All kinds of burlap coats and fitted jackets are obtainable. New affairs just clear the hipline, hang free from the shoulders, and have very brief sleeves. They're lined with gypsy striped cotton and bound with inch wide bands of the same.

Pure burlap white, a stunning copper, and a lovely rose pink are promised soon. The arrivals will include brimmed hats and large bags to match, the bags to have wooden handles. Linings will be of small shepherd black and white checked bag and jacket. The stuff will be exact matches. Such burlap trios will be smart with a straight or pleated skirt or with a simple straight line sheath dress.

Other new arrivals are the boleros of candlewick, gay things to top a summer frock of cotton or silk. They also top slacks and sports clothes with the same smooth effect. The candlewick ridges are much smaller and not as thick as those on the usual spreads or robes. Colors are exceptionally good an off-white maize, luscious bonbon pink and the multi-strip in bold vivid contrast colors.

A crisp, cool, white, and unusual organdy top is made with folds of the material all the way round the edge of the entire fitted jacket as well as the short sleeves. A cluster of small covered buttons hold it neatly at the waistline. These jackets are good with a filmy chiffon pleated skirt or sheath slip of dull crêpe. None of these good finds designed to complete a smart daytime costume costs more than five dollars and they're as smart as they're new and different.

Fashion photograph . . . designed to wear with any of the newest clinging dull black summer dresses, is this wide brimmed shade hat of luscious blue tissue kidskin, matched exactly to luxurious slipon gloves made with hand sewn seams. Such a duet goes especially well with jersey or thin dull crêpe in black or navy.

Popular Novel of 'Limberlost' Used for Movie

My Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The late Gene Stratton-Porter always has a lively market for her novels among home and out of doors loving folks. "Girl of the Limberlost" was one of her most popular works and it is this book which served as basis for the movie about to be discussed.

"Romance of the Limberlost" is an interesting little picture. Events are located in the Limberlost swamplands, and one orphaned Laurie is the heroine.

Laurie has a tough row to hoe. Her mean Aunt Nora is trying to force her into marriage with a horrid, rich widower who has promised auntie that he'll forget about the mortgage he holds on her cabin and give her some money to boot if she'll persuade Laurie to become Mrs. Corson . . .

Corson's sudden death on the eve of the wedding brings about a murder trial. A boy known as Chris is the defendant. Attorney for the defense is a clever youngster just out of law school. The name is Wayne and he and Laurie are in love. . . . See pix for outcome. . . .

Jean Parker and Eric Linden make an engaging romantic team. They have able cast support, according special mention to Betty Blythe, Marjorie Main, Edward Pawley and Hollis Jewell—AND—a tame crow that shakes hands, a cuddly white bird, a deer, and a rabbit.

If sated with sophisticated stuff, you will undoubtedly find "Romance of the Limberlost" refreshing. [Though it does make wide detours from the original story.]

See you tomorrow.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Pine spirits make one of the best cocktails in the world if you like the fragrance of pine. It's a body lotion, made by a woman who is acknowledged a master in capturing the TRUE scent of pine. It is no easy trick, as we can tell you from experience. Some of the things bearing the pine label that come our way are not very delectable dishes by a long shot.

This spirits of pine body lotion is a wonderful rubdown after the bath. One excellent trick with it is to saturate a washcloth with it and rub the body briskly. You feel like a cool million when you've finished.

And as a picker-upper you can use the spirits in several ways. When you're at the point of exhaustion and prostration from the muggy weather, try rubbing some of the spirits of pine on your forehead, your wrists, and on the back of your neck. It revives you and makes you feel that the north woods aren't so far away after all.

This pine body lotion is something of a deodorant; it neutralizes all body odors with surprising efficiency. And for those who appreciate and admire pine it will serve beautifully as an exhilarating rubdown lotion after strenuous exercises. A man we know swears it takes out his kinks after a day of golf or tough sailing.

Men are as crazy about this as women are. It's not a perfume or a toilet water. It's a lotion with the fresh, clean fragrance of the pine woods.

MOVIE CLOSEUP

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Hollywood Mirror.

Hollywood, Cal., June 28.—Nancy Carroll hits the comeback trail in "There Goes My Heart," playing the part of a department store salesgirl in the picture with Fredric March and Virginia Bruce. Daily rushes show that the New York redhead is just as photographic as she ever was in her Paramount heyday when she was getting $100,000 a year.

A lot of reasons have been advanced for the short circuiting of the Carroll career. Temperament has been ascribed, with justification. Domestic unhappiness certainly was a contributory cause.

Whatever the reason really was, she knows it better than any one else and has the experience to prevent its recurrence. As the favorite niece of the late Billy Lahiff, who was one of the finest characters on Broadway, all of us who stem from the stem are rooting for her.

On an artificial desert within a stone's throw of the 20th Century-Fox studios I came upon Tyrone Power, Annabelle, and Director Allan Dwan surrounded by camels, horses, French Zouaves, and a caravan of Suez traders. Only modern note in this 19th century picture was a modern telephone on the set and a bottle of drinking water with paper cups.

Since October I believe that Tyrone has hung up some sort of production record. In the space of eight months he has appeared in some $8,000,000 worth of moving pictures, starting with "In Old Chicago," "Marie Antoinette," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," and now "Suez." He grinned when the thought was suggested. "I can't say they haven't done right by me. Holy smokes, that's a lot of dough, isn't it?"

However, the owners of the camels and horses are not impressed that their stables are working in a $2,000,000 picture. As I was standing there, with Tyrone, a man came up to him and showed a "still" picture. The photograph showed Power, in costume, aboard an Arabian gray mare, with the owner standing at the mare's head.

"Very nice," said Tyrone, surveying it.

"No, I don't like it at all," said the owner of the gray mare.

"Look here—it's a very bad picture of her. Her legs are all sprawled out. She should be collected. After all, the mare should be photographed to best advantage, don't you think?"

The owner lit out after the unit publicity man, Gordon Gordon [not related to Simone Simon], to insist that another picture be taken of the gray mare in a collected posture.

These animal owners of the picture colony are the most intense people out here. A picture can be star loaded, but the owner of a dog or horse believes in all seriousness that the picture revolves around his pet. They despise each other completely, these animal owners, and their acidulous comments on each other's live stock are terrific.

Most amazing men out here, to this reporter, are the technicians of the industry, the men who construct a desert such as this one for "Suez." Deserts, street scenes, interiors, castles, babbling brooks, miniature oceans, frontier towns—they build them to specifications within forty-eight hours. This, however, is the first desert I've seen.

One hundred yards away streamlined autos f. o. b. Detroit were whizzing past on the concrete strip that is known as Pico boulevard, and yet we were standing ankle deep in white sand on an authentic desert waste. In the foreground natives were unloading pack camels, and a bit removed were the pup tents of the French soldiers, with the flag of France fluttering in the hot breeze. The technicians create these amazing sets as part of a day's work. They look a trifle startled when you compliment them on their work.

Earlier in the afternoon I'd been over to RKO to see Fred Astaire and Ginger. Here was another magnificent set, the interior of a roadhouse, and out beyond a country garden and a swimming pool. Everybody, outside the girls, was smoking big cigars. Writer Allan Scott had distributed them to celebrate the arrival of a son in his house. Everybody was in exceptional humor, having profited by a double-hunch at the race track. The horse Fred Astaire picked won at Delaware, and White Ginger finished second out here, so everybody cleaned up.

On the Gunga Din set Cary Grant and Victor McLaglen in bright scarlet regimentals, doing a scene for Director George Stevens. This picture probably is some sort of a record breaker, as the shooting schedule is 95 days, which means Stevens won't bring it in until October. It has a $2,000,000 budget. Between shots I asked Cary to show me the bottle he had in his hand. It was marked "Elephant Elixir," so we went to the commissary instead.

Disappointment at Paramount. I went there to get a load of the eyefuls who were in the fashion sequences of "Artists and Models Abroad," but got there just thirty minutes too late.

SYNOPSIS.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles via Panama to New York, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire; Isobel Butler, who has a stateroom next to the Vernons and hopes to get in pictures through him; Alex Reed, young surgeon, returning to work after two years' illness; and gossipy Mrs. Panting. Isobel meets and arouses Vernon's interest. Anne and Alex are mutually attracted.

INSTALMENT IX.

FALLING IN LOVE.

Dressing for dinner Arnold hooked his wife into an intricately cut white dinner gown. He lifted her hair and lightly kissed her neck. Claire turned and laid her cheek against his for a moment. "Nice Arnold." He caught her and drew her into his arms—kissed her passionately. She fought him off with her hands at his chest. "Don't Arnold—don't be a fool—look how you've disarranged me! My dress, my make-up—my hair——"

"Good God, woman—are you never human?"

"Of course I am. But you choose such awkward times for these displays of affection. When I'm just dressed—going out—or dead tired and craving for sleep."

"I'm sorry for my tactlessness. Perhaps you'll give me a list of times when you are approachable."

"Why should I? That's all you think about. You don't do anything to please me!"

She was fastening a bracelet round her wrist which he had bought at Cartiers in New York for fifty thousand dollars. He was ominously silent. She saw him looking at it.

"For instance this morning, I wanted you to come to the pool. But you preferred to stay with that vulgar girl and neglect your own wife."

"Miss Butler is not vulgar. On the contrary she is very good company. Human, friendly, and interesting."

"She's after you for something. Like to take a bet on it?"

"No. I'll admit that probably she is. But she's different from you. She'll give as well as take——"

"All right. Why don't you try kissing her? She wants to break into pictures so badly that she won't mind when you kiss her. Then I can have some peace."

Arnold Vernon could hardly believe his own ears. He stared as Claire, his eyes accusing and narrow. "You're not afraid of anything, are you?"

She looked back at him smiling, shrugging her shoulders jauntily. "No. I'll never divorce you and you'll never have cause to divorce me." Then surprisingly she approached him and kissed him swiftly on the lips. "My funny old Arnold—don't you know when Claire is joking? Now I'm famished. Let's go to dinner."

She was animated while they ate in the dining salon. While Claire chattered Arnold thought of Isobel's wide, grateful eyes. It would delight her if he found her afterward and talked about her future. It would take his mind off his own woes.

He left Claire on the afterdeck watching the nightly betting on the horse races, while he turned his back on the lights and walked forward into the dark. Isobel saw him go and saw him pause and stand there by himself. She sauntered up the deck after him, went and stood quietly beside him. "Queer night, isn't it?" she said, "so strange and mysterious."

Clouds had come up with the sunset and now no stars or moon shone. The ship was enclosed in an airless cocoon of darkness. "It's a little depressing," he said flatly.

Isobel slipped her arm through his. "Come to the smoke room and have a little drink. That's what you need for your depression."

"O, no, I don't. Come up to the boat deck with me. I want to talk to you. If I stay here I shall be wanted for something. I don't want any interruption."

Surprised, but gratified, Isobel preceded him up the steep companionway to the deserted quietness of the upper deck. They stood there by a rail hardly able to see each other in the dense water murmuring darkness. "Can you imagine it?" Arnold remarked. "I talked to that little Sydney girl this afternoon. She actually is an actress, but she doesn't want to be in pictures."

"I can imagine it, Mr. Vernon. We're not all alike, are we?"

"No—thank God."

He was quiet after that. Isobel broached a subject which had been stirring her curiosity. "Doesn't your wife act? She looks as if she did."

The answer was surprising. "Yes, she does, Miss Butler. All the time."

Isobel was taken aback by this unexpected bitterness. She said hastily—"I didn't mean what you meant. She's so good-looking you know—so soignee all the time. I rather envy her."

"Then don't. A girl like you is worth a dozen of her. I shouldn't be telling you this. Let's talk of something else."

Isobel's heart was beating a wild tattoo in her breast. This was marvelous! This was incredible! Why she could have the man himself if she only played her cards right. She wouldn't have to care about trying to do something she couldn't do. She would never have to worry. And he was nice, too. The more you got to know him, the more you could sincerely like him—love him even. Yes, why not? With that sweetness mixed with the shrewdness in his look—those kind intelligent eyes.

"I can't talk of something else, Mr. Vernon. You shock me. You mean she doesn't realize her wonderful good luck?"

"It depends on what you mean by that wonderful good luck. Me—or the material things I represent."

"Why you, of course."

"That's true? You really feel like that? You can see something in me at my age that would still appeal to a woman of yours?"

"I certainly can, Mr. Vernon. The first time I spoke to you, I felt there was something between us—some sympathy, you understand. Like I'd known you before, if you know what I mean. I think a girl who married you could really love you."

One-half of Arnold Vernon's calculating and powerful intellect told him he was being a weak fool to derive any comfort from the sentiments of this inadequately educated girl, but the other half capitulated to his abysmal inner loneliness. He put out his hand in the dark, found Isobel's and drew it through his arm.

Her heart went out to him, warm and for the moment without ulterior motive. She turned to him impulsively and kissed him. He put his arms round her and held her to him. His kiss was ardent and wholehearted. "Funny," she thought, "what's the matter with me? I do believe I really am falling in love with him."

He let her go with a tired sigh. "Sorry, Isobel, I shouldn't have done that."

She pushed her arm through his again and stayed close to him. "Don't worry. I don't think about it. What's a little kiss between friends?"

But she did think about it—most of the night. She sat up in bed quivering with nervousness and excitement. She could have him if she were careful and made no false move. He was already in the hollow of her hand. But that wife mustn't get suspicious before the right time or everything would be ruined. She wouldn't give up her diamond studded meal ticket without a struggle.

Isobel was very clear on her own personal ethics of husband snatching. If the two were happy, you kept out. But if the woman were a cheat, you had as much right as she had—more if you happened to care for the man.

As for this Claire Vernon, she had nothing but contempt for her. Not however, contempt for her as any enemy. The best thing to do of course was collect another man, and work under cover of his constant company. That would divert gossip and allay the wife's suspicion. Who, now?

Who was there she could pal up with without being expected to provide a ship's diversion on the strength of it?

Why, that charming Dr. Reed at the purser's table. He might be difficult to handle—you could see he knew what he wanted. But he was white all through—would always behave like a gentleman. You had only to look at him to see it or her nine years in the jungles of Manhattan had taught her nothing about men.

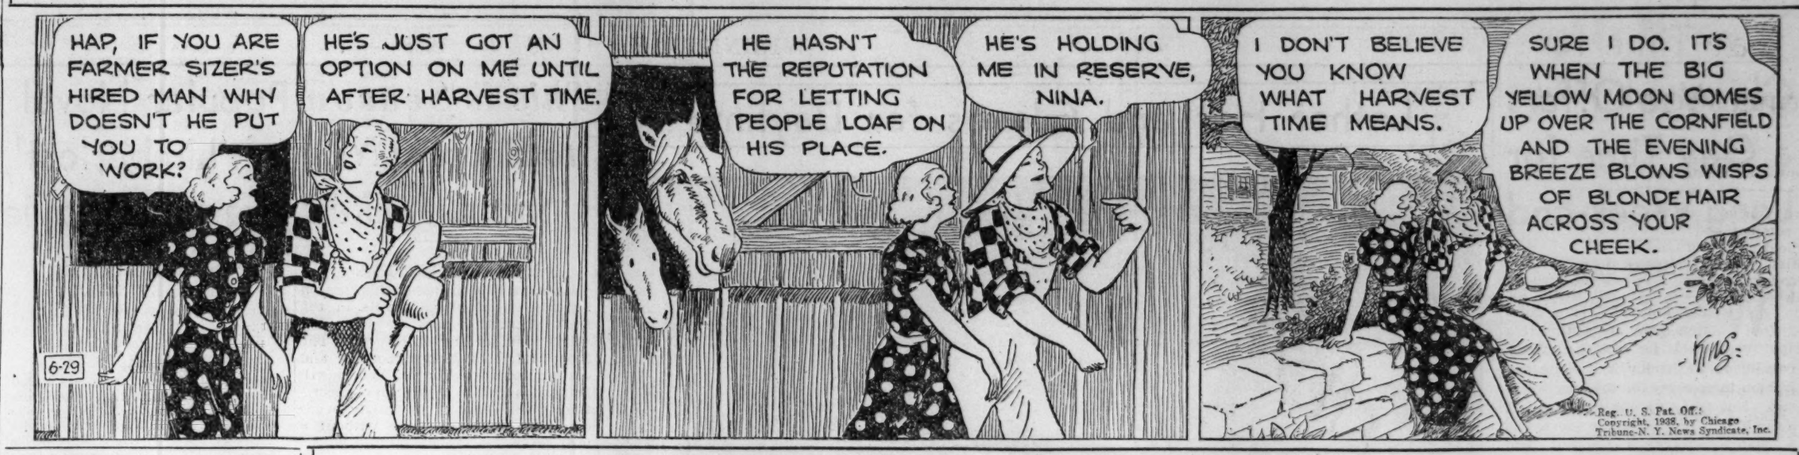
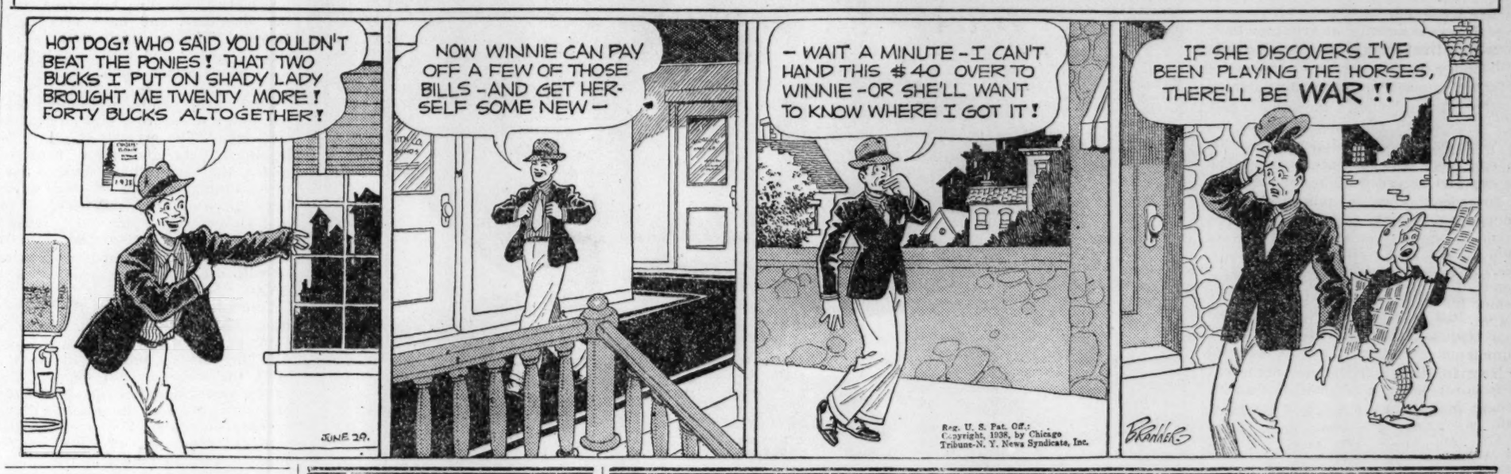
GASOLINE ALLEY—THE FARMER IN THE DELL



WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Dilemma



Summer Camp Should Meet These Demands

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

From being a simple adventure in outdoor living under supervision, camp life for children of all ages has come to be a highly organized and widespread affair. Summer camps are legion—north, south, east, west—and much has been learned by those who establish them.

Health and actual safety, character, fun, enjoyment, and group living are all taken into consideration by skilled leaders. No good camp will resent inquiries and personal investigation, if it measures up to requirements.

The following points and standards are not only the result of a parent's concern, but tie up with the substance of a conversation with an able head counselor. These are essential questions to ask:

[a] How is the camp located. Is it in a sunshiny, high, well drained spot?

[b] Where does the food supply come from?

[c] Is the menu well balanced with milk and fresh vegetables?

[d] Does the milk come from clean, tuberculin-tested cows, and is it pasteurized? What can the camp show you to prove this?

[e] Water must be carefully looked into—not only drinking water, but that used for bathing and swimming.

[g] Where do the children swim? What measures are provided to safeguard them during the progress of that sport? Are they watched for reaction to cold and the exertion?

[h] Is there a nurse in camp and a good doctor either with the organization or within close call?

[i] How much individual attention is possible—either physical or as regards the personality of a child?

[j] How is the day planned? Is it made up of constant activity uniformly planned, or is some leeway in strenuousness or choice of occupation possible?

"Books of the Outdoor World" is a leaflet listing many titles for various ages. It will be sent on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Two Welfare Camps Get First Contingents of Young Vacationists

One hundred and seventy-five boys, girls, and mothers yesterday went to the Bowen Country club in Waukegan, operated by the Hull House association, to spend two weeks. The group, the first to occupy the Bowen Country club, went over the North Western railway. A thousand more will attend later in the season. Transportation is given free by the railway.

The first contingent of underprivileged boys left Chicago yesterday for Camp Wooster, near Round lake. During the summer 1,600 Jewish boys from 26 relief agencies, institutions, and boys' clubs affiliated with the Young Men's Jewish council will have vacations there.

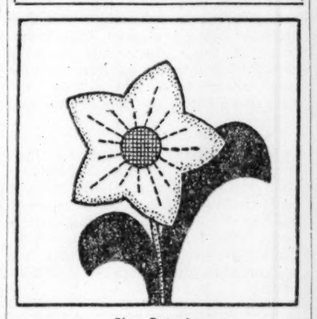
Petunia Motif Is a Favorite with Makers of Quilts



Blue Petunia.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Petunia plants have been the favorites with many quiltmakers because of the beauty of the bloom, the simplicity in the line of the flower, and the range of colors which may be used in making up the coverlet. "Blue Petunia" is a deviation from the usual floral design in that stitching is used to indicate the veins in the petals. A buttonhole stitch may be used to applique the flower to the block, if desired. The tiny squares measure 8 inches, and 32 applique and 31 plain blocks form the coverlet. Surrounded by a 17½ inch border and a one-half inch bias binding, the completed coverlet measures 81 by 107 inches.

200 Crippled Children Go to Special Wisconsin Camp

Two hundred crippled children left yesterday for seven weeks at Brown's lake near Burlington, Wis. The outings are the gift of the Outing Association for Crippled Children, of which Mrs. Emma S. Haskell is president, and its friends. Free transportation was provided by the Milwaukee road. Twenty-five attendants, including volunteer nurses and teachers, accompanied the children.

Coverlet Guild.

Opera Fund Party.

The Chicago City Opera Student fund will receive the proceeds from a musical to be given at 12:30 o'clock today at the home of Mrs. Joseph Z. Willner, 2750 Sheridan road, Evanston. A buffet luncheon will be served after the program.

Hurry! Letters to Sally Must Be Sent Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Looks as though all the boys and girls in the city want to come to the College Inn ice revue! I guess you youngsters know a good party when you hear about one, and you're absolutely right, because July 7 will be a day my guests will remember for a long time.

Mail has been pouring in, but you still have time to add your letter to the stack if it's mailed today, so better get a move on.

I've been invited by the management to bring 50 boys and 50 girls as my guests to a special performance of the ice skating show now featured at the Hotel Sherman. I intend to select as winners the children who show by their letters that they're most anxious to come—so if you'd like to see the all-star skaters, and watch Frankie Masters and his band perform—just write and tell me so, and if you're convincing enough, maybe you'll win an invitation.

All letters will be judged tomorrow morning and next Sunday's TRIBUNE will bring the good news, the names of 50 boys and 50 girls who have been selected as winners.

There will be music and lights and such dancing and skating as you never have seen—champions from Switzerland, from Canada, from the east coast and the west coast, plus a magician and a clown. I know you're all too polite to inquire, but don't worry. I know a party isn't a party for boys and girls without refreshments, and you'll be well cared for on that score, too.

Better wangle a piece of writing paper, an envelope and a stamp from mother and compose your letter. It must be mailed today if it's to reach me tomorrow, but don't be in such a rush that you'll forget the important part of our rules—if that letter doesn't have your name, address and age on it, it's not eligible to be judged for an invitation.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This youthful and flattering daytime dress is one you can wear to all types of informal events. No matter what your figure type you can wear it well because it is a simple sort of frock that conceals silhouette faults, whether they be those of underweight or overweight.

The V-neckline may be rever style or be simply enhanced by a narrow vestee. The raglan shoulder, which provides brief sleeves, is plentifully shirred to lend fullness to the bodice. The waistline dips up twice into the bodice and the hipline is sleek. The skirt is full by virtue of paneling and cut.

Any type of washable fabric is a grand selection for this. You might like plain white or black, or some other monotone, but we suggest a print, either gay or subdued, depending upon your type. May we also suggest that the washable silk jerseys are especially effective for this model?

Style No. 2092 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material, with 2½ yards of 3 inch ribbon for a sash.

Best of Beauty Attainable on Slender Budget

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

How often one hears women say: "But why shouldn't she look beautiful with all that money she has to spend on herself!"

We heard the remark the other day in connection with a woman in her early forties who is a knockout. True, she has oodles of money and she has one of the best dress houses to design especially for her. She frequents the most expensive beauty salon and gets the works from exercise to expert hairdressing service. She has a maid who can refix her hair daily and her nails, if need be. And she looks as if she were turned out by experts. But she is no more representative of all women with money than is the beautifully groomed young woman we know [who challenges the best competition on very little spending money a week] is representative of all young women on limited budgets.

Granted that it would be just grand and gorgeous to be able to afford the best, if it can't be afforded it is futile dreaming to wish it so. Probably you might be different after the expert professionals got through with you. For a time, anyway, you'd feel you were a more ravishing femme. But if you didn't have the stuff in you, your very self, you wouldn't appear promptly and regularly for your appointment. You would not derive the money benefits. It is the urge in you that is the miracle worker.

But the point is that you can't sit and wait for the ship to come in so that you can have others do for you. If you keep on sitting and dreaming you're likely to get plump and stale. You've got to do things for yourself, and you can do them and do them well. You can make that skin of yours into a glowing, radiant thing. You can make your figure a poem of grace. You can make your hair gleam and your hands lovely. There isn't much you cannot do for yourself these days with the magnificent products available and at no extravagant cost either.

Lipstick technique for thick lips is only one of the many subjects about which Antoinette Donnelly, Chicago Tribune beauty editor, writes helpfully in her booklet "Makeup Magic." Get this booklet of beauty secrets. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. By postpaid mail, 7 cents.

A main dish, a salad and a dessert are the three parts of today's short cut dinner. The menu doesn't need to be more complex, for each of these three parts of the meal is a filling one. The main dish includes meat, a starchy food and a vegetable; the salad combines a variety of vegetables, and the dessert supplies the fruit in the form of short cake.

SHORT CUT DINNER
Spaghetti with Meat Balls, Italian Style
Mixed Vegetable Salad
Hard Rolls
Fresh Peach or Cherry or Blueberry Shortcake
Iced Tea

Italian Style Meat Balls.

[Serves four]

1½ pounds ground meat [beef or beef, veal, and pork]
1 cup bread or cracker crums
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 egg, beaten
Salt, pepper
3 tablespoons bacon fat
2 cups tomatoes

Combine ground meat with crums, onion, green pepper, eggs, and seasonings. A teaspoonful of salt should be about right, but more may be added to please individual tastes. [It may be added during cooking.] Add a little of the juice from the tomatoes and shape the mixture with the hands into small balls. Brown in the hot fat, then add tomatoes, cover, and let cook gently for half an hour. Serve on top of a platterful of spaghetti which has been cooked in boiling, salted water. Top with grated Parmesan cheese, or serve the cheese separately at the table.

A delicious mixed vegetable salad may be made quickly by combining a can of drained mixed vegetables with a mayonnaise type of dressing, and chilling the mixture until serving time. To a canned vegetable salad such as this I like to add some of whatever fresh vegetables I have on hand—cubed tomatoes, crisp thin slices of carrot or cucumber, diced celery or green pepper, radishes, or a little sliced green onion. The salad will be good with or without these additions.

I've printed shortcake recipes in this column so frequently that I hesitate about doing it again. But since most women who prepare these quick meals would prefer to have the recipe given than to dig it out from cookbook or clippings, I'm risking repetition. Use whichever of the three fruits, cherries, peaches, or blueberries, looks best to you in the grocer's window, and add enough sugar to make it juicy.

Shortcake.

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
⅓ cup butter

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Work in the butter with fork, pastry blender, or finger tips. Add milk gradually. Turr out on a lightly floured board and knead gently for half a minute. Pat or roll out and cut into biscuits, using two sizes of cutter. Place the larger rounds on a baking sheet, brush with butter, and top with the smaller rounds. Bake for 12 minutes in a 450 degree oven. Split apart and fill with sweetened fruit. Serve with cream or whipped cream.

The Housewife

If you find cutting fat into flour with a knife or spatula a tedious process try one of the handy little labor saving gadgets made especially for the purpose. It consists of four or five curving pieces of bladelike metal each one parallel to the other. They're held by a firm handle.

These blades do the work in much less time than can a single knife, and they seem to do it more thoroughly. You can use this pastry blender for making a pie, a cake, shortbread, hard sauce—for anything that requires the process of cutting the fat into the flour or sugar.

Jane Scriven Finlay Is Bride in New York

Interesting romantic news is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Harney Bassett of the marriage of Mrs. Bassett's sister, Mrs. Jane Scriven Finlay, to Rinaldo Marcello Aresi of New York. The wedding took place last Saturday in Greenwich, Conn., followed by a small wedding breakfast at Ashridge, the home in Scarborough of the bride's godmother, Mrs. Giles Whiting.

Present at the ceremony were Mrs. Bassett [Betty Scriven], Mrs. Whiting, the bride's 8 year old daughter, Barbara Finlay; Norman Hay, and Dr. Epimonda Secondari, both of New York, and Count Mario Veggia of Venice and New York. Mrs. Aresi is the elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper Scriven of Chicago, and the bridegroom is the son of Signor and Signora Giuseppe Aresi of Milan, Italy, and the Piemonte.

Mrs. Aresi lived in Chicago until several years ago, but she and her mother and sister spent much time abroad when the girls were young and recently Mrs. Finlay and her little daughter were in Italy for a number of months. Barbara will spend the summer in the east, but in the autumn she will return to Chicago to spend the winter with her father, John Jerome Finlay.

Mrs. Bassett will arrive at home today. Mr. and Mrs. Aresi have gone to Gilmanton, N. H., where the Scriven family had a summer home for many years, on their wedding trip; they will be at home in New York in the autumn.

The wedding of Miss Edith Virginia Seldomridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Russell Schroyer of Evanston, to John Lansing Zabriskie, son of Mrs. Nicholas Lansing Zabriskie and the late Mr. Zabriskie of Aurora-on-Cayuga, N. Y., will take place at 8:30 o'clock this evening in the Northminster Presbyterian church in Evanston, with the Rev. Austin Pardue, dean of St. Paul's cathedral in Buffalo, officiating. A small reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Jane Miller will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Rawlins and Miss Katharine Watters of White Plains, N. Y. Robert Wells Zabriskie of Dallas, Tex., will be best man for his uncle and the ushers will be James Falck of Elmira, N. Y.; Kenneth Grulee, Lauren Healy, and Robert Potter.

Another wedding of interest is that of Miss Margery Anne Garvy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William John Garvy of Chicago, who will be married to Robert Ball Emery, son of Mrs. John T. Emery of Elmhurst at 3 o'clock today at the home of the bride's parents. Only the members of the immediate families will be present. A reception for the families and close friends will follow at 4:30 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club.

Miss Louise Willard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Willard of Highland Park, has chosen July 6 as the date for her wedding to James S. Kearns, son of Mrs. John Thomas Kearns of Dubuque, Ia. The ceremony will take place at 10 o'clock at St. Athanasius church in Evanston with the Rev. Thomas J. Burke of Winnetka officiating.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I messed up this hand the other evening and it was not until 4 a. m. that I suddenly realized that I had overlooked the simplest sort of safety play on the second trick. I wonder what percentage of experts would have seen it.

"I was South and the contract was five clubs. I was annoyed that it was not six clubs when I saw the dummy.

"The king of diamonds was opened by West and East gave him the deuce of diamonds. A heart was led and thoughtlessly finessed, and lost to the king. A diamond was returned. I trumped, drew trumps, led a small spade to the board and, after putting on the ace, had to lose a spade trick. I do not think that I played the spades improperly, as even had I started from the board I would have played one of the honors, to keep top honors in both hands.

"But if, on the second trick, I had played the ace of hearts, drawn trump, trumped the last diamond, and then given up the heart, no distribution of spades could have beaten me.

"DR. S. H., New York City."

As my correspondent points out, here was an opportunity for a little known but valuable safety play. If the contract had been six clubs, of course the heart finesse had to be tried, but at five, any safety factor that could be thrown about the hand was highly desirable.

My correspondent's analysis of what this safety play should have been, however, was not entirely accurate. Played precisely as he suggested, he still would have a guess in the spade suit. That is to say, after stripping the North-South hands of diamonds and throwing a defender on lead with the heart queen, a spade return still would leave a "guess." For example, suppose East were to take the heart queen and lead a low spade. Declarer would, of course, follow low, and let us assume the nine spot would force the queen. Now declarer would have to guess whether to lay down the ace, playing East for a possible remainder of J x x, or lead a low spade from the dummy so that if East showed out a finesse could be taken against the jack in West's hand.

The true safety play was to take the heart ace, draw the adverse trumps, ruff dummy's remaining diamond, and then cash the spade ace before throwing a defender on lead with the heart queen. Now if a spade were returned it would prove one of two things, both satisfactory from declarer's point of view: either that the spade suit would break or that the leader of the second spade was the one who originally had four.

MATRON ENTRIES HAVE FIELD DAY AT ARLINGTON

Win 2 Races, Take 2 Seconds, Third.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A prevue of the Matron stakes was offered at Arlington Park yesterday when eight 3 year old fillies, eligible to the $5,000 race on Saturday, went on parade. Or rather they went on two parades.

Three of them were out to show their fastest steps in the six furlong fourth race. Four others engaged in a hair pulling contest in the seven furlong Evanston purse.

The three in the fourth event showed all sorts of style and poise. They finished one-two-three, leading home nine others not nominated for the Matron.

Lady Peace Wins.

Warren Wright's fine looking filly, Lady Peace, a daughter of Sir Galahad III.-Sun Spot, scored such an impressive triumph in this event that she immediately became one of the most highly regarded candidates for the Matron. Romaine, owned by J. R. Neville of Kentucky, was second, and Al-High from the stable of A. C. Ernst, was third.

Jocky Ivan Anderson rushed Lady Peace to the front early. When she turned into the stretch she enjoyed a lead of a length and a half. Then she weakened slightly, but had enough left to turn back the challenge of Romaine and Al-High.

In the Evanston purse it was another case of the eligibles for the Matron stakes hogging all the glory. They finished first and second. Cross Keys was the winner after leading all the way. She races for the turf firm of Midkiff and Wells of Kentucky. However, she was hard pressed at the finish by Novelette owned by Mrs. Jake Lowenstein of Chicago.

She's Right Is Third.

Lady Peace and Cross Keys were stoutly backed favorites. The Wright filly paid $7.20. Cross Keys was odds on, returning $3.60.

One great disappointment came during the afternoon for the players of favorites when Ma Hornidge, on which there had been the heaviest plunge of the young Arlington season, stumbled on the turn into the stretch in the third race. Jocky Buddy Haas was tossed out of the saddle and over her head. At the time of the accident Ma Hornidge was making a bid for the lead.

Longshot Romps Home.

With the favorite eliminated, Genevra M., under a rousing ride by Jocky Ira Hanford, drove out into a comfortable lead. She clung to it until the field reached the finish, although Mrs. John Hertz's Chance Star was running tastest of all at the end. He took down second money and Million Bucks was third.

The Creston purse over the mile Hertz course brought the sharpest upset of the afternoon when Cardinalis, an even money choice from Mrs. Paul Kelley's stable, was soundly beaten by Dunnamany, owned by G. F. Emick. Al au Feu finished third.

The two leaders made the running all the way, but a sixteenth of a mile from the finish Dunnamany drew out and finally won by five lengths. He paid $7.20.

War Admiral, Seabiscuit Meet in $50,000 Race—If It Rains

Boston, Mass., June 28.—(AP)—The names of ten horses, including War Admiral and Seabiscuit, tonight were in the entry box for tomorrow's $50,000 Massachusetts handicap at Suffolk Downs—but whether Seabiscuit would go postward rested in the laps of New England's fickle weather gods.

"We're still on the fence," C. S. Howard, Seabiscuit's owner said as the rain that started on Sunday morning continued.

"If it keeps raining and the track remains sloppy, we'll run, but if it stops and the track becomes holding and sticky we won't like it. Seabiscuit can't do himself justice on a heavy track, and the mud is becoming heavier. But we won't decide until tomorrow forenoon, probably not before 10 o'clock."

Fair Weather Means Only a Crowd.

Track officials expect 50,000—the largest crowd ever to see a horse race here—if the weather is fair, but paradoxically, that was precisely the condition that probably would force Howard to scratch his entry from the mile and an eighth test.

After three days of rain, railbirds explained, there was bound to be a holding track if the weather cleared, so the chief hope for the long-awaited clash was for more rain. The weather bureau predicted the storm would break late tonight, and that it would be fair and warmer tomorrow.

Meanwhile, War Admiral, son of Man o' War, drew the outside position, No. 10, while Seabiscuit drew No. 8. Separating the two will be Hal Price Headley's Menow.

Flying Scot Has Support.

John Hay Whitney's Flying Scot drew No. 1 position, and at 12 to 1, seemed to have considerable support partly because he will go in at only 101 pounds as against the 130 that both War Admiral and Seabiscuit will carry.

Handicappers have made War Admiral a 6-5 favorite. Seabiscuit is the second choice at 2-1. In addition to these two, Menow and Flying Scot, Mrs. Emil Denemark's Finance and War Minstrel, Mrs. Doris Wood's Busy K., W. V. McGrath's Peligroso II., Ben Lister's Old Comrade, and Mrs. F. C. Dunn's Singer's Folly are listed to go to the post.

LAWRIN VS. DAUBER

Inglewood, Cal., June 28.—(AP)—Lawrin and Dauber, two of the nation's greatest three year olds, were named today, along with two other candidates, to run in the $50,000 added race at Hollywood Park tomorrow.

Wing and Wing and Rommy completed the field, but few saw them as anything but dummies for decorative purposes and whatever longshot money they might draw into the betting rings.

To Lawrin, Herbert M. Woolf's Kentucky Derby champion, and William du Pont's Dauber, second in the Kentucky Derby and later winner of the Preakness, fell all the attention and contention.

Lawrin ruled the favorite at 7 to 10. Eddie Arcaro, the jocky who rode him in the Derby, flew to the coast to handle him tomorrow.

Dauber, with Maurice [Moose] Peters aboard, has not raced since Pasteurized beat him in the east, but his workouts have been good and Dick Handlen, the Foxcatcher trainer, declared his charger was in fine fettle.

TURNESA'S 145 TIES FOR LEAD IN COLLEGE GOLF

Louisville, Ky., June 28.—(AP)—An easterner and a southerner, one by virtue of a brilliant comeback and the other through consistent shotmaking, today tied for medal honors at the end of the 36 hole qualifying for the 41st national intercollegiate golf tournament.

Firing the only subpar golf of the round of medal play, Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., and Holy Cross, finished early with a 145 total only to be deadlocked for the trophy a few minutes later by Lew W. Oehmig of Chattanooga, Tenn., and the University of Virginia.

Turnesa, who comes from a golfing family and a year ago was medalist at Oakmont with 146, finished the second round of the qualifying today with a 69, two under par for the Louisville Country club course.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM HARRIDGE of the American league and President Ford Frick of the National have announced the personnel of the squads which will represent their organizations in the sixth annual All-Star game at Cincinnati next Wednesday. . . . Unlike the original game in 1933, when the fans elected the squads, this year's teams have been chosen by a vote of the managers, which may or may not be an improvement over the old order. . . . National league followers, who have seen their heroes whipped four times in the five interleague engagements, certainly have reason to feel they could have done as well in picking their teams as the managers have been doing. . . . The important thing, however, is that the All-Star game has lost none of its popularity despite the short sighted policy of the magnates in taking the selection of the squads out of the fans' hands. . . . There have been nearly 100,000 applications for the 28,000 seats at Crosley field. . . . All tickets, including bleachers, will be sold in advance. . . . The last time the game was played in a National league park the management made the mistake of throwing more than half the seats on sale the day of the game with the result that a considerable number were empty when the first batter stepped to the plate. . . . The intelligence of the citizenry is increasing with the years, and even the most enthusiastic fans resent the idea of lining up at daybreak to obtain tickets for a sporting event. . . .

William Harridge.

It is interesting to observe that only three of the eighteen players who made up the National league squad when this department presented the first All-Star game at Comiskey park are included in this year's roster. . . . The survivors are Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, one of baseball's immortals; Carl Hubbell of the Giants, and Tony Cuccinello of the Bees. . . . Cuccinello was a member of the Reds in 1933. . . . One pitcher, one catcher, and one infielder have managed to hold their places in a span of five years. . . . Fifteen others either have disappeared from National league ranks or have fallen to the level of mediocrity. . . . Players apparently live longer in the American league, for nine of the original eighteen will be on the field at Cincinnati. . . . They are Pitchers Vernon Gomez and Bob Grove, Catchers Bill Dickey and Rick Ferrell, Infielders Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx, Charley Gehringer, and Joe Cronin, and Outfielder Earl Averill.

SOX WIN, 10 TO 9, ON 2 HOMERS AND A THEFT OF HOME

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., June 28.—Two slumpful White Sox gents, Joe Kuhel and Rip Radcliff, socked homers good for six runs today. And it was well they engaged in such novel enterprise, otherwise the White Sox would have been embarrassed in a game with the St. Louis Browns, which the Chicagoans eventually won, 10 to 9.

The contest ended when Pinch Runner Bill Cox was thrown out by Radcliff at home with the tying run as he sought to score from second on Don Heffner's single.

Rip Breaks Tie.

The Sox scored four runs in the ninth to break a 6-all tie, three on Radcliff's homer and the fourth and winning one on Marv Owen's theft of home.

Thornton Lee started for the Sox and did well from the first to seventh innings, after which he wobbled and had to be replaced by the wobblier Whitehead, the latter getting credit for a victory he scarcely deserved.

Almada, McQuinn, and Clift, the first three Brownie batsmen, lined out singles, Clift's scoring Almada. Bell then bounced into a double play, Owen to Kuhel, after which Kress singled to right, scoring Clift.

Sox Tie Score.

The Sox tied the score with some nice socking in the third. With one out Steinbacher doubled to left center and scored on Kreevich's single to center. Radcliff doubled to right, scoring Kreevich.

The 2-all tie prevailed until two were out in the Chicago sixth. After Kreevich and Radcliff had supplied easy outs, Owen drew Walkup's second pass and went to third on Schlueter's single to right center. Kuhel then smacked his first homer of 1938, scoring Owen and Schlueter.

Kreevich Turns Robber.

Van Atta went in to pitch at the start of the eighth and promptly got into trouble. Radcliff opened with a single, and, after Owen had popped out, Schlueter was given an intentional pass. Kuhel also walked, loading the bases. Radcliff scored on Berger's fly to Almada, but Lee struck out.

Bell opened the eighth with a single, then Kreevich robbed Kress of a triple with a great catch in deep left center. McQuillen singled to right, Bell stopping at second. Heath doubled off the right field wall, Bell

TEX CARLETON YIELDS 7 RUNS IN THIRD INNING

Lon Warneke Stops Chicago Batters.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

A glimpse of their homeland after a two weeks' nightmare on foreign fields failed to accomplish a miracle for the Cubs yesterday. They merely went through the motions of a day's work, at the end of which they were badly bruised by a 9 to 3 beating administered by their former pal, Lon Warneke, and his St. Louis Cardinal associates.

The Cards, who are supposed to be concentrating on hill billy concerts instead of baseball this year, apparently decided that for the day at least they would get back onto the latter subject. They made this decision suddenly in the third inning and the Cubs, not suspecting the enemy's serious intentions, didn't awaken until after a cluster of seven runs had been hung up.

The batch of scoring, which was a grievous incident in the pitching life of Tex Carleton, naturally decided everything, especially with Warneke determined to increase his season's record to six victories against two defeats.

The "Wild Horse" Hits Homer.

What happened to Carleton in the third can be told briefly. There were two passes, a hit batter, an error in which Carleton figured, and four hits. Two of the hits were singles and one was a double which didn't figure in the production. The other was a robust tap. The one and only John Pepper Martin, the wild man, banged it into the bleacher with two on bases. Charley Root cleaned up this affair for Carleton and later he as well as Albert Paul Epperly were jostled a bit by the so-called Gas House gang.

The Cubs, as usual, were very, very feeble with their bats while assimilating their twelfth beating in the last eighteen games. For seven innings they had the unenviable total of four hits but because of an error and a pass were able to score two separate runs in this modest assault. They finally harvested three more hits in the last two innings, making a total of seven. Three of these hits were touched by infielders.

Carleton Meets Trouble.

Carleton's effectiveness ceased when he walked Gutteridge and punctured Owen with a pitched ball before an out was recorded in the third inning. This was bad enough, but Tex made it worse by fumbling Warneke's bunt, the error filling the bases. A single to center by Stripp was no improvement. It sent Gutteridge and Owen home. There still was nobody retired, but the Cubs finally got the first of the three when Carleton picked up S. Martin's bunt and threw to Hack to force Warneke. The second out was accomplished on Slaughter's roller to Cavarretta.

Then there was a fresh outbreak. Medwick walked, partly because Carleton didn't want to give him anything worth hitting. This loaded the bases. Padgett sent a fly to short left and the ball dropped at Galan's feet for a single, Stripp and Martin scoring and Medwick sprinting to third. Pepper Martin waited until the count was 3 and 2 before smacking his homer into the left field bleacher for three more runs. When Gutteridge doubled to left Carleton decided he had seen enough so Root stepped in and fanned Owen.

Herman Drives in Jurges.

The Cubs started a scoring move in the fourth when Reynolds beat out a hit in front of the place. O'Dea bounced to S. Martin and Reynolds reached second when the throw was Only three out of the field could better 80. They were, besides Riffel, Jimmie Miller, the home club champion, with a 78, and J. P. Kiley, also of the home club, with a 79.

Coroner Asks Autopsy After Boxer's Death

The cause of the death of Peter Cribari, 17 years old, 1108 South California avenue, an amateur boxer, who died Monday night during a boxing bout, was not fully determined yesterday. Deputy Coroner Chris McGarigle continued an inquest to permit Dr. S. S. Snider to perform an autopsy. A preliminary examination did not indicate that a heart ailment caused death, Dr. Snider reported.

Ray Maher.

Cribari was boxing Ray Maher, 16 years old, 6344 South Seeley avenue, in one of a series of bouts held in Davis Square park, 49th street and South Marshfield avenue. Joseph Meegan, 5404 South Union avenue, supervisor of the park, testified at the inquest that all the boxers, Cribari included, had been examined in the afternoon by two physicians.

Deputy Coroner McGarigle ordered that the physician who examined Cribari be present when the inquest is resumed July 19. Meegan and Park Policeman John Looby denied reports that an undue delay had occurred in obtaining a doctor to attend Cribari after his collapse. They said that a physician was hurriedly summoned and that within 15 minutes city firemen were administering oxygen to the stricken youth.

Arlington May Get Seabiscuit, Admiral Race

Arlington Park officials eyed weather and track conditions at Suffolk Downs yesterday. A muddy or heavy track might mean that Seabiscuit or War Admiral may not accept in the $50,000 handicap to be run at Suffolk Downs today. If this proves to be the case then their next possible meeting place will be at Arlington Park in the Gold cup race or in a special match that might be arranged.

There were wild rumors out that Seabiscuit will be withdrawn from the Suffolk Downs race and will be on the cars sometime today en route to Arlington Park to run in the $10,000 Stars and Stripes handicap Monday.

Weights for the Stars and Stripes were announced yesterday. Seabiscuit is, of course, tops. He was given an impost of 130 pounds. Marica, from the French Lick Springs stable, is the actual second high weight. Her impost is 122 pounds. With her five pound filly allowance it gives her 127 pounds on the scale.

Seabiscuit, 130; Snark, 124; Main Man, 123; Marica, 122; Count Morse, 122; Mucho Gusto, 117; Burning Star, 115; Crossbow II., 115; Gecko, 115; The Chief, 115; Eagle Pass, 114; Finance, 113; Leading Article, 113; Stagehand, 113; Dusty Dawn, 112; Teddy's Comet, 112; Teufel, 111; Arabs Arrow, 110; Palamede, 109; Chance Ray, 108; Count Arthur, 107; Thanksgiving, 107; Tempestuous, 107; War Minstrel, 107; Melodist, 105; Sir Jim James, 105; Galsun, 104; Grey Gold, 104; Blind Eagle, 103; Diavolo Boy, 103; Genie Palatine, 102; Rushaway, 102; Sunsun, 102; Alkit, 101; Chigre, 101; Gyral, 100; Invincible, 98; Mr. Deins, 96; Hollywood Ace, 90.

IDEAL FUNGI taken to the inside after racing into command with a rush, without the challenges of HIGH TOP and holding on well under strong pressure, held stoutly to the inside. Latter, a sharp factor from start but forced to race wide throughout was under vigorous riding last three-eighths and holding on with determination was getting to the winner. HIGH TOP was under hustling tactics from start, swerved out slightly when entering stretch and weakened in the last eighth.

WANDEROBO always clear as he raced on the outside, was sent to the leaders with a rush after reaching the last five-sixteenths, slowly wore down MOHAC and was vigorously ridden out to win drawing clear. MOHAC moved up boldly after reaching the turn, took command under light urging and held on well under increased pressure but was not good enough. LOOKING FOR A FIGHT? KERR VS. KAINRATH THEN!

International Foes Meet on C. Y. O.-Irish Card.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Frank Kainrath, who is campaigning for recognition as the greatest amateur bantamweight in the world, will find a tough fighter waiting for him when he steps into the ring as a representative of Chicago's Catholic Youth organization in the bouts with the champions of Ireland July 13 in Soldiers' field. He will be going up against Frank Kerr, who has been one of Ireland's outstanding fighters since 1932.

Kainrath and Kerr—both of them experienced, both of them polished boxers, both of them hard hitters—are expected to put on one of the best bouts of the evening. International competition is an old story to them. Both have been seasoned in matches with the finest amateurs of their weight in the world.

Impresses Chicago Fans.

Kerr performed in Chicago in 1933 as a member of the Irish team which opposed Chicago's Golden Gloves squad in Soldiers' field. His bout with Bud Ginter was a standout in an evening of brilliant fighting. Starting with a rush, Kerr piled up points in the first and second rounds, then checked Ginter's third round rally with some staggering punches, thereby winning one of the two decisions which went to the Irish team.

Kerr left Chicago boxing fans with the impression that he was an aggressive fighter and a clever ring general.

That was five years ago. Since then he has been through many campaigns against every imaginable style of boxing. In trips through Europe with Ireland's teams he has fought against Germans, Italians, Frenchmen, Danes, Belgians, Norwegians, and Hollanders, not to mention his numerous encounters with his own countrymen while winning the bantamweight championship of Ireland in 1933, 1934, 1935, and 1936. Illness prevented him from competing for the Irish title last year, but he came back again this season to win the right to represent his country against the C. Y. O.

Kerr a Worthy Opponent.

Thus Kainrath will go up against an opponent who has the ability and experience to test all his resources. Kainrath is at the peak of his career right now by virtue of his victory over Ulderico Sergo of Italy in the recent international Golden Gloves matches. Behind that victory is a story of rugged courage which enabled the Chicago boy to come back after some discouraging setbacks and whip Sergo at a time when he was being hailed as invincible.

Most of the members of the C. Y. O. squad which will leave tomorrow for the training camp in Lockport will have to fight for their places on the team which will meet Ireland. But nothing except injury is likely to keep off Kainrath. Regardless of this fact, he can be depended upon to work just as hard as any rookie. For he knows what he'll be up against in his bout with Kerr and he's determined that he'll still have his prestige when the engagement is over.

Vander Meer and Reds Beat Pirates, 5 to 2

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 28.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, with Johnny Vander Meer on the mound, today beat the Pirates, 5 to 2.

Vander Meer, after getting off to a shaky start, settled down and pitched one hit ball for the last six innings. In gaining his tenth victory of the season and his ninth in succession, he gave up six hits and also struck out six, while giving only two bases on balls.

Riggs to Meet Mulloy in Clay Court Net Final

Bobby Riggs of Chicago, the defending champion, and Gardner Mulloy, Miami, Fla., seeded No. 12, reached the final in the national clay court tennis tournament yesterday at the River Forest Tennis club. They will meet for the title today.

Riggs took the first set of his semi-final match with Bryan Grant of Atlanta, Ga., 6-3, and they were 6-all in the second set when Grant defaulted. Grant blistered his hand Monday and the blister broke open during his match with Riggs. The clay courts meet was his first major tournament since an appendectomy last April.

Mulloy won a hard fought match from Joe Hunt of San Francisco, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

After defaulting his singles match, Grant had his hand bandaged and then teamed with Riggs against Bickel and Burgess of Oak Park in their unfinished quarter-final doubles match, called on account of darkness Monday. Grant and Riggs won 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-8, 6-4.

Following a short rest Riggs and Grant played Charles Hare of Birmingham, England, and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., in a semi-final and were beaten, 6-4, 8-6, 6-4. Hare and Cooke will meet Hunt and Lewis Wetherell of Santa Ana, Cal., for the title.

NEW YORK WON'T PERMIT GALENTO TO FIGHT LEWIS

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—The New York athletic commission today threatened to suspend Tony Galento, New Jersey heavyweight, if he goes through with a bout against John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, in Philadelphia on July 26. The warning was issued because Lewis has refused to accept a challenge from Tiger Jack Fox of Spokane, Wash. The commission will not permit any fighter licensed in New York to meet Lewis until he defends his title against Fox.

At the same time the commission agreed to a postponement of the Ambers-Armstrong lightweight title bout from July 26 to Aug. 10. This fight will be held in the Polo Grounds instead of the Madison Square Garden bowl in Long Island City as originally planned.

The postponement was accepted at the request of Manager Al Weil, who said Ambers needs more rest after four tuneup fights and not because his injured hand won't mend in time for an earlier match.

wild. Marty then singled to left, Reynolds counting.

The Cardinals scored in the fifth when Slaughter singled, advanced while Jurges was throwing out Medwick, and went home on Pepper Martin's single.

Jurges walked in the Cub fifth and advanced on a passed ball. Hack singled through Stripp's hands, Jurges moving to third, from where he scored on Herman's fly to Slaughter.

Diz Dean must take a little more rest although everything is progressing nicely with the P. K. Wrigley's $185,000 pitching investment. Diz was subjected to another examination yesterday and the doctor in charge, who doesn't wish his identity revealed, thought the arm ailment had improved considerably since the first probe two weeks ago. Dean may have to continue on vacation for another week and then if the situation is satisfactory will be permitted to start training which will consume another two weeks.

Bill Lee will perform against the Cardinals today in the second of the series and may be opposed by Bob Weiland, the lefty.

Augie Galan was removed from the lineup after three innings yesterday because his left knee, which was hurt in a collision more than three weeks ago, was bothering him. It kept him from catching Padgett's single in the wild third inning.

Hayes opened the ninth against Les Tietje with a single to center and advanced on Steinbacher's sacrifice. Kreevich walked, then Radcliff banged his homer to the roof of the right field pavilion, scoring Hayes and Kreevich. Owen singled to left and Linke replaced Tietje. McQuinn took Schlueter's bounce but threw to second too late to get Owen. Kuhel walked, filling the bases. Berger popped to Heffner. Owen stole home and Schlueter third and on the next pitch Kuhel stole second. Then Whitehead was called out on strikes.

McQuinn opened the home ninth with a triple to right center. Owen threw out Clift, but Bell walked. Kress lined to Kreevich, McQuinn scoring. McQuillen beat out an infield hit, Bell stopping at second. Heath doubled off the right field screen, scoring Bell and McQuillen. Cox went to second to run for Heath. Heffner singled to left, but Cox was out at the plate with the tying run, Radcliff to Schlueter.

Monty Stratton will go after his sixth 1938 victory tomorrow in the third contest of the four game series. He'll be opposed by Oral Hildebrand, once one of the American league's better pitchers.

Temperatures in the 70's, following yesterday's in the 60's, have caused the Sox party to vote this the most miraculous mid-season trip they ever made to St. Louis, no matter what happens tomorrow and Thursday.

Joe Kuhel's three run homer today drove in as many runs as the ex-Senators' total for April, May, and ten days of June.

MINK RIVER SINK HOLE IS SNARE FOR BLACK BASS

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Door County, Wis., June 28.—In the upper part of this picturesque peninsula that thrusts its rocky nose into the waters of Lake Michigan, there is a little stream known as the Mink river. It flows into Lake Michigan on the east side of the peninsula, at Rowley's bay. The river is only about 60 feet wide before it spreads out at its mouth to wander over a broad rocky bar where the water is from 12 inches to a couple of feet deep.

Just before it leaves the main channel, the river dips into a big hole and how the small mouthed black bass like to loaf in this deep, rock-lined pocket! They come out of the cool waters of Rowley's Bay early in the season and assemble in this hole by the hundreds. And what catches the boys have been making there!

When we visited the Mink river the other day, we found this pocket lined with fishermen. Everybody had fish. At one time we counted 21 fishermen parked around the black bass hangout. Some were using cane poles with which they horsed 'em in. Others had steel casting rods. Standing in the water was one fisherman in a bathing suit reaching far out into the pool with a long cane pole. At one side of the hole we watched two fly rod fishermen. One of them stuck to his guns by casting a wet fly while all around him men were using night crawlers which the bass were gobbling up in a hurry.

We looked at some of the strings fishermen had tied to their boats. One party already had 17 nice small mouths. Judging from the catches, we estimated that between 80 and 100 small mouths were going to wind up in skillets that day. Everybody was hooking 'em. Just as our boat went by one of the cane pole fishermen brought in a nice 2½ pounder.

Firestone Tire and Rubber.

Investors' Guide: Please give me your comments on the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.—P. R.

Answer: The $166,192,000 Firestone Tire and Rubber company, one of the world's leading makers of rubber products, manufactures a complete line of tires, tubes, rubber products, and automobile accessories. The line of mechanical rubber products includes more than 6,000 items. Products are distributed partly through Firestone's 550 owned retail stores and partly through 50,000 independent dealers.

Despite diversification of output in recent years, sales of tires and tubes still yield the major portion of revenues. Domestic tire plants can produce 49,000 tires daily and 12,500 more can be manufactured at plants in Canada, Argentina, England, Spain, Switzerland, and South Africa.

Original equipment sales account for a large part of tire output, import customers including the Ford Motor company and General Motors corporation. The Ford Motor company, however, has disclosed that it soon expects to produce part of its own tire requirements. Firestone has been a leader in developing tires for tractors and farm implements and may be able to increase sales in this field if sales to Ford decrease.

Firestone owns plantations in Liberia which furnish part of the company's rubber requirements. The company's own plants at New Bedford, Mass., and Gastonia, N. C., furnish tire fabrics.

Profit for the six months ended April 30—first half of the company's fiscal year—fell to $2,429,738, equal after preferred dividends to 53 cents a common share, compared with $3,766,066, or $1.23 a common share, in the corresponding period a year ago. Sales for the fiscal year ended last Oct. 31 were $156,823,095, the largest in the company's history, and net income was $9,269,177, or $3.33 a common share. Profit in the preceding fiscal year was $9,142,654, or $3.28 a share. Peak earnings were in 1927 when net income rose to $13,715,522, or $32.49 a share on the shares then outstanding.

The company has 466,134 shares of $100 par 6 per cent preferred stock and 1,941,303 shares of $10 par common outstanding. Funded debt at the end of the last fiscal year was $13,300,000. A strong financial position has been consistently maintained. The last common dividend was a 25 cent payment April 20. A 50 cent payment was made in January. Payments last year totaled $2.

SANTA FE TAKES NO ACTION ON ITS SENIOR DIVIDEND

Decision Is Deferred on Bond Interest.

Directors of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, meeting in New York yesterday, failed to take any action on the semi-annual preferred stock dividend and also deferred consideration of the interest payment on the 4 per cent adjustment bonds. At the same time directors of the Reading company voted a reduction from 50 to 25 cents in the quarterly dividend on the common stock.

S. T. Bledsoe, president of the Santa Fe, said the failure to declare the preferred stock dividend normally voted at this time should not be construed as a formal omission of the payment. He indicated that the question of interest payment on the adjustment bonds would be taken up at a later meeting prior to the next regular interest date in October.

Action in May Recalled.

Bledsoe explained that under the indenture of the adjustment bonds the interest payment need not be authorized until the October meeting. It has been customary in the past, however, to pay half the annual interest at midyear when it was apparent that earnings were adequate. On May 1 the directors failed to take the usual action with the explanation that it was not certain that earnings would cover the interest requirements.

After yesterday's meeting Bledsoe said that June net operating income amounted to $1,369,326. On this basis it is estimated that earnings for the first half of the year covered interest on the adjustment bonds.

Omission Not a Default.

Interest on the bonds is paid only if earned, and omission of a payment does not constitute a default. Dividends on the preferred stock are paid at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent annually and are not cumulative. Payments of $2.50 each were made Aug. 1, 1937, and Feb. 2, 1938.

Reading company directors voted to distribute 25 cents a share on the common stock Aug. 11 to stockholders of record July 14. The company has paid at the rate of 50 cents quarterly since August, 1934. The Baltimore and Ohio, a large owner of Reading stock, will lose income of about $150,000 by the cut in the rate.

The Norfolk and Western Railroad company voted the regular quarterly dividend of $1 per share on the adjustment preferred stock, payable Aug. 19 to stockholders of record July 30, and the quarterly dividend of $2.50 a share on the common stock, payable Sept. 19 to stockholders of record Aug. 31.

Gross Shows Heavy Decrease.

In announcing the dividends the company said:

"In view of the continued heavy decrease of gross earnings and the relatively high operating expenses due to increased cost of materials and supplies and fuel and to existing rates of pay, it is not anticipated that the full amount of the dividend on common stock will be earned at the date fixed for payment, which will necessitate a part of such dividend being charged against surplus earnings of previous years."

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad was authorized yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to pay 20 per cent of the principal of certain equipment trust certificates maturing July 20.

Bond Payment Rejected.

At the same time he denied a petition of the Milwaukee's trustees for permission to pay $250,000 of first mortgage bonds of the Bedford Belt Railway company maturing July 1. In denying the trustees' request Judge Wilkerson upheld the contention of other security holders that the payment would constitute a preference to the Bedford company, which is a unit of the Terre Haute and Southeastern system, operated under lease by the Milwaukee.

Judge Wilkerson said the court has authority to protect and preserve the trust estate pending adoption of a plan of reorganization. The rights of the Bedford bondholders, he added, are adequately protected by statute.

The payment authorized on the equipment trust certificates amounts to $810,600.

CORNER TURNED, SOUTHERN RAIL HEAD BELIEVES

E. E. Norris, president of the Southern railway, said yesterday after a meeting of directors that revenues in the first three weeks of June were slightly above the corresponding 1937 period. Trafic in June is making a better showing than the preceding months of this year, he said.

"We feel that we have turned the corner," Norris added.

Roads reporting May results yesterday showed smaller revenues than a year ago. Net operating income, reported for last month follows:

Rails, Unions Fix July 20 for Pay Cut Talks

Representatives of the railroad unions and of the railroad managements agreed at a meeting in the Union station here yesterday to start negotiations on the railroads' 15 per cent wage cut proposal at a general session to be held in Chicago beginning July 20. The meeting is to be opened at 2 p. m. at a place to be announced later.

H. A. Enochs.

George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railroad Labor Executives' association, headed the union delegation at yesterday's short meeting and H. A. Enochs, chairman of the carriers' joint conference committee, headed the railroads' group.

Eighteen brotherhoods were represented yesterday, with two, the Pullman conductors and the train dispatchers, not being affected by the railroad wage action, and the third, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, acting separately. The carriers conference committee will meet with the trainmen at 10 a. m. at the Stevens tomorrow to decide where and when the general conference will be held.

820,000 Workers Represented.

Harrison stated that 820,000 of the 900,000 railroad men now employed are represented by his organizations in the fight which is to start July 20. He said that the number of employés on railroad pay rolls is now the smallest in records kept by the interstate commerce commission going back to 1887. He said it is not feasible for the brotherhoods to start negotiations with the managements on a national scale until the local conferences on the individual railroads between managements and the unions have been concluded. A third of these meetings are yet to be held.

In the meantime the present scale paid by the railroads to their union workers will be continued. Ordered to go into effect on July 1, the reductions would have cut 15 per cent from the wages of the workers.

Enochs read a statement at the meeting yesterday in which he outlined the problems of the carriers.

Situation Now Reversed.

"Just a year ago we were discussing with railway employés their requests for wage increases," he said. "They got their increases in settlements reached through the services of the national board of mediation. Today the situation is reversed: the railroads are seeking a wage reduction.

"What are the changes which have occurred on the railroads in the last year? Our freight trafic is 25 per cent less than it was a year ago. Our gross revenues have fallen 22 per cent below the 1937 level, and our net earnings are 85 per cent below last year. Yet the average hourly and weekly earnings of railway employés are higher than they were a year ago and higher, also, than they were in 1929."

Forces Cut 250,000.

Enochs said that last year's wage increases have resulted in higher wages for those still on railroad pay rolls, coupled with heavy reductions in force. Last month the railroads had 905,000 workers and a year ago the total was 1,154,000, meaning that the working force has been cut about 250,000.

Officials of the brotherhoods have declared that they will resist the wage cuts to the utmost, even threatening to strike if necessary. However, even should the wage discussions go to the full length the machinery set up by law with respect to railroad labor relations would prevent any strike for many months.

COURT QUASHES BANK HOLDING COMPANY SUIT

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday dismissed a liability suit against stockholders of the defunct National Republic Bancorporation which was brought by W. W. Pearson, receiver for the Peoples National Bank and Trust company.

The bank holding company owned 39,415 shares of Peoples bank stock. Pearson sought to show that the stockholders of the holding company were in effect stockholders in the bank and as such were liable for the full value of their shares.

Judge Holly said the complaint did not set forth a cause of action against the defendants.

U. S. TO REOPEN OIL QUIZ; 30 CALLED TO FACE MADISON JURY

Madison, Wis., June 28.—(AP)—For the third time in less than two years the department of justice moved today to present evidence uncovered in its investigations of the midwestern oil industry to a federal grand jury here.

Subpenas were issued for thirty witnesses to appear before the grand jury convening July 12. In Washington officials said the jury would be given "evidence dealing with the midwestern oil situation."

In a four month trial last winter thirty individuals and sixteen companies were convicted of conspiring to fix tank car gasoline prices in 1935 and 1936. Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone will rule here July 19 on their motions to set aside the verdict.

A number of the same defendants, charged in a second indictment with conspiring to fix jobber margins, recently pleaded no defense in the second case and were fined a total of $385,000. The others face trial here next fall.

Final results of the recent offering of Commonwealth Edison company convertible debentures, 3½ per cent series due 1958, of which $39,083,195 principal amount was underwritten by a group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., were announced yesterday. The debentures were first offered to stockholders of Commonwealth Edison through exercise of subscription warants which expired June 24.

It was disclosed that $37,871,700 principal amount of the debentures was subscribed through exercise of subscription warants and an additional amount of $675,300 was sold by underwriters prior to the expiration of the warants, leaving only $626,195 available for current offering.

The available debentures are being offered by certain of the underwriters individually at prices current on the over the counter market or on the Chicago or New York Stock exchanges, plus commissions.

PLANE EXPORTS IN MAY REACH $7,829,193 HIGH

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—American airplane exports reached a new high of $7,829,193 in May.

The commerce department said today sales to foreign countries were 11 per cent higher than in April and 102 per cent above May of last year.

Goodyear Tire Denies Plan for Refunding Its Bonds

New York, June 28.—(AP)—A spokesman for Goodyear Tire and Rubber company today denied reports the company was considering refunding its $60,000,000 first and collateral 5 per cent bonds at the callable figure of 102. The issue closed on the New York Stock exchange today at 105½. The Goodyear spokesman said the company "had no plans for refunding the issue, and there is no immediate likelihood of any such plan being developed."

Stock Market Irregular as Volume Falls

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 28.—Selective buying of stocks which had been relatively neglected in the recent rise or which enjoyed promising news developments gave the stock market a spotty appearance today. Such issues made advances ranging from fractions to 3 points, while the main section churned about narrowly lower.

Trading for the session approximated 1,289,000 shares, compared with the preceding day's 2,105,000 share volume. This was construed as a natural development following the recent hectic days, as some traders became "choosy" and others assumed sideline positions to get a more comprehensive picture of the situation.

List Firms, then Recedes.

Following a shaky start resulting from continuation of the selling which cropped out in yesterday's late dealings, the list turned active and higher in midday dealings, but weakened again toward the close.

Building shares were popular as a group and registered substantial advances. Johns-Manville was conspicuous by rising more than 5 points at one time before meeting opposition. The issue closed the day with a net gain of 3⅛ points.

Rail equipment shares ranged higher, paced by Pullman, which rose 1⅛ points in good demand. The action of this stock was traced to the interstate commerce commission's order granting a 5 per cent increase in the company's rates and charges.

Automobile Group Firmer.

Several issues in the automotive section also reflected good inquiry. Notable were Greyhound corporation and Yellow Truck, which ruled firm. Chrysler closed fractionally higher after rising 2 points at one time. General Motors came back to Monday's final quotation.

American Woolen, Associated Dry Goods, and Pacific Mills strengthened on reports of increased activity in the textile business.

United States Steel managed to keep in the plus column with a fractional increase in good trading, but other steels gave ground.

Anaconda and Inspiration Copper made frequent appearances and closed the day with minor fractional losses. International Nickel and American Smelting, however, worked higher.

The dividend omission by Santa Fe resulted in a shaky carrier group. Common stocks of that road dropped 1⅝ points and the preferred shares slumped 3¼ points.

Power and light shares blew alternately hot and cold. After moving up in the early afternoon the group gave up most of the gains toward the close.

UTAH RADIO WINS SUIT; DELCO HELD PATENT VIOLATOR

Buffalo, N. Y., June 28.—[Special.]—The Delco Appliance division of General Motors corporation has infringed on patents for an automobile radio device held by Utah Radio Products company of Chicago, Judge John Knight of United States District court ruled here today.

The suit concerned a vibrator which is part of a "B" battery eliminator. The vibrator makes it possible for the ordinary car storage battery to supply current for an automobile radio.

Attorneys for Delco Appliance said an appeal will be made. Utah Radio Products company can ask for a stop order against manufacture of the device or grant licenses for its manufacture if the ruling is upheld, attorneys of the company believed.

WPA AID SYS U. S. MAY GO ON PRIMING PUMP INDEFINITLY

Ottawa, Ont., June 28.—[Special.]—The possibility that enormous federal expenditures in the United States for relief and priming of the economic pump will be continued indefinitly was foreseen today by Corrington Gill, assistant WPA administrator, who addressed the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Corrington Gill.

Asserting that a checkrein on United States government spending cannot be applied until the economic system again provides relatively full employment, Gill said the issue today is no longer one of spending as against not spending, but rather how much should be spent and where it should be spent.

Gill estimated that the federal government will spend 3 billion 700 million dollars in 1938 for relief and attempts to promote recovery. Other speakers at the association's convention here were Leonard P. Ayres, economist of the Cleveland Trust company, and Cortland Elliott, Toronto economist.

STANDARD WILL ABOLISH CRUDE PURCHASING UNIT

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday announced a plan for simplifying and consolidating its crude oil purchasing activities by liquidating the Stolind Crude Oil Purchasing company, a wholly owned subsidiary, and creating a new crude oil purchasing department with offices at Tulsa, Okla.

A. W. Peake, Chicago, vice president of Standard, will be head of the purchasing department. Ralph O. Miller will be general manager and A. L. Carlson will be auditor, both at Tulsa.

Transfer of properties and business of the Standard Crude Oil Purchasing company will become effective June 30.

Bank of France Is Given Power to Deal in State Notes

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 28.—New decree laws that will be printed in tomorrow's Journal Official, includes legislation giving the Bank of France power to deal in short term treasury issues in the open market. Thus the bank, which hitherto could influence the money market only through fixing the discount rate, will have additional means to feed or serve this market.

A prompt "Yes" is the word that counts.

ENGINEERS LASH TVA ALLOCATION OF DAMS' COST

Charge It Hides True Outlay for Power.

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—The figures reported to congress by the Tennessee Valley authority allocating costs for flood control, navigation and electric power production were entirely too low for power at the Wilson, Norris, and Wheeler dams, according to an analysis of the TVA report completed today by engineers of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation system.

In its allocation of costs submitted to congress June 9, the TVA showed a total investment of $94,125,671, of which 52 per cent was charged to power, 28 per cent to navigation and 20 per cent to flood control. Value of the Wilson dam was put at $30,120,009 [original cost $46,950,748]; Morris dam, $31,532,120 [original cost $37,257,000], and Wheeler dam $32,473,542 [original cost $33,483,559].

Technically, the study by the utility's engineers finds, the TVA is correct in basing its figures upon the written-down value of Wilson dam, since this valuation already has been approved.

12 Million Erased at a Stroke.

"Yet this does not alter the fact that, by a stroke of the pen, more than $12,000,000 of capital investment has been written off exclusive of the allowance for depreciation of almost $5,000,000," the analysis said. "Such an arbitrary reduction in capital accounts results not only in too low an allocation to power for the three dams considered together, but also produces figures for Wilson dam which are absurd when compared with Wheeler dam."

The fallacy of the TVA figures, according to the analysis, is in the underlying assumption that one set of percentages to be applied in multiple use property can be applicable to projects which are as different as Wilson, Wheeler, and Norris dams. Pointing out that the TVA allocated power costs of $17,725,460 to Wilson, $17,336,438 to Wheeler, and $14,298,281 to Norris, the study finds that Wilson dam has an installed capacity of 184,000 kilowatt hours and operates at a head of approximately ninety feet, whereas Wheeler has an installed capacity of only 64,000 kilowatt hours and operates at a head of only fifty-three feet.

River Flow Similar.

"Both of these projects have essentially the same river flow, since they are only fifteen miles apart and there are no tributaries between them. Furthermore, an examination of the quantities of concrete, excavation, etc., reveals that Wilson is inherently more costly than Wheeler, yet the TVA assigns essentially the same power value to these two projects."

Examining the TVA allocations for flood control, Wilson $4,197,155, Wheeler $5,576,039, and Norris $8,697,433, the analysis holds that Wheeler dam has more than seven times as much flood control storage capacity, and consequently more than seven times as much flood control value, as Wilson dam. "Yet," it said, "the TVA theory shows for Wilson about 75 per cent as much allocation to flood control as at Wheeler."

Navigation Issue Discussed.

On the problem of navigation the study sets forth that Wilson dam has two 45-foot lift locks in series, making a total lift of 90 feet, as against a single lift lock at Wheeler of 53 feet. Despite these facts the TVA has charged Wilson with $8,197,394 for navigation and Wheeler with $9,561,065. Norris dam has been charged with $8,536,406 for navigation purposes, when it is of no value to navigation except during the interim period of TVA construction, the analysis held.

The engineers' report declares that because at least 12 million dollars of capital investment has been written off at Wilson dam the lump sum figures reported by the TVA are incorrect by at least that amount.

Consider Four Men for Stock Market Head

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 28.—The New York stock exchange's big employment problem—the task of finding a suitable candidate for the newly created position of paid president of the exchange—has boiled down to a consideration of four individuals, it was learned here today.

Paul H. Davis, Chicago member of committee.

For six weeks the special committee appointed to recommend a president has been running a virtual employment office—receiving scores of names of possible candidates, investigating qualifications and weeding out those that do not come up to the measurements outlined by the members of the committee. More than 200 such individuals have been weighed. Only today was it disclosed that the sifting process had finally eliminated all except four of the men whose names have been offered for consideration.

Final List Kept Secret.

William McChesney Martin, recently elected chairman of the exchange [a nonsalaried job] and temporary president, is chairman of the special committee created by the new board of governors on May 12 to recommend a president. Paul V. Shields, head of Shields & Co.; Paul H. Davis, Chicago broker and investment banker, and Gayer G. Dominick are the other members of the committee.

Continuing its policy of strict secrecy, the members of this committee have given no hint concerning the identity of the remaining four candidates whose names are still in the hat. It is known, however, that the group is looking for a "big" man—one whose name is well known to the general public and one in whom the public would have a high degree of confidence.

It is generally believed that this man would be to the stock exchange what Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis is to baseball or what Will Hays is to the motion picture industry.

Might Be Dubbed "Czar."

Such an individual might be popularly dubbed the "czar" of the exchange, but the governors of the exchange dislike that term—especially in view of the fact that Chairman William O. Douglas of the Securities and Exchange commission in Washington likes to regard himself as the real boss of the exchange.

No salary figure has been announced by the governors, but it is learned on good authority that the exchange is willing to go as high as $100,000 per year if it can get the kind of individual it is seeking.

The members of the committee, it is understood, are not insisting that the man they name be a professional stock broker or even one who has made securities trading his business. They are reported to be more interested in getting an able and highly regarded business man whose election would do much to remove the stigma cast on the office by Richard Whitney, now in Sing Sing prison, but for five years prior to 1935 president of the exchange in the days when the presidency paid no salary.

Three Air Lines Announce Half Fares for Children

Half fare rates between all points served by three air lines were announced yesterday for children between the ages of 2 and 12 years. The companies taking the action were Transcontinental and Western Air, United Air Lines, and American Air Lines. These three continental operators thus followed the lead set earlier this month by Chicago and Southern Air Lines. This is the latest move in a recent campaign by air transport companies to capture new business.

WIRE PRODUCTS PRICES CUT BY U. S. STEEL UNIT

Reductions Range Up to $9 a Ton.

Price cuts ranging from $3 to $9 a ton were announced yesterday by the American Steel and Wire company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, for a wide variety of products. This company's action follows steel price reductions put into effect last week by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation and the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, also subsidiaries of United States Steel.

The prices which will be charged by American Steel and Wire will be the same at the Cleveland, Pittsburgh, and Chicago mills. The Chicago mills are out of the Chicago switching district, in which switching charges are slightly above those at Pittsburgh, which enables the company to charge the same basing prices for all three districts.

New Prices Are Listed.

	Cleveland and Pittsb'g.	Chicago.
Wire rods—
No. 5 to 9-32 in., incl. per gross ton	$43.00	$43.00
Larger, 9-32 to 47-64 in., incl. per gross ton	48.00	48.00

Standard nails — Base, per 100 lbs.	2.45	2.45

Following the lead of the steel producing companies in cutting the prices for finished steel products, the Interlake Iron corporation, Chicago, largest independent producer of pig iron, announced yesterday that it has reduced prices of pig iron—from which steel is made—$4 a ton, effective immediately.

Pig Iron Now $20 a Ton.

The new pig iron prices will be $20 a ton, based at Chicago, Erie, and Toledo, and $20.50 a ton at Duluth.

W. F. Detwiler, president of the Alleghany Steel company, Pittsburgh, said the sharp rise in scrap prices, improved buying of miscellaneous steel items and inquiries from the big consumers, including the automobile and construction industries, hold a promise of an improvement in the steel business. He said that July operations should be about equal with those of June, with an upturn in August that should carry through into the fall.

Detwiler declared that the automobile industry's summer shutdown undoubtedly will be shorter than expected.

GASOLINE STOCK SHOWS RECORD DROP FOR WEEK

New York, June 28.—(AP)—The sharpest decline in history was recorded by gasoline inventories during the week ended June 25 the American Petroleum institute stated today.

This brought the stock reduction of the last three weeks to 5,200,000 barrels, another record breaking curtailment. Gasoline stocks dropped 2,064,000 barrels during the week to 82,412,000 barrels. The latest figure, however, was still substantially above last year's 76,036,000 barrels.

Crude oil production dipped another 53,400 barrels daily to 3,083,900 barrels—13 per cent below the comparable total in 1937. All major producing areas curtailed, with Oklahoma accounting for most of the decline. Refinery operations were cut 55,000 barrels daily to 3,025,000 barrels.

New York Bonds.

New York, June 28.—(AP)—Some classes of railroad bonds came under pressure today, but the generally steady trend of the market was little affected.

On a sharply increased turnover United States governments finished 1-32 to 5-32 of a point up, except in a few cases where sales were negligible. Long term treasury bonds were in good demand, especially those maturing between 1950 and 1960.

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe adjustment 4s, stamped, advanced despite action of directors deferring consideration at this time of interest on the issue, due in October, but half of which has been paid in former years in May. President Bledsoe said earnings prospects looked better for the remainder of the year and interest would again be considered before the October due date. Other Santa Fe bonds made modest gains. New Orleans Great Northern 5s jumped 8½ points on limited sales.

BEEF AND VEAL IMPORTS IN MAY SHOW INCREASE

But Less Pork Is Brought In from Abroad.

This country during May bought more beef and veal from abroad, but less pork, according to the monthly report of the department of commerce on foreign trade. Imports of beef and veal aggregated 9,900,173 pounds, the largest for any month since last September and the largest May imports in about ten years. Pork imports declined to 4,499,093 pounds, compared with 5,158,529 during April, and 5,907,327 a year ago.

Competition of the newly improved American ham, which, according to meat men, is better in taste and tenderness the best of the imported product, is said to have been the chief cause of the decline in the sales of foreign pork in this country.

Despite the increase in imports of beef and veal during the last two months, sales of all foreign meats and live stock in the United States for the first five months of 1938 were below imports for the corresponding months of last year. During the five months beef and veal imports totaled 31,984,608 pounds, compared with 32,520,392 pounds a year ago. Two years ago the five months' imports were 46,293,464, and three years ago, 37,494,757. All imports still exceed those of four years ago.

Foreign pork sales in this country during the five months of 1938 totaled 23,517,569 pounds, compared with 30,674,897 a year ago, 13,750,152 two years ago, 2,275,573 three years ago, and 641,000 four years ago.

Fewer Live Hogs Brought In.

Live hog imports last month at 6,994 pounds, were smallest for the month of May since 1935. This compared with 2,580,600 pounds in 1937 and 785,163 in 1936. Other countries sold 48,255 cattle in the United States last month, the smallest May sales in several years.

During the first five months of 1938 this country bought 227,699 cattle, compared with imports of 272,356 head last year, and 237,979 two years ago. Imports of live hogs during the five months this year at 27,394 pounds, were well below the 8,390,701 pounds brought in last year.

Everyday Economics

World Wheat Production.

World production of wheat in 1937, exclusive of Russia and China, totaled 3,779,000,000 bushels. Accurate figures on the Russian and Chinese crops are not available. Neither country has been a large factor in the world wheat market in recent years, however, either as an exporter or importer.

The United States outranks Canada, Argentina, and Australia in production. Most of the American crop, however, is needed for domestic consumption, the percentage moving into the export market being smaller than for the other three countries mentioned.

Production in the four countries, the principal exporters, for the last three years, follows, in millions of bushels:

United States	874	627	626
Canada	183	299	282
Argentina	185	249	141
Australia	162	150	144

Canadian production in 1937 was more than 100 million bushels less than normal. On the other hand the United States raised its biggest crop since 1931. The result was that the United States increased its exports, while Canadian export sales declined. The combined exports from the United States and Canada last year were 166 million bushels of a world total of 552 million bushels. Of the balance, Argentina shipped 152 million bushels and Australia 106 million bushels.

MOTOR FREIGHT TERMINAL WILL OPEN TOMORROW

The American Terminal company's new motor freight terminal at 3333 South Iron street—said to be the country's largest motor freight terminal—will be opened tomorrow, Louis C. Seaverns, president, said yesterday.

About 3,000 shippers, truck operators, and business men yesterday made an inspection trip through the station, which occupies eight acres on the Chicago river.

Provides All Services.

The main building in the terminal group has been designed to provide every service for truck operators. A pickup and delivery service will be offered, as well as facilities for the interchange of freight. The facilities have been contracted for, Seaverns said, and plans are being considered for enlarging the terminal by 50 per cent.

Eighteen motor truck lines will be housed in the terminal. They serve territory extending to Toronto, Boston, and New York in the east; Jacksonville and New Orleans in the south; Duluth in the upper middle west, and Phoenix, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Salt Lake City in the far west and mountain states.

Men Back of Terminal.

Seaverns, who formerly was in the investment banking business, has associated with him in the enterprise Charles H. Morse Jr., Charles H. Morse Sr., Jefferson D. Currier, Eugene du Pont III., and Edward F. Swift Jr.

TREASURY ASKS BIDS.

Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau has invited bids on the treasury's weekly issue of $100,000,000 of 91 day bills, which will be dated July 6 and mature Oct. 5. Owing to the holiday on Monday the bills will be sold this week on Friday.

PRICES OF HOGS SLUMP AGAIN ON STRIKE THREAT

Unsettlement caused by the strike threat of the C. I. O. in six of the principal small hog packing plants in Chicago and restricted buying by these interests resulted in another slashing of hog prices at the Chicago stock yards yesterday. It was hoped that trouble might be averted, but in the meantime operations of the six packing houses has been substantially reduced and support of the hog market is lacking.

Hog prices yesterday were cut unevenly 10 to 30 cents, the close being mostly 25 cents lower, with about 2,000 head unsold. Big local packers were the chief buyers, and there were too many hogs in the pens for them to handle.

Other live stock met strong demand at fully steady to higher prices, since the strike threats are directed at the hog packing plants only.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Corn Problems.

June 28, 1938.

THERE is a good chance that farmers in the United States will produce enough corn to raise the nation's supply to the Agricultural Adjustment administration marketing quota level of 2,800,000,000 bushels, despite adverse weather conditions which have delayed planting, retarded plant growth and encouraged smothering crops of weeds. Many farmers are puzzled over what they will do this fall if they are compelled to hold some of their corn off the market under provisions of the new farm law.

In the compliance survey which AAA agents are now making, they likely will find that most farmers who are coöperating with the government under the acreage restriction plan this year have planted their full corn acreage allotment. A big percentage of them have used their best land for corn and planted improved strains of hybrids to increase the yield per acre. Efforts are being concentrated on the limited acreage planted by coöperating farmers.

Individual farmers, coöperating alike, are hoping for a bumper crop on their own farms and at the same time fearing that the nation's total corn crop will be so big they will be required to hold a certain amount off the market or be subject to a penalty if they sell it or feed it to their live stock.

Many to Resist.

If the marketing quota becomes effective there are some farmers who will resist efforts of the AAA agents to appraise and sea. any of their corn. Others have decided to pay the penalty of 15 cents a bushel and feed or sell their excess corn, and still others expect to store and seal their corn as directed by the government.

John Hill, who is ignoring the AAA corn acreage allotment on his 280 acre Kendall county farm near Fox Station, indicated recently that he did not want to have anything to do with the government program and would resist attempts of AAA agents to force him to store and seal any part of his corn crop this fall.

"I do not believe in the program," said Mr. Hill. "I intend to run my farm as long as they will let me. I do not want the government to give me money for nothing. I do not want to be on relief. The time may come when some one must take care of me."

Mr. Hill said that he usually raises about 120 acres of corn. His AAA corn allotment this year calls for the planting of 87.6 acres. He has ignored it.

"I do not intend to allow my cattle to go hungry and stand and bawl for feed this winter when I have corn in the crib," declared Mr. Hill.

Half interest in the Hill farm is owned by Dean L. D. Havenhill of the University of Kansas, who is also opposed to the AAA plan, according to Mr. Hill.

Ready to Pay Penalty.

August Corneils, who operates a Kendall county farm of 303 acres 3½ miles north of Yorkville, has planted 135 acres of corn this year while his AAA corn allotment calls for only 105.2 acres. If the government invokes the marketing quota on corn this fall Mr. Corneils says that he will seal his share of corn, "but if I need the sealed corn I will feed it and pay the penalty of 15 cents a bushel."

Mr. Corneils said that he was not against the AAA program, but his cropping plan would not permit him to coöperate this year by reducing his corn crop. He is exceeding his corn allotment nearly 30 acres and has 59 acres of oats, 50 acres of barley, and 44 acres of clover. The land is rich and he said that he does not need more legumes for hay, or pasture, but will need the corn. He feeds all the corn he can raise and occasionally buys grain. From 60 to 90 beef cattle and from 300 to 400 head of hogs are fattened on the Corneils farm each year.

Must Feed Herds.

Many northern Illinois dairy farmers find that the corn reduction program does not fit into their scheme because they need to raise about a certain number of acres each year for silage and grain. It has been necessary for them to ignore the AAA allotments and plant their usual acreage of corn to have plenty of feed for their herds.

One dairy farmer said he had exceeded his corn allotment and added that if there is a marketing quota and his crop is normal, he will be compelled to store about 5,000 bushels this fall. If corn is cheap he plans to buy corn and keep his quota corn under seal. If corn is high in price, he intends to break the seal, feed the corn and pay the penalty of 15 cents a bushel. To stay within his allotment would mean disposing of some of his cows or buying a large amount of grain.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

MEN.

If you live on the South Side or South Side Suburbs let me start you in a profitable business of your own backed up by our prosperous company.

I am in control of the territory of a business unique in character, merchandising an electrical unit that has no competition, for which there is an ever increasing demand.

If in a personal interview you can satisfy me that you are honest, reliable, and trustworthy, and really have a desire to succeed, willing to study, and are teachable, you may be the very man I am looking for.

Our business is very profitable. Many of our associates are earning as much as $50 on percentage basis in a single day. And after they become experienced handling our business, receive a sizable monthly income, not regulated by the seasons, as ours is a year around business.

Selling experience not necessary, for if you are selected you are thoroughly taught at no expense to you. Some of our most successful associates never sold anything before joining us.

We stand all expense of your business such as rent, light, heat, telephone, help, etc., and, in addition to giving your merchandise on open account, carry all of your time payment paper.

Our business is depression-proof, as it has increased every month for the last 6 years, with 1938 our busiest year. We have thousands of satisfied customers in the territory and are considered one of the country's outstanding organizations. There are no strings connected with this offer, and if you can meet the above requirements you will be granted a personal, confidential interview which will quickly determine our mutual interests.

Apply Wednesday, 1:30 p. m. only—no other time. Suite 400, Maryland Bldg., 841 E. 63d-st. Ask for Mr. Mayer.

SALESMEN.

Now we have the deal for you that has no equal in a product for the whole town. No big, heavy samples to carry around. Completely equipped without one cent of deposit. Quick, snappy demonstration. We will go out with you and prove that $40, $50 and $60 commissions weekly and better can and is being earned by present members of staff right now.

We give you 100% co-operation and an opportunity for promotion for real leaders, as we are expanding nationally and have plenty of openings for go-getters. Product manufactured by a company rated A1 in Dun & Bradstreets. You can work this deal in with or without a car.

See product demonstrated today, Wednesday, 2 p. m. sharp, 2714 W. 36TH-PLACE, Chicago.

THE MANAGEMENT OF ONE OF the greatest electrical unit manufacturers of the country is ready to talk to a few dependable Rogers Park or North Shore citizens. Applicants for these jobs must know that success comes only to the sincere hard worker.

The commission and bonus we find in this field is way above average but can be obtained by the average man. Please call June 29th at 10:30 a. m. at 905 Chicago-avenue, 2d floor, at Evanston, Illinois, and see Mr Herschend.

Do You Want Success?
